A D D R E S S

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS OF GREAT BRITAIN

TO

HIS MAJESTY:

EXTRACTED FROM THE VOTES,
Veneris, 11^o die Julii, Anno 40^o Georgii 3^o Regis, 1800.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, YOUR MAJESTY'S most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Great Britain in Parliament assembled, having taken into our Consideration the State of the Public Records of this Kingdom, and the Necessity of providing for the better Arrangement, Preservation, and more convenient Use of the same, humbly beg leave to lay before Your Majesty the Report of our Proceedings thereon; and to represent to Your Majesty, that in several of the Principal Offices we have found the Public Records preserved with great Order and Regularity, and in some few, with a Method and Care which are exemplary; but that, in many of the most important Offices, they are wholly unarranged, undescribed, and unascertained; that some of them are exposed to Erasure, Alteration, and Embezzlement, and others are lodged in Places where they are daily perishing by Damp, or incurring a continual Risk of Destruction by Fire.

A Period of nearly Seventy Years has elapsed since the last General Parliamentary Inquiry upon this Subject; and, during this Interval of Time, the Change which has taken place in the Language and written Character of Judicial Proceedings, as well as the large Accumulation of Materials which has been progressively superadded in every Department, have increased the Difficulties of methodizing the several Repositories, or applying their Contents to Purposes of practical Use.

In the Course of our Inquiry we have found that many of the Public Buildings allotted to these Uses, and especially those Buildings which belong to Your Majesty's Exchequer in all its Branches, comprehending the ancient Records and Muniments of the Rights and Possessions of the Crown, and the Vouchers and Accounts of the Public Revenues and Expenditure, are in a State so inconvenient and insecure, as to require immediate Attention.

It has also appeared to us, that the salutary Measures heretofore adopted by Your Majesty's Authority, for methodizing the Contents of some of the principal Repositories of Your Majesty's Records and Papers of State, might also be extended to many other Repositories, with Consequences highly beneficial to the Public Service.

And the same Motives which encouraged our Predecessors to intreat Your Majesty's Directions for printing the ancient Records of Domesday, and the Rolls of Parliament, have also induced us to submit to Your Majesty's Wisdom, our Desire of extending the same Measure to other ancient and valuable Monuments of our History, Laws, and Government.

Your faithful Commons do therefore most humbly beseech Your Majesty, that You will be graciously pleased to give such Directions as Your Majesty, in Your great Wisdom, shall think fit, for the better Preservation, Arrangement, and more convenient Use of the Public Records of this Kingdom.

And we beg leave further to assure Your Majesty, that whatever extraordinary Expenses may be incurred by the Directions which Your Majesty, in Your great Wisdom, shall think fit to give on this Occasion, shall be cheerfully provided for and made good by Your faithful Commons.

Jovis, 17^o die Julii;

Anno 40^o Georgii 3^{ia} Regis, 1800.

Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer reported to the House, That their Address of Friday last (that His Majesty would be graciously pleased to give such Directions as He shall think fit, for the better Preservation, Arrangement, and more convenient Use of the Public Records of this Kingdom; and to assure His Majesty, that whatever extraordinary Expenses may be incurred by the Directions which His Majesty shall think fit to give on this Occasion, shall be made good by His faithful Commons) had been presented to His Majesty; and that His Majesty had commanded him to acquaint this House, that He will give Directions as desired by the said Address.

COMMISSION

For executing the Measures recommended by the House of Commons respecting the PUBLIC RECORDS OF THE KINGDOM.

GEORGE R.

GEORGE THE THIRD by the Grace of God King of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c.

To Our right trusty and right entirely beloved Cousin and Councillor William Henry Cavendish Duke of Portland, Knight of the most noble Order of the Garter; Our right trusty and well beloved Councillors William Wyndham Baron Grenville, and Henry Dundas, Esquire, Our Three Principal Secretaries of State; Our right trusty and well beloved Councillors Henry Addington, Esquire, Speaker of the House of Commons, William Pitt, Esquire, Chancellor and Under Treasurer of Our Exchequer, and First Commissioner of Our Treasury, Sir Richard Pepper Arden, Knight, Master of the Rolls; Frederick Campbell, Esquire, commonly called Lord Frederick Campbell, Our Clerk Register of Scotland, Sylvester Douglas, Esquire, one of the Commissioners of Our Treasury, Our trusty and well beloved Sir John Mitford, Knight, Our Attorney General, Sir William Grant, Knight, Our Solicitor General, Robert Dundas, Esquire, Our Advocate for Scotland, and Charles Abbot, Esquire; Greeting.

WHEREAS the Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses and Commissioners of Shires and Boroughs, in Our Parliament of Great Britain assembled, having taken into their Consideration the State of the Public Records of this Kingdom, and the Necessity of providing for the better Arrangement, Arrangement, Preservation, and more convenient Use of the same; have humbly laid before Us a Report of their Proceedings thereon; and have also humbly represented unto Us, that the Public Records of the Kingdom are in many Offices unarranged, undescribed, and unascertained; that many of them are exposed to Erasure, Alteration, and Embezzlement, and are lodged in Buildings inconvenient and insecure; and that it would be beneficial for the Public Service, that the Records and Papers contained in many of the principal Offices and Repositories, should be methodized, and that certain of the more ancient and valuable amongst them should be printed; and have humbly besought Us that We would be graciously pleased to give such Directions thereupon as We in Our Wisdom shall think fit.

Now know ye, That We, considering the Premises, and earnestly desiring more effectually to provide for the better Arrangement, Preservation, and more convenient Use of the said Records and Papers, and reposing great Trust and Confidence in your Fidelity, Discretion, and Integrity:

Have authorized and appointed, and by these Presents Do authorize and appoint you the said William Henry Cavendish Duke of Portland, William Wyndham Baron Grenville, Henry Dundas, Henry Addington, William Pitt, Sir Richard Pepper Arden, Frederick Campbell (commonly called Lord Frederick Campbell), Sylvester Douglas, Sir John Mitford, Sir William Grant, Robert Dundas, and Charles Abbot, and any Three or more of you, to make a diligent and particular Inquiry into the several Matters which Our faithful Commons have, in the abovementioned Report of their Proceedings, represented as fitting to be provided for by Our Royal Authority.

And furthermore, We do by these Presents, give and grant to you Our said Commissioners, and any Three or more of you, full Power and Authority to cause all and singular the Officers, Clerks, and Ministers of the said Offices and Repositories respectively, to bring and produce upon Oath before you, or any Three or more of you, all and singular Rolls, Records, Books, and Papers, or other Writings belonging to the said Offices or Repositories, or any of them, or any Officers within the same, and which shall be in the Custody of them or any of them respectively.

And Our further Will and Pleasure is, That ye, or any Three or more of you, upon due Examination of the Premises, shall cause such Matters to be duly and speedily executed as ye shall judge fitting and proper to be done, for the more effectual Execution of the several Measures recommended by Our faithful Commons in the said Report of their Proceedings relative thereto.

And to the end that Our Royal Will and Pleasure in the Premises may be executed with the greater Regularity and Expedition, We farther by these Presents will and command, and do hereby give full Power and Authority to you, or any Three or more of you, to nominate and appoint from Time to Time such Person of Ability, Care, and Diligence, as ye shall think fit, to be and act as your Clerk or Secretary, for the Purpose of aiding you in the Execution of these Presents; and also to nominate and appoint in like Manner such several Persons of Ability, Care, and Diligence, as ye may think fit, to be Sub-Commissioners, to be employed under your Direction and Controul in the Premises, and more especially to methodize, regulate, and digest the Records, Rolls, Instruments, Books, and Papers, in any of Our Public Offices and Repositories, and to cause such of the said Records, Rolls, Instruments, Books, and Papers as are decayed, and in Danger of being destroyed, to be bound and secured; and to make exact Calendars and Indexes thereof; and to superintend the printing of such Calendars and Indexes, and original Records and Papers, as ye shall cause to be printed: Which said Clerk or Secretary, and Sub-Commissioners, and every of them, shall and may be removed by you, or any Three of you, from Time to Time, at your Will and Pleasure, full Power and Authority being hereby given to you to appoint others in their Places respectively.

And We further will and command, and by these Presents ordain, That ye, or any Three or more of you, shall from Time to Time certify, under your Hands and Seals, unto Our Lord High Treasurer, or unto the Commissioners of Our Treasury for the Time being, what shall be a fit and suitable Recompence to the above-mentioned Clerk or Secretary, and Sub-Commissioners respectively, for their Pains and Services in the Execution of the Duties hereby required to be by them performed; which said Recompence it is Our Will and Pleasure shall thereupon be paid to them respectively and accordingly.

And

And Our further Will and Pleasure is, That ye, or any Three or more of you, do and shall, on or before the 25th Day of March in the Year of our Lord 1801, and so from Year to Year, on or before the 25th Day of March in each Year respectively, so long as this Commission shall continue in force, certify unto Us in Our Privy Council, under your Hands and Seals respectively, all and every of the several Proceedings of yourselves and of the said Sub-Commissioners had by virtue of these Presents, together with such other Matters (if any), as may be deserving of Our Royal Consideration touching or concerning the Premises, and what further Measures (if any) ye shall think fit to propose thereupon.

And lastly, We do by these Presents ordain that this Our Commission shall continue in full Force and Virtue; and that ye Our said Commissioners, or any Three or more of you, shall and may from Time to Time, and at any Place or Places, proceed in the Execution thereof and of every Matter and Thing therein contained, although the same be not continued from Time to Time by Adjournment.

Given at Our Court, &c. the 19th Day of July, in the Year of Our Lord 1800.

O R D E R.

AT a Board of the Commissioners appointed by His Majesty for carrying into Execution the Measures recommended by the House of Commons respecting the Public Records of the Kingdom, &c.

Holden at the House of the Right Honourable The Speaker of the House of Commons, the 22d Day of July 1800:

The Right Honourable THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS,
The Right Honourable SYLVESTER DOUGLAS,
Sir JOHN MITFORD, Knight, His Majesty's Attorney General,
Sir WILLIAM GRANT, Knight, His Majesty's Solicitor General,
CHARLES ABBOT, Esquire:

It was Ordered, That the Secretary do write to the Trustees of the British Museum, to express the Desire of this Board, that the Catalogue of the Harleian MSS. be revised, corrected, and printed, with proper Indexes of Persons, Places, and Matters, and to acquaint them that the Commissioners will provide for the due Execution of the Work.

John Topham, Secretary.

THE

GIVING

The HARLEIAN COLLECTION of MANUSCRIPTS.

THE great Repute in which the HARLEIAN COLLECTION of MANUSCRIPTS has for several Years past been held, not only in England but throughout Europe, the many useful Materials already drawn from its Stores, as well by Foreigners as our own Countrymen, and the Rank it justly claims amongst the most celebrated Libraries at present subsisting, have induced the learned World to express an Impatience for a more intimate Knowledge of its Contents. In order therefore to give the requisite Satisfaction, and that every Student may, with as little Inconvenience to himself as possible, be informed with what Helps this Treasury of Erudition will furnish him in promoting his Researches, the Catalogue, together with a copious Index, is now submitted to the Public: later perhaps than might have been expected; but as soon as the Nature of such an Undertaking, the Execution of the more pressing Trusts reposed in the Trustees of the BRITISH MUSEUM, and the Discharge of the several indispensable Duties incumbent on their Officers, would permit. The work must be left to speak for itself, as it would be improper in this Place to prejudice the Reader any further in its Favour, than by assuring him, that no Endeavours have been wanting to render it truly useful and instructive. But however requisite it may be to remain silent on that Head, it would be a gross and unpardonable Injustice to those who have been great Benefactors to the Public, to omit the present Opportunity of acknowledging, that the HARLEIAN MANUSCRIPTS, being placed in the British Museum, as an *Addition to the COTTONIAN Library, to be consulted by the Curious, and for public Use to all Posterity*¹, confer an Obligation on the Learned, for which they stand indebted to the generous and public spirited Offer made by the late Duke of Portland, and his Dutchess, only Daughter and Heiress of Edward Earl of Oxford, and to the Favour and Munificence of Parliament. An Event which hath not only united two very valuable Collections of ancient Manuscripts, but happily secured to this Country the most complete and extensive Fund of national Antiquities, that any Kingdom can boast.

THIS COLLECTION of MANUSCRIPTS was begun towards the latter end of the last Century, by Robert Harley of Brampton Bryan, in the County of Hereford, Esq; who on the 11th of February 1700-1, was chosen Speaker of the House of Commons; on the 24th of May, 1711, was created Earl of Oxford and Mortimer; and five Days afterwards promoted to the important Station of Lord High Treasurer of Great Britain.

An innate Love of Science, the exemplary Attachment of several of his Ancestors to Literature¹, and a strong Propensity to search into the Transactions of former Ages, had determined him, in the early Part of his Life, to purchase whatsoever curious Manuscripts he could meet with, more especially such as in anywise tend to explain and illustrate the History, Laws, Customs, and Antiquities of his native Country. Mr. Harley, in this Respect, adopting the Plan of the great Sir Robert Cotton, whose Name must always be mentioned with Honour, and whose Memory cannot fail of exciting the warmest Sentiments of Gratitude, while the smallest Regard for Learning subsists amongst us.

A Design so truly noble and commendable, was worthy of a Person of that Rank and Fortune, to which Mr. Harley arrived. His extensive Learning, and the Correspondence which he had cultivated, and constantly carried on with the Literati, both at Home and Abroad, were happily adapted to his executing it with Success.

But amongst the several Difficulties which occurred to his obtaining any considerable Number of rare Manuscripts, a very material, and seemingly insurmountable Obstacle, offered. The Reapers had already been in the Field, and gathered in a plentiful Harvest, so that little, if any Thing, seemed to be left to reward his Researches, except a few Gleanings accidentally scattered in obscure Corners.

That such a Presumption was not altogether ill founded, will appear by a short Review of the principal Manuscript Libraries now extant, and of the Labours of preceding Collectors of Manuscripts, as also by the Manner in which they respectively disposed of their literary Acquisitions.

It is well known, that until the Reign of King Henry VIII. Learning had been several Ages at a low Ebb, especially among the Laity in England; where the tumultuary State of the Nation, and the long Wars between the Houses of York and Lancaster, had found them Employment widely different from the Pursuit of Letters. Hence in this Kingdom, the two Universities, the Cathedral Churches, the Abbeys, and other Religious Houses, became the only Repositories of Books of Erudition. Even they were but scantily supplied: And it is probable that the greatest Part of such Books, as their Libraries were then furnished with, had been picked up with Difficulty, and by slow Degrees only, by Ecclesiastics, in their occasional Journeys to Rome, and divers Parts of Europe. We have no Account transmitted to us of any considerable Number of valuable Books being, at any one Time, preceding the Reformation, introduced into England; except the Collections made by Order of Humphrey Duke of Gloucester, for his Library at Oxford, and the curious Greek Books brought hither by the Prelates, and other Dignitaries of that Church, after the taking of Constantinople; which Archbishop Warham soon after purchased and presented to New College.

Royal Library.

King Henry VIII. soon after the general Dissolution of religious Houses founded the Royal Library for the Use of the Princes of the Blood, placing therein many choice MSS collected by Jobu Leland and others, out of the Spoils of the Monasteries².

Bodleian Library.

Towards the End of Queen Elizabeth's Reign, Sir Thomas Bodley turned his Thoughts to the reinstating the public Library at Oxford, then in a ruinous Condition, and to the adorning it not only with printed Books, but with whatever Manuscripts could at that

² This Library was afterwards considerably augmented by his Successors, and is now preserved in the British Museum, by Order of his late Majesty K. George II.

Time be procured. To this End he quitted the Court, and dedicated the Remainder of his Life, to the searching after and purchasing Books and Manuscripts at Home, while his Agents Abroad ransacked almost every Part of Europe for the like literary Supplies. By these Means he had the Satisfaction of furnishing that Library with One thousand two hundred and ninety-four rare MSS. which by the subsequent Liberality of William Earl of Pembroke, Sir Kenelm Digby, Archbishop Laud, Mr. Selden, Sir Thomas Roe, Lord Fairfax, Bishop Barlow, Franciscus Junius, Dr. Huntingdon, Sir Henry Savill, Dr. Pocock, Mr. Dodsworth, and others, were increased to Six thousand eight hundred and eighteen Volumes, exclusive of Eighteen hundred and ninety-eight deposited in the Asmolean Museum.

Bodley's great Cotemporary, Sir Robert Cotton, had been equally diligent in collecting ancient MSS. The Study of Antiquities, particularly those of this Kingdom, had engaged his Attention, though he always shewed a high Regard for every Part of philological Learning, in all which he was extremely conversant. He had observed with Regret, that the History, Laws, and Constitution of Britain, were in general very insufficiently understood; and being fully convinced, that the Preservation of such Monuments of Antiquity, and other Documents, as were conducive to render the Knowledge of them, and their Deductions from their primary State, more accurate and universal, would necessarily redound to the Advantage of the Public, he had, in an expensive and indefatigable Labour of upwards of Forty Years, accumulated those numerous and inestimable Treasures which compose the Cottonian Library, and now remain an indisputable Testimony of his benevolent Disposition towards his native Country.

Cottonian Library.

But happily, these Patrons of Literature lived in an Age peculiarly favourable to the Completion of their respective Purposes, and more especially to those of the latter. The late general Dissolution of Religious Houses had dispersed an infinite Number of curious MSS. many of these were secured by the Nobility and Gentry; but no inconsiderable Number falling into the Hands of Peasants, Mechanics, and other Persons ignorant of their Importance, and totally inattentive to their Preservation, were easily to be purchased. From this Source Sir Robert Cotton had supplied his Library with a Multitude of rare MSS. and to them Mr. Camden, Mr. Lambert, Dr. Dee, and Sir Christopher Hatton, had kindly contributed their Stores.

Matthew Parker, Archbishop of Canterbury, had before taken the same Opportunity of repositing a good Number of excellent MSS. both in the Public Library, and in that of Corpus Christi College in Cambridge: and many considerable Augmentations of the like Kind had been made to the Libraries of the several Colleges in the two Universities, as also to those of our Cathedral Churches, the Palace at Lambeth, and the College of Arms.

Libraries in the Two Universities; at Lambeth; and in the Herald's Office.

Thomas Earl of Arundel had made large Collections of MSS. which afterwards were presented to the Royal Society, by his Grandson Henry Duke of Norfolk.

Arundelian Library.

The Inns of Court had procured, for their respective Libraries, divers excellent ancient Manuscripts, relating to the municipal Laws of this and the neighbouring Kingdoms; and Mr. Vaughan of Hengwrt had hoarded up, and perpetuated to his Family, most of the valuable Manuscripts relating to the Principality of Wales, and the History of the ancient Britons.

The Possessors of Lands heretofore belonging to Abbeys, Priors, &c. being apprized that the ancient Chartularies, Registers, Ledger-Books, and other Muniments of those Religious Houses, might be of infinite Use in discovering and evincing the various Rights, Privileges, and Immunities annexed to those Estates, had been industrious in collecting them, in order to their being religiously preserved amongst their other Family Evidences: And as a Taste for Letters increased, many curious Persons were vying with each other, in the Curiosities and other literary Furniture of their respective Libraries.

Vatican Library.

A similar Passion for collecting MSS. and forming as well private as public Libraries, had long displayed itself in many other Parts of Europe. Pope Sixtus the V. on his re-building the Vatican Library, in the Year 1588, had used his utmost Efforts to improve it, by the Addition of the most valuable MSS. His Influence had procured it large Supplies, and most of the succeeding Pontiffs, particularly Pope Clement XI¹. having in that Respect followed his Example, their Agents and Dependents had, from Time to Time, interested themselves, and that with great Success, for its further Augmentation.

Other Libraries in Italy.

Large Collections of MSS. had been placed in the Archives of the Church of St. Peter, and in the following Libraries; viz. of the Fathers of St. Basil, the Dominicans of Sancta Maria Sopra Minerva, and the Palaces of Ottoboni, Chigi, Barberini and Altieri, at Rome; the Convents of St. Severini, Monte Cassini, *Monte Oliveto*², and St. John de Carbonara, at Naples; the Royal Palace, and the University of Turin; the Ducal Palace at Modena; the Ambrosian College at Milan; the Larentian³, Benedictine, and Dominican Convents at Florence; the Ducal Palace at Parma; St. Mark at Venice; the Canons Regular at Bologna; and in other Libraries in Italy.

Vienna Library.

Most of the Manuscript Collections made by the German Literati had been swallowed up by the Imperial Library at *Vienna*⁴, which, after all the Monasteries in Austria, by the special Order of the Emperor Maximilian I. had been, as it were, pillaged of their Manuscripts, for its Enrichment, was further increased by the Acquisition of a great Part of the once celebrated Buda Library⁵.

Other Libraries in Germany, and the Netherlands.

Plentiful Supplies of the like Kind had been thrown into the Clementine College at Prague, the Ducal Library at Gotha, the Magistrates Library at Leipsic, and the Libraries of the Universities of Jena, Leipsic, and Leyden.

The Heidelberg Library, very famous on Account of the many fine MSS. wherewith it was replete, had been further greatly enriched a little before the Disturbance in Germany occasioned its being removed into the Vatican.

Royal Library at Dresden; and Library of Christina II. of Sweden.

No small Number of Manuscripts had been purchased for the Increase of the royal Library at Dresden. Queen Christina had not only possessed herself of the rich MS. Library of Petavius, and many choice Manuscripts taken by her Father, the great Gustavus Adolphus, from the Library of the royal Palace at Prague, and many Towns in Germany; but had even drained Sweden and the North of those numerous Manuscripts,

that she carried with her to Rome, and which, after her Death, were divided between the Vatican and Ottoboni Libraries¹.

The French King's Library, from its first Institution by Francis I. had been continually and wonderfully increasing, and afterwards received an Augmentation of no less than Ten Thousand MSS. by the Procurement of Cardinal de Fleury, who incessantly exerted his utmost Endeavours for its further Supply.

French King's Library.

The Religious Houses in Europe had always shewn a particular Zeal for the Possession of Manuscripts, and continued indefatigable in soliciting and encouraging their Patrons and Benefactors to search out the like valuable Treasures, and present them to their Libraries.

Such rare Books as were found in the several famous Seminaries of Literature in Africa, and brought into Spain, had, together with a great Number of Eastern Manuscripts, been collected, and lodged in the Escurial. Constantinople and Greece had been nearly exhausted of their Manuscripts by the European Travellers in those Parts; particularly by *John Lascaris*², for the Laurentian Medicean at Florence, by Cardinal Bessarion, for those numerous MSS. which he left by his Will to the public Library at *Venice*³, by Leo Allatius, for the Barberini Library, and by the Abbé St. Sevin and others, for the Royal Library at *Paris*⁴.

Escurial Library.

After so many Manuscripts had been thus secured in public Libraries, and such a Variety of Industry used for the Supply of those sacred Magazines of Learning, the Prospect of furnishing a new Library with any considerable Number of choice MSS. was very unpromising. But whatever Discouragements it might suggest to Mr. Harley, they were far from checking his Attempts. He resolved to persevere, and steadily pursue his Plan. He soon had the Satisfaction of finding his Endeavours attended with remarkable Success; for although the first considerable Collection which he purchased was in August 1705, we are assured by a learned Prelate of our Church⁵ (who well knew) that in less than ten Years he had got together near 2500 curious and rare MSS. in different Branches of Literature; amongst which were those of Sir Simon D'Ewes the Suffolk Antiquary, Mr. John Stow, Author of the Survey of London, Mr. Charles, Lancaster Herald, and John Fox, the Martyrologist.

These unexpected and pleasing Acquisitions would alone have sufficiently encouraged a Person less devoted to the Love of Antiquity, than Mr. Harley, to continue the Pursuit with Vigour; but he met with still further and irresistible Inducements. Dr. George Hicks, the great Restorer of Northern Learning, Mr. Anstis, Garter King at Arms, Bishop Nicholson, Col. Worsley, Sir Gilbert Dolben, Mr. Prior, Dr. Stratford, Canon of Christ Church, Sir Thomas Hoby, Peter Le Neve Esq; and other eminent Antiquaries, not only offered him their Assistance in procuring MSS. but presented him with several which were extremely valuable. Thus excited, he determined to lose no Time in bringing to Maturity a Design which he had so successfully begun; and

² He was sent by Lorenzo de Medicis twice into Greece in search of ancient MSS.

therefore whilst engaged in the Service of the State, he was constantly attentive to the enlarging his Collection; and after his Retirement from public Business, spent the Remainder of his Days in an unwearied Application to the gaining further Accessions to his Library, not sparing any Costs necessary for that Purpose. He likewise kept many Persons employed in purchasing Manuscripts for him Abroad, giving them such written Instructions for their Conduct in that Respect, as sufficiently manifest the exact Knowledge he had acquired as well of every curious Manuscript, as of the Person, Circumstances, and Residence of its Possessor¹. By these Means the Manuscript Library

" Mr. Andrew Hay,

" You being upon your Departure towards France and Italy, by my noble Lord's Order, I give you this Commission; not now expecting that you can execute every Part of it in this Journey, but yet hoping that you will dispatch those Articles which are of the greatest Importance, and put the others into a proper Posture, against the Time of your next Return thither.

" In Paris, Father Bernard Manfaucon has some Coptic, Syriac, and other Manuscripts, worth the buying. Among them is an old Lead of the Greek Septuagint, written in Uncial or Capital Letters. Buy these, and the leaden Book he gave to Cardinal Bouillon, if he can procure it for you, or direct you to it.

" In the Archives of the Cistercian Monastery of Clervaulx (or Clara-vallé), I am told there are some original Letters, or Epistles, written by the Hand of St. Hierame upon Phylra, or Bark. One or more of these will be acceptable, if not too outrageously valued.

" The Duke of Savoy has many Greek MSS. as also the Egyptian Board, or Table of Izi, adorned with Hieroglyphics; being that which have been explained by Pignorius, Kircherus, &c.—Let me have some Account of these.

" At Venice, buy a Sett of the Greek Liturgical Books printed there; I mean a Sett all of the First Edition, if they may be had; if not, let us have the other. Buy also Thomassin's Bibliotheca Vnetæ, in Quarto. Get a Catalogue of Mr. Smith's MSS. there, and enquire how Matters go about Giustiniani's Greek MSS.—In the Booksellers Shops, &c. you may frequently pick up Greek MSS. which the Greeks bring from the Morea, and other Parts of the Levant.

" Remember to get the Fragments of Greek MSS. you left with the Bookseller, who bought Maffeo's Library.

" The Family of Muscardi at Verona, have many valuable Antiquities; and among the Rest, four Instruments of the Emperor Theodorus junior, (now imperfect) written upon Phylra. These must be bought, and especial Care taken of them. The First begins,—dem relictiis—The Second—ius vir in Aut—The Third ius vir in—The Fourth in N. S. S. S.

" At Florence, the Dominicans, or Franciscans, have a large Collection of Greek MSS.—You may see them, and get a Catalogue of them, if you can. Buy Erasmus, or some other Catalogue of the Grand Duke's MSS.

" At Milan, in the Ambrosian Library, is a very ancient Catulus; Part of Josephus in Latin, written upon Bark. A Samaritan Pentateuch in Octavo, Part of the Syriac Bible, in the Ancient, or Estrange Characters; divers Greek MSS. in Capital Letters, being Parts of the Bible; with other Books of great Antiquity, both Greek and Latin. You may look upon them, and send me some Account.

" At Monza, (about ten Miles from Milan) is an imperfect Anaphanarium Gregorii I. Pape—It is all written upon purple colour Parchment, with Capital Letters of Gold.—Buy this if you can.

" The Family of Septata, at Milan, have a Latin Writing upon Bark.—Buy this, if it will be parted with.

" In the Archives of the Church of Ravenna, are divers Instruments written upon Bark.—You may see them.

" At Rome, the Greek Monks of St. Basil have very many old Greek MSS. written in Capitals, particularly a Book of the 14 Gospels, and some Pieces of St. Gregory Nazianzen upon St. Paul's Epistles. Buy as many as you can, for I hear they are poor, and therefore they may sell the cheaper. They have likewise a Greek Charter of Roger, King of Sicily, in five Pieces, together with some other Instruments in Greek, written upon Bark, or Vellum. Buy these also, if you can.

" The Fathers of the Oratory at Rome (Monasterium Vallicellianum) have many very ancient MSS. both Greek and Latin. See them at least, even supposing that they will not sell.

" In the Cathedral Library at Pisa, are many ancient MSS. Let me have some Account of these also.

" The Monks of Bovio (in Monasterio Bobiensis, near, if not in Pavia) have many very ancient MSS, and among the Rest a Book of the Gospels in Latin, wherein St. Luke is written LUCANUS.—They have many old Deeds in their Archives.—Buy what you can.

" At Casus (about a Day's Journey from Naples) is a Benedictine Monastery. In the Archives, or Treasury, is a Greek Deed of Roger, King of Sicily, with his Golden Seal appendant. Buy this, if you can. In the Library are some old MSS. See them at least, if you cannot buy.

" At Naples, in the Library of the Augustin Friars of St. John de Carbonara, is a Greek MS. of the Gospels (or of Homilies upon the Gospels) all written in Capitals with Letters of Gold, upon purple Parchment. This must be bought. There is also a Diocorides in Greek Capitals; being a large Book with Figures of the Plants, &c. This must also be bought. There is also a good Number of other ancient MSS. both Greek and Latin, among the latter is an Hieronimus de Scripturis Ecclesiasticis in Saxon Letters; and the Gospels in Latin, where St. Luke is called LUCANUS. Buy of these what you can.

" If the Greek Manuscripts of the Monastery of St. Saviour, near Marina in Sicily, or any of them, do remain there yet, or in that Neighbourhood, as it is probable they may, notwithstanding the late Wars, they will doubtless come exceeding cheap. You will enquire however how this Matter stands.

PREFACE.

Library was, in the Year 1721, increased to near six thousand Books; fourteen thousand Original Charters; and five hundred Rolls¹.

This great Encourager of Literature, died on the 21st of May 1724.²

His Son Edward, LORD HARLEY, the Inheritor of his Honours and Fortune, with equal Firmness and Perseverance, pursued the Plan; and with incessant Assiduity, and at an immense Expence, enlarged the Collection, so that at his Decease, which happened on Tuesday the sixteenth of June, 1741, the Manuscript Library consisted of near eight thousand Volumes. But many of them being composed of several distinct and independent Treatises, the Number of Books, separately considered, may be reckoned to amount to upwards of ten thousand; exclusive of several curious loose Papers, which have been since sorted and bound up in Volumes; and above Forty thousand original Rolls, Charters with their Confirmations, Letters Patent, Signs Manual, Privy Seals, Grants, Feofments, final Concords, Exchanges, Warrants, and other Deeds and Instruments of great Antiquity, for the most Part relating to Great Britain and Ireland.

That the principal Point, which the noble Founders of this Treasury of Learning had in View, was the Establishment of a MS. English Historical Library, and the rescuing from Oblivion and Destruction, such valuable Records of our National Antiquities, as had escaped the Diligence of former Collectors, is indubitable. But it cannot be inferred that they confined their Views to that Object alone, or were in the least Respect inattentive to others. The contrary is evident. The great Number of Biblical, Theological, and Philological Books wherewith the Collection abounds, are Instances of their Lordships' Plan being more extensive. An Inspection of the Catalogue will afford other unquestionable Proofs of the laudable Efforts which were exerted, in order to furnish the HARLEIAN LIBRARY with Manuscripts in every useful Science.

To give a critical Account of the rare and curious MSS. preserved in this admirable Repository; to point out their respective Excellencies; to select their most remarkable Passages; and to enter into a circumstantial Detail of their several Histories; would not only exceed the proper Bounds of a Preface, but prove a Task infinitely too difficult for any one Person who should presume to attempt it. Here therefore it must suffice; to give the Reader a general Idea of the Contents of the Collection, briefly and occasionally only, particularizing some Books of the most approved Value and Curiosity

I. BIBLES AND BIBLICAL BOOKS, of which the Library furnishes upwards of Three Hundred Copies in the Hebrew, Chaldee, Greek, Arabic, and Latin, many of them of good Note for their great Antiquity, and in other Respects extremely valuable.

Bibles and Biblical Books.

" Pray Sir, all along in your Journey, endeavour to secure what Greek MSS. and Latin Classical MSS. you can, provided they come at reasonable Prices; and let me be favoured with an Account of your Proceedings as often as may be convenient.

" Mr. Hay,

" In executing this Commission, my noble Lord cannot give you positive Direction how to bid upon every Occasion, by Reason of this his great Distance from those Parts; and must therefore rely upon your Fidelity, your Prudence, your usual Dexterity in Business, and your personal Affection to him. You will be sure always to buy as cheap as you can, for I foresee that some of the Things his Lordship chiefly wants, or is desirous of, will not come for a small Matter. In most of the Monasteries you will be able to buy for Ready Money; but it may be at a cheaper Rate with the Great Monks of St. Basil's Monastery at Rome, whose MSS. are good, and themselves in want.

" I beseech God to bless and prosper you all along in this so long a Journey, and to bring you back again with Safety and good Success; and you may be sure that you will be more welcome to but very few, than to

" Good Sir,

" Your very hearty Well-wisher,

" And most humble Servant,

" HUMPHREY WANLEY."

² On a spare Leaf of one of the Manuscripts in this Library, Mr. Wanley hath made the following remarkable Entry.
" 21st of May, 1724. To-day about Ten of the Clock, it pleased Almighty God, to call to his Mercy from this troublesome World, the Right Honourable ROBERT EARL OF OXFORD, the Founder of this Library; who long had been to me a munificent Patron, and my most kind and gracious Lord and Master."

Amongst

Amongst these are ;

A Hebrew Bible several Hundred Years old ; to which are prefixed the various Readings of the Eastern and Western Copies, a Syllabus of the Parashoths and Haphtaroths for the whole Year, and two remarkable Drawings in Gold highly embossed, of the sacred Vessels and Utensils of the ancient Jews [1528.]¹

A Hebrew Bible, with the small Masoretic Notes, illuminated and adorned with Miniature Paintings ; written in the 14th Century [5710, 5711.]

Another Copy of the Hebrew Bible, coeval with the former ; most elegantly written in three Quarto Volumes [5773, 5774, 5775.]

A Latin Bible, with St. Paul's Epistle to the Laodiceans, finely illuminated ; written in the 11th Century, and formerly belonging to the Cathedral Church of Anjou [2833, 2834.]

Two pompous Volumes, containing a Latin Bible, with St. Jerom's Epistle to Paulinus, de omnibus divinarum Historiarum Libris, his Prologues, and Prefaces, and the Canons of Eusebius ; written in the 12th Century, and formerly kept in the Church of Saint Mary and Saint Nicolas at Arinstein [2798, 2799.]

The Old and New Testament of the Vulgate Edition, elegantly written in the 13th Century, with the Psalter of the Gallican Version ; Rabanus Maurus's Prefaces to his Commentaries on the Books of the Maccabees, and an Interpretation of the Hebrew Names ; ornamented with most beautiful Miniatures, executed in a Taste far superior to what is usually found in Manuscripts of that Age [1297]. The Reading of the 8th Verse of the 5th Chapter of St. John's first Epistle, in this MS. is, Et tres sunt qui Testimonium dant in Terra, Spiritus, Aqua, & Sanguis ; et hii tres unum sunt.

A Transcript of the Books of the Old and New Testament, written in the same Century, and contained in two pompous and illumined Volumes, formerly belonging to the Capuchin Convent at Montpelier. In this MS. the 7th Verse of the 5th Chapter of St. John's first Epistle is wanting ; and the Legend of the 8th Verse is, Quoniam Tres sunt qui Testimonium dant in Terra, Spiritus, Aqua, et Sanguis, et Tres unum sunt [4772, 4773.]

A Copy of the Old and New Testament, with St. Jerom's Prologue to the Book of Job, written in Capitals, and of the 13th Century [2822.]

Another Copy, which heretofore belonged to the Church of St. Mary at Worms ; finely illuminated and augmented with the Canons of Eusebius, St. Jerom's Epistle to Paulinus, and the usual Prologues, &c. written in the 13th Century [2803, 2804.]

The most complete Copy now extant of Peter de Riga's Versification of the Latin Bible, written in the 14th Century [747.]

Pentateuch,

A double Roll, containing the Hebrew Pentateuch ; written with great Care in a very large Character, and without Points, or any Horns or Flourishes on the Tops of the Letters, on forty brown African Skins of different Sizes, some containing more Columns than others, and having a Space of about four Lines left between every two Books [7619.]

The Hebrew Pentateuch, with a Chaldee Paraphrase ; and the Books of Canticles, Ruth, Lamentations, Ecclesiastes, and Esther ; with the Commentaries of R. S. Jarchi, and Part of the Chaldee Interpretation of the Canticles, elegantly written in the 14th Century [5709.]

A small

A small Roll, containing the Book of Esther in Hebrew, finely written in a very small Character, and by a Spanish Hand. [This Roll is not mentioned in the Catalogue.]

Part of the Book of Psalms, and the entire Books of Proverbi, Job, Daniel, Esdras, Nebemiah, Chronicles, Ruth, Ecclesiastes, Esther, and Lamentations, in Hebrew, written in the 12th Century [5715.]

Part of Exodus, and the whole Books of Leviticus, Numbers, Deuteronomy, Esther, Canticles, Ruth, Lamentations, and Ecclesiastes, in Hebrew, with the Haphtaroths; of the 14th Century [5706.]

A most pompous Copy of the first Part of the Latin Bible, as far as the Psalms, of the 9th Century [2805.]

The Books of Leviticus, Joshua, and Judges, in Latin, of the 10th Century [3806]. Two Copies of the Book of Job in Latin, one written in the 11th Century [2817], the other, with a Gloss, in the 12th Century [5233.]

A very fine Copy of the Books of Tobit, Judith, Ruth, and Wisdom, in Latin, with a Gloss, written in the 13th Century [4985.]

Two very noble Biblical Books, upwards of five hundred years old; being Part of a most richly illuminated Manuscript, the first Volume whereof, beginning at Genesis, and ending with Job, is preserved in the Bodleian Library (Arch. A. 154). They consist of Texts according to the vulgar Latin, selected from the Books of the Maccabees and New Testament, with the Subject of each Text, represented in an illuminated Picture, included in a pretty large Circle placed opposite thereto. Underneath each Text is likewise set down, in Latin, the Meaning of the same, according to the Opinion of the Author, who generally applies such Text to demonstrate the Benefits of a good Life, and the Punishments attending a bad one. These Explications are also represented in historical Paintings placed under the other; all columnatim, and the whole adorned with illuminated Ornaments [1526, 1527.]

Three very fair Copies of the New Testament, of Wickliff's Translation, all written in his Time, and one of them, as is supposed, by his own Hand. To one of these Copies is prefixed a Calendar of the Lessons and Gospels, of all the Zeers. At the End thereof are the Epistles of St. Paul to the Laodiceans, and the Lessons and Epistles of the old Lavee, that ben red in the Chirche all the Zeer after the Use of Salisbury [4027, 2309, 327, 6333.]

ments

The four Gospels in Greek, with the Canons of Eusebius, said in a Note, at the End of the MS. and in a Hand nearly coeval with it, to be the proper Hand-writing of King Theodosius the Great [5567.]

Gospels in Greek.

A most august Copy of the Greek Gospels, in Capitals, written in the 11th Century [5684.]

An ancient Transcript of the Greek Gospels, ornamented with great Variety of historical Paintings, and accompanied with an explanatory Treatise on the Evangelists and Evangelical Lessons, a Menology, the Canons of Eusebius written in illuminated blue and gold Letters, his Epistle to Carpien, the Preface of Ireneus, and another Preface taken from Cosma the Egyptian's Christianorum Opinio de Mundo, sive Topographia Christiana; allowed to be at least as old as the twelfth Century [1810], and still more remarkable, in regard, that neither this MS. nor Cosma's Book, had ever been seen by

Dr. Mill, before he published his Edition of the *Greek Testament. It is said in a Note written on a spare Leaf, at the End of this MS. that it formerly belonged to a Monastery, which took its Appellation from the Prophet Elias.

A fair Copy of the Greek Gospels, written in the 11th Century, with the Pictures of the Evangelists painted on gold Grounds, and their Names written on the Margins in Arabic Characters [5647.]

Two other Copies of the Greek Gospels, written in the 12th Century [5777, 5776]; and another of the same Age, adorned with the Pictures of the Holy Virgin, and of the Evangelists [5731.]

An elegant Transcript of the IV Gospels in Greek, written in the 13th Century; illuminated and adorned with Paintings [5790.] and two others of the same Century [5559 and 5784.]

Latin Gospels.

A most venerable Exemplar of the four Gospels of St. Jerome's Version, with the Prefaces and Canons of Eusebius; the whole written in Capitals, and allowed to be twelve hundred Years old [1775]. In this MS. it is observable, that the Genealogy of our blessed Saviour appears to be distinct, and separated from St. Matthew's Gospel. The following Words in two Independent Lines, occurring after the 17th Verse of that Chapter:

Genealogia Hucusque, Incip. evangl. scđ. MATTH.

So that the Gospel begins at the 18th Verse of the first Chapter, in the same Manner as we likewise find it distinguished, in the famous Copy of the Evangelists written in Ireland, and in another MS. of the same Kind, and of the twelfth Century; which MSS. are both preserved in this Library [1802, 2795.]* It is also observable, that the like Distinction or Separation of the Genealogy of our blessed Saviour, from the other Part of St. Matthew's Gospel, is made in the famous Copy of the four Gospels, formerly belonging to King Ethelstan, and now preserved in the Cottonian Library (Tiberius, A. II.) which Book was by him appointed to be used by the succeeding Kings of England, at the Time of their taking the Coronation Oath.

Latin Gospels in gold Letters.

A noble Exemplar of the four Gospels, in capital Letters of Gold, which in Point of Antiquity (being written in the eighth Century) as well as Elegance, greatly surpasses the Codex Aureus of the Escorial Library.³ This Manuscript, for which Edward Earl of Oxford paid five hundred Pounds, may be said to vie in many Respects with any MS. of its Kind in the World. Every Page of the sacred Text of this inestimable Manuscript, consisting of two separate Columns, is enclosed within a Broad and beautifully illuminated Border. The Pictures of the Evangelists, with their symbolic Animals, are curiously painted in the Front of their respective Gospels; the initial Letter of each Gospel is richly illuminated, and so large as to fill an entire Page. To the whole are prefixed the Prologues, Arguments, and Breviaries; two Letters of St. Jerome to Damasus, the Canons of Eusebius, his Letters to Carpian, and a Capitular of the Gospels for the Course of the Year, all of them written in small golden Character [2788.]

* Since the printing Dr. Mill's Edition of the Greek Testament, the entire Works of Cuma have been published, together with some Pieces of St. Albanasius and Eusebius, by Father Montfaucon at Paris, in the Year 1706. Mr. Wanley hath given a very particular Account of this curious MS. in the Catalogue; which see.

² See the Catalogue, where Mr. Wanley treats largely on this MS. gives Specimens of the Writing, and compares the Reading with that of the Vulgate.

A Transcript of the Latin Gospels, with their usual Accompaniments; of the same Age with the last mentioned Manuscript, written in Letters of Gold, but of a small Alphabet; and remarkable for the singular Manner in which the Genealogy of our Saviour is placed [2797.]

An Exemplar of the Holy Gospels, likewise written in the 8th Century; and formerly belonging to the Church of St. Ciricius at Soissons. To this Manuscript are prefixed the Epistle to Damasus, and the usual Arguments, Prologues, &c. together with an Interpretation of Hebrew Names, a Catalogue of the Books and Vestments belonging to that Church, and a List of its Saints [2790.]

Two other Copies of the four Latin Gospels, also written in the 8th Century [2823 and 2826.] In the latter of these the reading of the 23d Verse of the last Chapter of St. John's Gospel is, Si sic eum volo manere donec veniam; and that of the 24th Verse is, Si eum volo manere. Other Gospels in Latin;

The four Gospels of St. Jerome's Version, together with his Prologues, Arguments, &c. the Canons of Eusebius, and the parallel Passages, written in Letters of Gold in the tenth Century. This MS. is most gloriously illuminated and adorned with Pictures of the following Subjects painted on purple Grounds, viz. before the Gospel of St. Matthew, in a Circle, are, first, the Representation of our Saviour, sitting as enthron'd; holding in his right Hand the Book of the new Law, that of the old Law lying in his Lap; with the Four Evangelists in the Angles, kneeling. Secondly, our Saviour standing with St. John resting his Head on his Bosom. Thirdly, the Portrait of St. Matthew. And Fourthly, the Salutation of the Virgin. Before St. Mark's Gospel are the Portrait of that Evangelist and the Dormition of the Virgin Mary. At the Beginning of St. Luke's Gospel are his Portrait, and the Crucifixion of our Saviour. Before the Gospel of St. John, are the Picture of that Evangelist, and the Ascension of our Lord [2821.] Other Gospels.

Two other Copies written in the same Century; one of them finely decorated with the Pictures of the Evangelists and St. Jerom; and having the Rubricks written in silver Letters [2820, 2830.]

A very fair and valuable Exemplar of the Latin Gospels of the Vulgate Edition, once belonging to the Abbey Church of St. Edmund's Bury; elegantly written in the 10th Century, but unhappily despoiled of the initial Leaves of the Gospels of St. Matthew, St. Luke, and St. John, by some flagitious Hand, probably for the Sake of the Illuminations with which they were embellished, as may be supposed from the Enrichments of the initial Words of St. Mark's Gospel still remaining. At the Beginning of this Volume is a Syllabus of the Evangelical Lessons, according to the Usage of the Roman Church: and at the End are inserted the memorable Contest between Gundulphus, Bishop of Rochester, and Picote, Sheriff of Grandebruge. William the Conqueror's grand Charter to the Abbey of St. Edmund's. A Bull of Pope Alexander; and various other Charters granted by King Canute, and William the Conqueror, to that Abbey [76.]

The Latin Gospels written with red Ink about the Beginning of the 11th Century, and in the Anglo Normanic Character. In this MS. the Genealogy of our Saviour is also detached from the other Part of St. Matthew's Gospel; as is likewise the first Part of the eighteenth Verse of the first Chapter, Christi autem Generatio sic erat. All the Rubricks are written in gold Capital Letters; and the initial Letter of each Gospel is also of gold, and fills an entire Page [2795.]

The Four Evangelists, written in the Irish Character, by Brigidianus, or Maol Brighte, for the Use of Gilla Coarb, or Vicar of the Church of St. Patrick, supposed by Father Simon to be Eight hundred Years old; though Mr. Wanley will not allow it an

an earlier Date than the Twelfth Century. But whatever Difficulties may have arisen in ascertaining the exact Date of this curious MS. it is on all Hands acknowledged to be one of the most authentic Copies of the Latin Gospels, which the Irish have ever sent out of their Island. To this Exemplar are added, St. Jerome's Prologue of the Canons of the Four Gospels, an Explanation of such Hebrew and Syriac Names as occur in the Gospels, a Hebrew, Latin, and Irish Vocabulary, and the usual Prefaces, an interlineary Gloss, and a Catena Patrum [1802]. The Singularity of this MS. has induced Mr. Wanley to favour us, in the Catalogue, with a very accurate Account of it; and in a laborious and judicious Criticism to fix its true Age, and explode the Opinion of Father Simon, as well in regard thereto, as to the Characters in which it is written'.

A Transcript of the Four Evangelists of the Latin Vulgate, with various Readings, is likewise written in Irish Characters, but not quite so old as the preceding, and wanting the Prefaces and Beginning of St. Matthew's Gospel, as far as the 25th Verse of the 23d Chapter [1023.]

Epistles.

The Epistles of St. Paul, the Catholic Epistles, and the Apocalypse, in Latin, with the Arguments, &c. above One thousand Years old; and from its Version differing in many Places from the modern Vulgate and St. Jerome's Translation. This MS. is supposed to be one of the old Latin Copies before the Corrections of St. Jerome were introduced. It is further observable, that the reading of the 8th Verse of the 5th Chapter of the first Epistle to St. John is in the Manuscript, Et tres sunt qui Testimonium dant in Terra, Spiritus, Aqua, et Sanguis, et Tres unum sunt [1772].*

The Book of Canticles, the Gospels of St. Matthew and St. Luke, St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans, the Epistles of St. James and St. John, and the Apocalypse of the Latin Bible; written for the most Part in the 9th Century [7551.]

A fine Copy of St. Paul's Epistles in Latin [2829], and another Transcript of the same, with the Acts and Catholic Epistles, both of the 11th Century [5557.]

St. Paul's Epistles in Arabic [5474.] The Canonical Epistles of St. Paul in Latin, with a Gloss, his Epistle to the Laodiceans, and an Exposition of the Gospel of St. John, written in the 12th Century [3131]; and another Copy of the Epistles of St. Paul of the same Age [5140.]

Psaltera.

A Roman Psalter of St. Jerome, written about the Time of our King Edgar, illuminated; and each Psalm elegantly Embellished with a most curious historical Drawing illustrating the Text [603.] A Psalter, with the Litany, Calendar, &c. elegantly written; illuminated and decorated with beautiful Miniature Paintings, of the 11th Century [2895.] A most curious and finely preserved Psalter, in Greek, Latin, and Arabic, written in the 12th Century, as appears by the following Inscription on the Back of the Leaf. DMI. MCLIII. Ind. vij. Ianuarij die Octavo die Mercurij [5786.] King Henry III.'s Psalter, curiously illuminated; and written for his Use by Thomas de Langley [745.] A Greek Psalter, with sacred Hymns, of the 11th Century [5570.] An extremely fine Greek Psalter of the 12th Century [5582]; and another of the same Age, one belonging to the Monks of Monte Oliveto [5571.] A Latin Psalter, with sacred Hymns, written in the 13th Century [5563.] Two Arabic Psalters, to One whereof are subjoined a Psalm composed on the slaying Goliath; and ten sacred Canticles extracted from the Scriptures [5469, 5476.] A Greek and Russian Psalter [5723.] A Slavonic Psalter [3389.] An Exposition of the Psalter in Latin, illuminated, and most accurately written in a Hand of the 10th Century [4860]; and a great Variety of other valuable Transcripts of the different Biblical Books, written in the 10th, 11th, and 12th Centuries.

* See also Bishop Nicholson's Preface to his Irish Historical Library, p. 11, 12, &c.

† See a full Account and Extract of this MS. by Mr. Wanley in the Catalogue.

II. CABBALAS, TALMUDS, AND TALMUDICAL BOOKS, TARGUMS, EXPOSITIONS, GLOSSES, AND COMMENTARIES on the Pentateuch, and other Books of the Old Testament, in Hebrew, Chaldee, &c. compiled by the most celebrated ancient, as well as later Rabbins. Amongst these are, a very fine Copy of Maimonides de Lege, in Hebrew, and without Points, written in the Year of our Lord 1472, by Salomon Ben Alzuk, [5698 and 5699;] and the Sepher a Misvot of Rabbi Moses Ben Jacob de Cusi; written in the beginning of the 15th Century [5700.] A very beautiful Transcript of Maimonides's Moreh Nebuchin, in Hebrew, without Points, written in small Characters by a Spanish Hand, and finely illuminated [5525.] An Exemplar of Three Tracts of Maimonides's, viz. de Fæminis, de Sanctitate, and de Votis et Juramentis, written by a German Hand in the 13th Century [5702.] A Transcript of R. Moses Maimonides's Sepher Moreh Nevuchim, with R. Aben Tibonis Exposition of several Words therein; Sepher Messaret Moseh, Aben Ezra's Sepher, Arujat Amesima we Pardes Hachma; and Sepher Aatbalot le Abunatsar Alparachy; or Abunatsar Alparachy Principia; the Four last of which have not hitherto been printed: all elegantly written in small Hebrew Characters [5507.] R. Levi's Hebrew Commentary on Job, written in the 14th Century [5526.] An Exemplar of R. Moses Nachmanides, on the Pentateuch, in Hebrew, of the 13th Century [5702.] Sundry very elegant and Ancient Copies of the Liturgies of the German and other Jews; particularly a Liturgy, &c. of the German Jews, written in the 13th Century [5701.] The Machazor, or Office of Prayers, composed for their greater Feasts, differing from the common printed Liturgy, and written in the 14th Century [5714.] The Order of Prayer, in which the Rubrics are more ample than in the printed Books. Two pompous Volumes in Hebrew, the One containing penitential Prayers for the 40 Days before; and the other consisting of Prayers to be repeated on the Day of Expiation [7618, 7197.] With these are likewise most noble Transcripts of R. Jacob Ben Aber, and R. Ben Ezra's four Orders; containing all the Rites, Customs and Ceremonies as used by the Jews in their present Dispersion [5716, 7198.]

Cabbalas,
Talmuds,
Targums,
Liturgies,
Jews.

III. Near 200 Volumes of the WRITINGS OF THE FATHERS OF THE CHURCH: particularly a Copy of Part of the Works of St. Hilary, written in the 9th Century, and formerly belonging to the Church of St. Mary and St. Nicholas of Arinstein [3115.] A fine Transcript of St. Augustine's Sermons on the Gospel and first Epistle of St. John, written in the 12th Century, likewise belonging to the same Monastery [3114.] A beautiful Exemplar of the same Father's Discourses on the Book of Genesis, written in the 12th Century [3113;] and another, containing his Books De civitate Dei, & de Trinitate, written in the 13th Century [3111.] St. Chrysostom's Greek Homilies on the Epistle to Timothy, written in the 13th Century [5689.] The Works of St. Athanasius in Greek, of the 14th Century [5579.] The Homilies of St. Basil, Ephraim Syrus, and John Chrysostom, in Greek, written in the 14th Century [5639;] and another Copy of the same, with St. Gregory's Encomium on Sts. George and Marina, likewise of the same Age [5576.] As also ancient Councils, Canons and Constitutions Ecclesiastical, great variety of Annotations, Commentaries, Expositions, Harmonies of the four Gospels, Paraphrases, Histories of the Old and New Testament, &c. with a Multitude of Theological Treatises, many of which, notwithstanding the pious Labours of modern Divines, are highly worthy to be consulted.

Treatises.

IV. LITURGIES AND LITURGICAL BOOKS, as the Liturgies of SS. Chrysostom, Basil, and Nazianzen, of which there are in this Collection two very fair Copies in Greek; one with the Prayers and Evangelical and Epistolical Lessons, written in the 11th Century [5561], and the other written in the 14th Century [5669.] The Liturgy of the Church of Syria [5460.] Two fair Volumes, containing the Samaritan Liturgy [5481, 5495.] The Russian Liturgy [5462.] The Liturgies of the Roman [2431, 2432,] and Greek Churches; particularly a most valuable Exemplar of that of the latter; wherein the several Offices, Chants, Hymns, and Antiphones, are marked with Greek musical Notes, according to the present usage of that Church [1613.] This truly valuable MS. was presented to Colonel Worsley by Notara, who was at that Time Metropolitan of Cæsarea, and afterwards Patriarch of Jerusalem.^{*} A curious Liturgy, adorned with beautiful Paintings and Illuminations; which, from the Calendar of German Saints inserted in it, is supposed to have formerly belonged to some Church in Germany [1211.] The several Liturgies of the Church of England, &c.

viaries, &c.

V. MISSALS, BREVIARIES, and HOURS of the Holy Virgin, according to the Use of the Roman [2972], English [2846], and Gallican Churches [2929], Rituals, Ordinals, Books of Offices, Processionals and Graduals; many of them curiously illuminated, and richly adorned with fine historical Paintings. The most remarkable of these are, a Missal of the Church of Soissons, in Two Volumes, written in the 9th Century [2991, 2992.] The Missale Augustinae Ecclesiae finely painted and illuminated, of the 10th Century [2908.] A very ancient Missal written in large Capitals, with the Chants, Antiphones, and Responses prick'd with musical Notes; and containing special Masses for sundry Saints Days, and other particular Occasions, not to be met with in any other Book of that kind [1229.] A Roman Missal in Latin, but written in Syrian Characters; with the Rubrics in those of the Arabic [5512.] The Missal of the Church of Toul, in Lorraine, which, besides the exquisite Paintings with which it is ornamented, is remarkable for having in the Litany of Saints, after the three holy Archangels, one to the Angel Uriel; notwithstanding several Councils had strictly forbid the Invocation of more than the three first [2999.] A fine Copy of the Missale Moissiacense [2893]; and Missals according to the Use of sundry other Churches, as Salisbury [2785, 1797], St. Paul's London [2787], Durham [5289], Paris, &c. A Missal adorn'd with exquisite Paintings, wherein the Figures are represented of a larger Size than usual; and to which is added a Calendar, ornamented with several curious Miniatures, wherewith the several Labours of the Farm and Vineyard throughout the Year are curiously delineated [2936.] A fine Transcript of the Ordo Romanus, written in the 11th Century [2906.] The Office of the Holy Virgin, with a Calendar finely illuminated, and decorated with Pictures, particularly those of Saints Michael, John Baptist, Christopher, Sebastian, Jerome, Martin of Tours, Agnes, Barbara, and Margaret [2948.] Two Breviaries painted in a most exquisite Manner; to each of which is prefixed a Calendar finely decorated with Miniatures, of Saints, Country Sports, and Employments, &c. [2950, 5049.] As also many others. See [2787, 2989, 3000, 2974, 2835, 2975, 2985, 928, 5780, 2971, 2969, 6563, &c.]

Evangelis-
tionaries.

VI. Ancient EVANGELISTARIA & LECTIONARIES, amongst which are an Evangelistarium, written in Greek Capitals in the 9th Century [5787.] An Evangelistarium, in Greek Capitals, written in the Year 995, by Constantine, Presbyter. The first Page thereof, and the References to the Chapters, are in Letters of Gold [5598.] Another Evangelistarium, adorned with Pictures of the four Evangelists finely painted, and the Rubrick written in Letters of Gold. At the End is a Certificate signed on the Tenth of March 1699, by Laurence Alexander Zacagnius, principal Librarian of the Vatican to testify that this MS. was then upwards of 700 Years old [5785.] Three Evangelistaria, written in the 11th Century [2994, 2970, 5650]; one whereof belonged to the Canons of St. Simon at Treves, and hath inserted on the Back of the 16th Page thereof the Oaths usually taken by the Canons, Dean and Provost of that Church; and another of them is remarkable for being written on Parchment, from whence the Words of some other Book have been erased. A Lectionarium of the 10th Century, with Hymns, Collects, &c. in which the Responses are prick'd to musical Notes [2961.] A very fair Exemplar of the Lectionarium Moissiacense, with the Responses set to Music, and finely written in the 11th Century [2914.] Another Lectionarium of the same Age, enriched with the Pictures of SS. Peter, Paul, James, and John; as also with the Figure of Jesse lying in his Tomb, with the seven Spirits issuing from his Body [5787.] As also an elegant illuminated Transcript of "Wickliff's Gospel and Epistols of all þe Festis in þe Zeer " by Ordre as þei ben red in the Messe Book' after þe Use of Salisbury [1710.]"

^{*} Mr. Wanley has in the Catalogue of the Harlian MSS. given a very curious Account and Extract of this Liturgy.

VII. Store of MENOLOGIES, MARTYROLOGIES, and LIVES OF SAINTS; which, though they are to be read with great Caution; yet when divested of their fabulous and miraculous Parts, furnish genuine Matter of good Note, and not readily to be met with elsewhere. The Assistance which the Collections of this Sort, made by Bollandus; Papebroch, Tinmouth, Surius, Mabilien, and others, have afforded, is frequently acknowledged by the gravest and best writers on Church Affairs. Amongst these are a Greek Menology, written in the 11th Century [5557.] and another in the 12th [5581.] A most noble Passionale in three very pompous Folio Volumes, written in the 13th Century, and once belonging to the Church of St. Mary, and St. Nicholas, of Arlinteyn; containing, exclusive of the Life of Lewis Count of Arlinteyn, Founder of that Abbey, the Lives and Actions of no less than three hundred and thirteen Saints [2800.] Two Exemplars of the celebrated Martyrology of Usuardus the Monk¹, compiled by the express Command of the Emperor *Charlemagne*². One of them is a very pompous Volume, with a Calendar prefixed, written in the 13th Century [3047.] the other, though of much meaner Appearance, yet is of more venerable Antiquity, being written in the 9th Century [3062.] This last mentioned Copy differs in several Respects from the former, and is probably the oldest Transcript of Usuardus now extant: In it the Martyrology begins on the VIIIth of the Calends of January, with the Festival of the Holy Virgins of Antioch; whereas the other [3047] sets out with the Festival of St. Almachius on the Calends of January. It likewise contains a Prologue prefixed to the Dedication of the Work to Charlemagne, wanting in the other, is throughout the whole much more correct than the former, and appears to be the genuine Work of *Usuardus*³; before the Introduction of those Interpolations, which, soon after its being published; became frequent.*

Menologies,
Martyrologies, &c.

VIII. A Variety of other Books of RELIGION AND DEVOTION; particularly a very fine Copy of the Passio Christi secundum Evangelistas, with Prayers to God and several Saints, neatly written in Saxon Characters, and in the 8th Century [2965.] A Book of Prayers, Benedictions, and Exorcisms, in Latin, written in the 10th Century [2892.] Wickliff's Summary of the Books of the Old and New Testament, with their Authority and Use to Christian Men [1666.] His Postils [1730]; and his Notes on the Pater Noster, with sundry other Discourses [2385.] A miscellaneous Collection of distinct Pieces bound together; containing a Horology and Calendar, the Rules of St. Benet, ancient Statutes promulgated at Rome in the Year 917, and a Directory for conversing in Monasteries, all written in the 10th Century; and some other Tracts in a Hand of the 13th Century [5431.] A miscellaneous Volume of Prayers, Hymns, Litanies, &c. written in the 11th Century, and ornamented with curious Paintings [2928.] A Book in the Armenian Tongue, containing the Apostles Creed, a History of the Bible, and a Form of proper Confession to be used before taking the Holy Sacrament [5459.] A Translation into Persic of the History of our Saviour; written originally in the Portuguese Tongue, by Father Jerome Xavier [5455.] Prayers, and Manuals in the Hebrew, Latin, English, French, German, and Low Dutch. Ethiopic Prayers [5471.] Several Transcripts of the Alcoran, in Arabic, Persic, &c. and Commentaries thereon. A Collection of Mohammedan Prayers, written in the Persic and

Other Books
and Devotion,

¹ He is sometimes called Usuardus. Trithemius and other German Writers call him Isuardus.

Sigebertus Gemblacensis de Viris illustribus, Cap. 85. Usuardus in his Preface. Trithemius in his Catalogue.

Turkish Tongues. The Nadham, or Connection of Sentences contained in the Alchoran; with the Apothegms of Mahomed [5511.] Three Books of Prayers in Arabic, two of them written in the African Character [5464, 5470, 5479.] Together with other Tracts on the Mohammedan Religion.

Topographical Description and Antiquities of England.

IX. So amazing a Number of curious and authentic Manuscripts, relative as well to the TOPOGRAPHICAL DESCRIPTION AND ANTIQUITIES OF BRITAIN, AS TO THE CIVIL AND ECCLESIASTICAL HISTORY OF THE KINGDOM, its Laws, Constitution and Government, that the Mine appears truly inexhaustible, and every Vein fully replete with the richest Stores.

First, For the Topographical Part; Histories and Surveys of several Counties, and the Customs of their Inhabitants; Memorials of the Founding and Incorporation of Cities, Towns, Boroughs, and Villages, with the most remarkable Events that have happened to each; their Antiquities and other Curiosities. Accounts of the Erections of Temples, Castles, and other Buildings; and of the Remains (if any) of such as have been destroyed. The Establishment and Endowment of Parishes, Foundations of religious Houses, Books of ancient Tenures, Inquisitions post Mortem, Escheats, Customaries, Terriers of Manors, Perambulations of Forests, Accounts of ancient Coin, monumental Inscriptions, Forts, Camps, Roads, military Ways, and other Antiquities, which have been casually discovered in particular Places. Notes concerning the most remarkable Rivers, Mountains, Mines, Minerals, and other Curiosities. A Variety of Tracts, and Memoranda relating to particular Parts of England, as well in its pristine State, when separated into petty Kingdoms, Provinces, and Principalities during the Times of the Britains, Romans, and Saxons, as subsequently, when under the Dominion of one Monarch; divided into Counties, Ridings, Rapes, Wapentakes, &c. As also the laborious Collections made by Sir Simonds D'Ewes, John Fox, the Martyrologist, Mr. Erdeswick, honest John Stow, Mr. Charles, Lancaster Herald, and others.

Civil and Ecclesiastical History, Chronicles, &c.

Secondly, For the Civil and Ecclesiastical History; valuable Copies of our ancient Historians and Chroniclers, as Gildas, Nennius, Aserius Menevensis, Ælfred of Beverly, Abbot Benedict, Castoreus or John Beaver, *J.  Charters.
- Original Charters of our ancient Kings, as Edward the Elder, Edgar, Hardicanute, and Edward the Confessor. The famous Charter of King Edgar, wherein he is stiled MARIUM BRIT. DOMINUS [7513], on which great Stress has been laid, by several Writers, in Support of England's Superiority over the four Seas ; but which Charter Dr. Hicks' hath evidently demonstrated to be spurious ; and to have been, (as many others in the same Language likewise were) forged after the Norman Conquest. A most noble and curious Book, covered with crimson Velvet, and richly adorned with Bosses and Hasps of Silver gilt and enamelled ; the Cover and all the Leaves indented at the Top ; containing Four original Indentures of Covenant, illuminated and embellished with historical Miniatures, dated the 16th of July, in the 19th Year of King Henry VII. and made between that King and the Abbot and Convent of St. Peter's Westminster, for certain Masses, Collects, &c. to be for ever after said in the Chapel of the Virgin Mary, then determined to be built at the East End of that Church as a Place of Reception of the Bodies of the King, Queen, and Royal Family, after their respective Deceases ; for providing Chantry Monks there ; for founding Anniversaries in that and other Chapels and Churches ; for Converses and Scholars in the University ; for maintaining Almsmen ; for the Livelihood amortiz'd to the Abbey of Westminster for those Foundations ; and for various other Purposes. To this Indenture Book, Five broad Seals of King Henry VII. preserved in Silver Boxes, Parcel gilt, and ornamented with his Badges of the Portcullis and Rose Springs, are appendant by Strings of Silk, and Gold and Silver Thread [1498.] *
- Another Book, with its Cover of blue Velvet, and the Tops of all the Leaves indented ; containing an illuminated Quadrupartite Indenture, dated the Twentieth of November, in the 20th Year of the Reign of K. Henry VII. made between the King, the Abbot and Convent of Westminster, the Abbot and Convent of St. Alban's, and the Mayor and Commonalty of London ; whereby the Abbot and Convent of St. Alban's oblige themselves to hold a solemn Anniversary in their Church for ever ; and to pray there for the King, the Royal Family, and the Realm.¹ Likewise numerous Transcripts of Letters Patent,
- * Theaurus Lit. Septentrion. fol. 85. † Disertatio Epitolaris 152.
- ‡ See in the Catalogue a very minute and accurate Account of this elegant and curious Book of Indentures. The Counterpart of which Indentures, under Five Seals of the Abbot and Convent of Westminster, bound and decorated in all Respects as the Original, is preserved amongst the Records in the Chapter House at Westminster.
- § On the Top of each Leaf of this Book are Part of Three Letters of the Alphabet, the other Parts of them being in the Counterparts of the Indenture. To this Book was formerly appendant a Seal, which is now lost, but Part of the Silken String remains : Two of the Counterparts of this Indenture, bound and ornamented in the same Manner as the Original, and with a Seal to each, are still remaining ; one in the Archives of the Church of St. Peter at Westminster ; the other amongst the Public Records in the Chapter House there.

Signs Manual, Privy Seals, Charters, and sundry historical Law Tracts, and Treatises on the Antiquities, Excellence, and Usefulness of the Municipal Laws of the Kingdom.

X. HERALDICAL AND ARMORIAL BOOKS, as Forms of appointing and crowning Kings at Arms, and of the Establishment of their subordinate Officers, Grants, Alphabets, Ordinaries, and Tricks of Arms and Ensigns Armorial. Multitudes of Visitations of Kings at Arms throughout all the Counties of England, partly Originals, and partly fair Transcripts. Tracts on the Order of the Garter. Laboured and other Pedigrees of most of the Nobility and Gentry of England, in which frequently occur Notes, monumental and fenestral Inscriptions, Copies of ancient Charters, Grants, and other Deeds, illustrating their Family Histories. Heraldry, XI. REGISTER BOOKS, CHARTULARIES, and other Evidences of the Estates of our ancient Nobility ; as, the famous Liber Niger de Wigmore [1240], which contains Transcripts of almost all the Family Deeds and Evidences of Edmund Mortimer, Earl of March, temp. Rich. II. and his Ancestors. The Evidence Book of John Nevil, Lord Latimer, [4781.] The Chartulary of the Honour of Segrave [4748], and those of other great Families. Ancient Nobility.

XII. CEREMONIALS, POMPS, AND SOLEMNITIES ; as the Coronations of most of our Kings and Queens from the Time of the Anglo-Saxons, to that of King George II. Several Transcripts of the Liber Regalis, and other Books of Claims of Office to be performed by sundry Persons at those Solemnities [41, 561, 2091.] Royal and Princely Births, Christenings, and Marriages.—Public Entries, Introductions, Receptions, and Feastings of Royal and Princely Visitors, Foreign Ambassadors, &c. with the Forms of their Departures, and Accounts of the Presents made to them on those Occasions. Taxations of the Lands annexed to the See of St. Asaph, and the Judgment given in Parliament on the Claim made by John de Warren, Earl of Surry, of the Custody of that Bishoprick when vacant. State, Value and Taxations of the Bishoprick of Landaff. Episcopal and other Charters, Letters Patent, and Confirmation thereof. Conventions, Popes Bulls, and other Instruments, from the Year 1224, to the 32d Year of the Reign of K. Henry VIII. [1249.]

The Histories of Welch Heroes, by Threes, and a plentiful Supply of Pedigrees and Genealogies of Families; together with three Volumes of useful Materials, extracted by Mr. Hugh Thomas, from a Multitude of Public Records, and Private Evidences, in order to his compiling a Genealogical History of the Nobility and Gentry of Wales, and the several Families descended from them, now living in England [6870.]

Scotland.

XIV. The Materials relative to the CIVIL AND ECCLESIASTICAL HISTORY OF SCOTLAND are still more numerous and important; amongst them are:

Descriptions, Histories, Chronicles, and State of the Kingdom.

A remarkable Transcript of John Fordun's Scotochronicon, with the Alterations, Interpolations, and Continuation, made by Patrick Russel, Monk of Scone, at the Request of Sir David Stuart, of Rossith; and Bastons Verses on the Battle of Bannocks Burne, written in the Year 1484, and not in 1482, as *Dempster*¹, and from him Bishop *Nicholson*², have asserted, for the Use of William Schevez, Archbishop of St. Andrews, by his domestick Chaplain Nagnus Maculloch, a Priest of the Diocese of Ross; supposed to be either the famous Black Book of Scone, or the St. Andrews Copy, or perhaps is the Original from which both of them were taken [712.]

Another Copy of the same, but written in a Hand somewhat more modern [4764.] The Chronicle of Andrew Wyntone, in Verse. Ker's, Lindsey's, and other Chronicles.

A fine Copy of the Chronicle of Mailros.

The Life of K. David I. written by Alred, Abbot of Rievaulx [3846.]

Inventories of the Rolls or Records of Charters granted by the Scottish Kings. Extracts from the Register of the Exchequer and Acts of the Privy Council.

Authentic Copies of Treaties between the Scottish and French Kings, and Accounts of the several Privileges granted by the latter, to the Subjects of the former.

Fair Transcripts of sundry public Instruments concerning the Vassalage of Scotland and the Sovereignty of England over it, which are omitted by Mr. Rymer, in his Foedera, and have escaped the diligent Eye of John Harding [1294.]

Ancient Copies of the Regiam Majestatem; and Transcripts of Acts of Parliament and other Laws of Scotland.

Atchievements, Arms, Pedigrees, &c. of the Nobility and principal Gentry of Scotland.

The Journal of the Treaty of Union; and a vast Multitude of truly valuable and interesting Papers of State, partly Originals, and partly Transcripts.

Particularly, a Transcript of divers public Instruments concerning the Marriage of Mary Queen of Scots, to the Dauphin of *France*³ [1244.] Letters on sundry Occasions from Mary Queen of Scots, Lord Burleigh, Sir Francis Walsingham, Sir Thomas Smith, the Earl of Murray, Queen Elizabeth, &c. [260, 290, 291.] &c. And other authentic Pieces, most of them unnoticed by the Writers of those Times, but extremely useful in settling many controversial Points of the History of that unfortunate Princess, and conducive to the disclosing and clearing up the mysterious Intrigues carried on during her Troubles in France, Scotland, and England, in a better and more true Manner than hath hitherto been done either by the Oppugners of her Conduct, or by her late Advocate Mr. Goodall, or any other of her Apologists.

Historical Accounts of the State of the Church of Scotland. Exact Transcripts of the Bulls of Popes Innocent II. Alex. III. Calixtus III. and Adrian IV. enjoining the Scots Bishops to pay Obedience to the Archbishop of York as their Metropolitan; and of the Kings of Scotland's Recognitions of that Archbishop's Right¹. Rentals of all the great Benefices in Scotland; Tax Rolls of the Abbey Lands; and Copies of the ancient Book of Taxations of all the Ecclesiastical Benefices in the Kingdom called Baginot's Roll, compiled about the same Time with that Taxation which was made of the Lands of England, by K. Edward I.

XV. The Assistances that may be had from this Library for illustrating the HISTORY AND ANTIQUITIES OF IRELAND, are likewise equally valuable. As, Chorographies of the Kingdom, and Topographical Descriptions of its Provinces. Ireland.

Ancient and other Histories, Chronicles and Annals as well ecclesiastical as civil, more particularly,

A venerable Copy of the History and Prophecies of that Country, written in the 10th Century and in the Old Irish Language [5280.]

A vast Number of original Charters and Grants of Lands, given to the several Monasteries and Religious Houses in Ireland, and which F. Stafford, the Publisher of Garew's Pacata Hibernia, had taken infinite Pains in collecting*.

Many curious Pedigrees, with the Arms and Histories of the principal Nobility.

A very ancient Transcript of two remarkable Pieces of the old Municipal Laws of Ireland, with Commentaries and Glosses thereon. The Text in this Manuscript is so very ancient as to be coeval with the Times the Pieces relate to. The one being seemingly Part of the Bretanime, or Judicia Cælestia, with the Trial of Euna, Brother to Legarius, chief King of Ireland, for the Murder of Orane, Chariot-driver to St. Patrick, before Dubbthac, the Chief Filadba, or King's Bard; who, on that solemn Occasion, acted as sole Brebon, or Judge: With the Sentence passed thereon in the Year 430. The other, the great Sanction or Constitution of Nine; made in favour of Christianity in Ireland, Anno 439, by Three Kings, Three Bishops, and Three Sages [432.]

XVI. Many ancient Copies of the GREEK AND LATIN CLASSICS AND HISTORIANS. Amongst these are, Classics.

Two Copies of Terence, written in the 10th Century [2670, 2750.] Another written in the 11th Century [5443.] A Third written in the 12th Century [2656.] Another of the 13th Century [2475.]

Tully's Paradoxa Stoicorum, and his first Book De Natura Deorum, written in the 8th Century [2622.] His Orations against Catiline, written in the 9th Century [2716]; and a fine Copy of his Books De Oratore, written in the same Century [2716.] A Copy of his Books De Inventione Rhetorica, et Rhetoricorum ad Hereunium, of the 10th Century [2623.] Another of the same Books written in the 11th Century [2624.]

A Transcript of his Epistles, and of several other of his Works, written in the 10th Century [2682]; and a Copy of his Epistles, written in the 11th Century [2591.]

A Fragment of Virgil's Æneid, written in the 9th Century [2772.] His Bucolics, Georgics, and Part of the Æneid, of the 12th Century [2668.] The Bucolics and Georgics, of the 13th Century [2533]; and a Transcript of the intire Æneid, written in the 12th Century [2770.]

Two Copies of Livy, one of the 10th Century [2672]; and the other of the 13th Century [2492.]

An Exemplar of L. Florus, of the 10th Century [2620.]

Albion Oxon. Vol. I. Col. 452. and Preface to Nicholson's Irish historical Library, p. vi.

Ovidii Metamorphoseon, Libri 12. et Fastorum, Libri 6. written in the 16th Century [2737.] Epistolae of the 12th Century [2709.] Fastorum Libri of the 12th Century [2655]; and a Copy of the same Book, written in the 13th Century [2654.]

A Copy of Quintillian, of the 9th Century [2664.]

A Transcript of Lucan's Pharsalia, written in the 11th Century [2728.]

An Exemplar of all the Works of Horace, except the Odes, written in the 10th Century [2725.] A Copy written in the 12th Century [3534]: and two others, written in the 13th Century [2609, 2724.]

A Transcript of Sallust, in the 11th Century [5412]; and another of the 12th Century [2643.]

A Copy of Statius, of the 12th Century [2720]; and three others of the 13th Century [2608, 2636, 2665.]

A Copy of Macrobius, written in the 11th Century [5204]; and another of the 12th Century [2633.]

LEXICONS, &c. XVII. LEXICONS, GLOSSARIES AND DICTIONARIES of the Hebrew, Greek, Latin, Welsh, Chinese, Persic, Arabic, German, Courlandic, Saxon, English, Spanish, and Turkish Languages; particularly, a beautiful Copy of a Lexicon, Greek and Latin, and Latin and Greek; written in Capital Letters in the 7th Century [5792]; and a most grand Copy of a Greek Lexicon, written in the 14th Century [5572.] A Latin and Saxon Glossary, written in the 10th Century [3376.] The Arabic Dictionary, of Abu Nasr Ismael, filius Hemâd al Farabi, Al-Turki, with the Supplement of Sherfo'ddin Al-Hasan filius Mohammedis, surnamed Al-Sagani, written in the Beginning of the 13th Century [3446.] A Greek and a Latin Nomenclature, of the 9th Century [5642.]

XVIII. CHOROGRAPHIES, ANTIQUITIES, HISTORIES, CHRONICLES, &c. of France, and other Countries. Elaborate Genealogies of their Kings, Princes, and illustrious Houses; and a Multitude of Tracts and authentic Papers, explanatory of their Laws, Customs, Revenues, Polity, and Government. Amongst which are,

Gesta Francorum in Bello Sacro, written in the 11th Century [3904.] A Chronicle from Adam, of the 9th Century [5251.]

Liudbrandi Ticiensis Chronicon, written in the 10th Century [3713.]

As also a beautiful Transcript of the fourth and last Part of Froissart's Chronicle, in two folio Volumes, elegantly illuminated, and having the Subject of each Chapter represented in an historical Miniature Painting, highly finished, and placed at the Head thereof [4379, 4380.] The other Volumes of this curious Work are preserved in the French King's Library, and are esteemed amongst its principal Ornaments.

XIX. HISTORIES OF POPES and the Transactions of the See of Rome. Accounts of Conclaves held, and Intrigues carried on for the Elections of Popes. Papal Decretals, Bulls, Absolutions and Indulgencies. Forms, Practices, and Registers of their several Courts; as also Three remarkable Volumes [1850, 1851, 1852]; being the original Registers of the Roman Chancery, secretly brought from thence, upon the Death of Pope Innocent XII. by Mons. Aymone, who was Apostolic Prothonotary of that Court. They contain, amongst other Things, the Rules to be observed by the Clerks, and Obedientaries of the Roman Chancery, expediting Papal Bulls, Briefs, Mandates, Dispensations and Grants, in all Causes whatsoever; a List of Fines payable by Ecclesiastics to the Roman See, in all Countries under its Subjection, on their being admitted to Patriarchal, Metropolitan, Cathedral, or Conventual Churches; Fees and Fines payable to the same Chancery, for obtaining Indulgencies, Licences, and plenary Absolutions in all Cases, as well criminal as civil; and a Variety of other interesting Matters evidently demonstrating the Impositions practised in order to fill the Coffers of the Roman Pontiff¹.

XX. A great Number of POEMS, ESSAYS, DITTIES, ANCIENT BALLADS, PLAYS, and other poetical Pieces, in almost every modern Language; many of them hitherto unpublished, though truly worthy of the Press, and others extremely useful to such as shall undertake to give new and correct Editions of the Works of such Poets, particularly those of our own Country, as have been already printed. Amongst them are;

Poems, &c.

A very ancient and fair Transcript of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales [1758]; and a Copy of his History of Troilus and Cressida, the Knight's Tale, the Man of Law's Prologue and Tale, the Wife of Bath's Tale, and the Clerk of Oxenforde's Tale, neither of which MSS. seem to have been used by the Editors of Chaucer; the Text in both differing in many Places from all other MSS. of that Author, as well as from the printed Copies of his Poems.

A large Volume, being a Collection of ancient and valuable Poems on curious Subjects, by Chaucer, Lydgate, and other English Poets [2251]; amongst these is a Poem of Chaucer's addressed to his empty Purse, and consisting of Twenty Stanzas, though no more than the three first have been published; probably for want of the Editors of that Author's Works knowing of this Manuscript. This Poem is still the more curious, as it informs us of some Circumstances of Chaucer's Life little known; particularly in those Lines which contain an Account of his Imprisonment upon false Accusations, and of great Part of his other personal Sufferings.

A fair Transcript or Translation of Lydgate's Paraphrase, into English Verse, of Boccace's Treatise De Occasu Principum, illuminated and embellished with Historical Miniature Paintings; being the Author's Present-Book to Humphrey Duke of Gloucester, by whose Command he undertook the Work [1766.]

Lydgate's Lives of St. Edmund and St. Fræmund, together with divers of his other Poems, illustrated with 120 very elegant historical Pictures of different Sizes; besides other Embellishments of illuminated Letters, &c. so as to render it the finest Manuscript of the English Language, written in the Time of King Henry VI. whose Book this was, being presented to him by its Author [2278.]

A large and beautifully illuminated Copy of the Confessio Amantis of John Gower [7184.] A very pompous Volume, containing a Collection of the principal Pieces of Chaucer and Gower, finely written and ornamented [7333.]

An Historical, Political, and Moral Poem, consisting of 320 Stanzas; the Subject whereof is the unfortunate Reign of King Edward II. whose Ghost is introduced as relating his Transactions and Disasters. The Author, who is supposed to be Mr. Edmund Spenser [2395], addresses this Poem to Queen Elizabeth. Also the same Poem revised and corrected by many Alterations, and fitted up for the Perusal of King James I. [2393, and 588.]

A very fair and beautiful Transcript of the celebrated Poem, intituled, Le Roman de la Rose [4425], began in French Verse by William de Lorris, continued and finished by John Clapinel, alias John Moone, or de Meun, of Meun, upon the River *Loire*². This Manuscript is so richly ornamented with a Multitude of Miniature Paintings, executed in the most masterly Manner, (each Chapter of the Book having prefixed to it a Picture explanatory of the Subject) that it is not to be exceeded by any known Manuscript in this or any other Library, and is probably the Copy which was presented to King Henry IV. the

Many Original Poems by John Lydgate, Gower, Trevisa, &c.

Music.

XXI. A very large Collection both of ancient and modern MUSICAL COMPOSITIONS, with curious Anecdotes relating to their Authors; written for the most Part by Mr. Wanley, by whom they were amassed, he being not only a great Judge of Music, but a very able Composer.

Architecture,

XXII. Books of ARCHITECTURE, GEOMETRY, GUNNERY, FORTIFICATION, SHIP-BUILDING, AND MILITARY AFFAIRS. Amongst these are, a fine Transcript of Vitruvius, de Architectura; written in the 9th Century [2767.] A Copy of Vegetius, de re Militari; written at Paris, by Peter de Pass, in the Year 1297—[2475.]

As also a large Volume, written in High Dutch, soon after the Invention of Fire-Arms; being a Treatise on Military Affairs, illustrated with a great Number of fine Drawings, in Water Colours, representing the proper Forms of Marches, Encampments, and Dispositions of Armies; Orders of Battle, Attacks, Sieges, and Storms of Forts, Towns, Castles, Draughts of Ships of War, Fire-Ships, and Fleets, Bridges of Timber and Stone, Hydraulic Engines, Tools, Instruments, and warlike Machines of every Kind; the Form of the ancient British Chariot, &c. [1413.]

Natural History,
&c.

XXIII. NATURAL HISTORY, AGRICULTURE, VOYAGES, TRAVELS, &c. particularly,

An Herbarium, written in Saxon, and in the 10th Century [5066]; And,

A very valuable Volume of Geoponics in Greek, with Scholia, not hitherto published; written upon Silken Leaves, and near 500 Years old [1868].

Astronomy,
&c.

XXIV. Many rare MSS. in ASTRONOMY, COSMOGRAPHY, and GEOGRAPHY; more especially,

A Copy of HYGINUS's Astronomy, written in the 10th Century [2506.]

Two very large and beautiful Copies of Ptolemy's Cosmographia, [7182, 7195]; with the Maps accurately laid down and coloured. The initial Letter of Jacobus Angulo's Dedication of the Work to Pope Alexander V. (in one of these Copies) contains a fine Miniature Painting, representing Angelo on his Knees, presenting his Book to that Pontiff; and in the initial Letter of the Book itself, is the Portrait of Ptolemy in a graceful Attitude, surveying the Heavens.

Alchemy, Chymistry,
&c.

XXV. A vast Variety of ALCHYMICAL, CHYMICAL, CHIRURGICAL, PHARMACEUTICAL, and MEDICAL Tracts; one whereof [2469] being a Treatise in High Dutch, on the Process for finding the Philosopher's Stone, formerly belonged to the famous Mr. Cyprianus, from whose Niece, Mrs. Priemer, it was purchased, and presented to *Edward Earl of Oxford*². This Book is divided into a great Number of Chapters; on the back of the last Leaf of each Chapter, the Subject thereof is represented in an emblematical Picture, in which the Beauty of its Colouring, the Disposition of the Figures, the Elegancy of their Attitudes, and the Propriety of Composition, is scarcely to be equalled.

¹ A Part only of this Poem is translated into English Metre by Chaucer. The Author exposes and inveighs so bitterly against the then reigning Hypocrisy of the Clergy, that he became odious to that Body, insomuch that Gerson, Chancellor of Paris, says, that if there was no more than One Copy of the Roman of the Rose in the World, and he was possessed of it, in Case he might have Five Hundred Pounds for it, he would rather burn it, than take the Money. And that he thought, that if the Author did not repent him of the Book before he died, he would vouchsafe to pray for him no more than he would for Judas Iscariot.
Ury's Chaucer.

XXVI. A great Number of Volumes of original Letters, and authentic Transcripts of others, written as well by sundry Persons which have been eminent for their high Stations in the State, as by those who were remarkable for their literary Accomplishments. Of these, the following may be deemed invaluable,

The Letters of Foreign Kings and Princes [1716.]

The 18 Volumes of original Letters, from considerable Persons [6989, to 7006.]

The Collection of Letters to and from Archbishop Sandcroft, in Three Volumes [3783, 3784, and 3785.]

The Collection of Letters, written from learned Men to Mr. Humphrey Wanley, from the Year 1692, to the Year 1725 [3777.]

The two Volumes of Letters from the most learned Men of the Age, to I. G. Vossius, many of them being in the modern Greek, Armenian, and Dutch Tongues [7012, 7013.]

The Letters which passed between learned Men towards the End of the 16th and the Beginning of the 17th Centuries [7011.]

Three Volumes of original Letters from the Royal Family of England [6986, 6987, 6988.]

Four Volumes of original Letters, chiefly upon literary Subjects, to Robert and Edward, Earls of Oxford [7523 to 7526.]

LASTLY, a prodigious Variety of MSS. which, exclusive of their Importance in other Respects, are highly valuable on Account of the many beautiful Illuminations, and excellent Paintings wherewith they are embellished; those Pictures being not only useful for illustrating the Subject-matter of the Books in which they are respectively placed, but furnishing excellent Lessons and useful Hints to Painters, perpetuating the Representations of the principal Personages, Buildings, Utensils, Habits, Armour, and Manners of the Age in which they were painted; and very probably preserving some Pieces of eminent Painters, of whose Works no other Remains are extant. Some of these MSS. have already been occasionally mentioned, and to them must be added;

Paintings and Illuminations.

A most noble Copy of Bishop Grossthead's Speculum Humanæ Salvationis, every Page whereof is decorated with admirable Pictures explanatory of its Contents [2838.]

A Translation of Valerius Maximus into French, by Simon de Hesdin, and Nicolas de Gonesse, comprised in Two large Volumes, with fine historical Paintings placed at the Head of each Book, representing the principal Subjects treated of therein [4372, 3.] [A more modern Copy of the same Work, no less beautifully painted, but in a different Style, 4374 & 5.*] Together with another Copy of the Four last Books of the same Work, embellished with Paintings in the like Manner, and by the same Hand as the former [4430.]

A most noble Volume, consisting of the Antiquities of the Greeks and Romans, represented in Paintings [4376.]

A Volume, intitled, Le Tresor de Maistre Jehan de Meun, with Paintings [3999.]

The Four Elements and Four Seasons, painted by J. Bailly, and intended as Patterns of Tapestry for the French King [4377.]

The great and constant Accession of rare Manuscripts to the HARLEIAN LIBRARY, soon pointed out to its noble Possessor the Necessity of having a Catalogue of them drawn up; but the finding a Person properly qualified for such an Undertaking, was, as well as the Task itself, extremely difficult. Lord Oxford, however, proved happy in his Choice; the Person he pitched upon for that Employment, being Mr. Humphrey Wanley, whose extraordinary Genius first shewed itself when he was scarce

* These four Numbers were erroneously mentioned before as one Copy of the Work.

Twenty-three Years of Age¹, in his compiling the *Coventry and Warwick Catalogue*², and occasioned him to be recommended to Archbishop Tenison, by Dr. Charlet, then Master of *University College in Oxford*³. Mr. Wanley's Learning and Abilities were afterwards further made known to the World, by his incomparable Catalogue of the Saxon, Anglo-Danish, and Norman Manuscripts, preserved in all the public and private Libraries of England, and which accompanied Dr. Hick's famous Thesaurus, under the suitable Title of *Antiquæ Literaturæ Septentrionalis Liber alter*⁴.

As the Collection was in the Year 1708 (the Time when Mr. Wanley first entered upon his compiling the Catalogue) grown very numerous, it may have been expected that his primary Care would have been that of arranging the Manuscripts under proper Classes, according to the particular Species of Literature to which each is more immediately related; but the Pursuit of such a Method would have been attended with Inconveniences, and amongst others, have laid him under the disagreeable Necessity of unbinding many of the Volumes, which contain a Variety of Articles. For, though most of those Volumes are composed of Tracts on One and the same Subject, yet there are others, and those not a few, which consist of miscellaneous Pieces, entirely foreign to each other. The Method, therefore, which he seems to have followed in the first Instance, was that of entering the Books into his Catalogue in the same Order as he found them placed in the Library. However, it is highly probable that he would have been more methodical, as he is more copious, in his intended *greater Catalogue*⁵ [which he began, and takes frequent Occasion to mention] had he lived to complete that and the present, called by him his smaller Catalogue. But Death deprived us of him on the 6th Day of July 1726, when he had proceeded no further than Number 2407 of the present printed Catalogue.

Although Mr. Wanley has, in his Part of the present printed Catalogue, made every Volume a separate Number, yet he has subdivided each into different Articles, according to the Number and Variety of Treatises contained therein. So that there is scarcely a Tract, however minute, comprised in any One Volume, which underwent his Inspection, that is not taken Notice of. In his Entry of some Articles, he contents himself with inserting the bare Title; in others, he mentions the Purport of the Piece. Of some again (particularly original Letters, and State Papers, of the greater Importance) he gives an abstract; and when any Book of extraordinary Value or Curiosity presents itself, he gives the Reader a full and critical Account of its Contents, endeavours to ascertain its Author, and sometimes extracts its most remarkable Passages. Throughout the whole of his Observations, he shews his extensive Learning, and the Solidity of his Judgment. His Strictures are so just, that we have great Reason to lament his not having lived to put the finishing Hand to a Work, for which he was in every respect so well qualified.

Some Time after the Death of Mr. Wanley, the Catalogue was resumed and continued from Number 2480, to Number 5797, inclusive, by Mr. David Casley, Keeper of the Cottonian Library, and well known to the learned World, by his Catalogue of the Manuscripts in the Royal Library, which he published in the Year 1734. Unfortunately Mr. Casley's other Engagements did not allow him sufficient Leisure to consider the MSS. so fully as his Predecessor had done; so that the Entries of such Volumes as fell under his Examination are extremely concise. But he hath made some Amends by assigning the Age of every Manuscript, adding in Capital Numbers at the End of the first Line of the Title of each Book, the Century after Christ's Nativity, in which he supposes such Book to have been written, in the same Manner as he has done in his Catalogue of the King's Manuscripts. An Omission in Mr. Wanley's Part of this Catalogue, which is the more to be lamented, as from his having been many Years conversant with ancient Manuscripts, he was perfectly able to distinguish and ascertain the Age of every Amanuensis ¹.

In the Year 1741, the Trustees of Edward Earl of Oxford engaged Mr. Hocker, who was afterwards Deputy Keeper of the Records in the Tower, to complete the Catalogue; but his Leisure did not permit him to carry it on further than Number 7355.

After the Collection was brought to the British Museum, the Rev. Doctor Brown, Professor of Arabic at Oxford, and Doctor Kennicott, Fellow of Exeter College in that University, kindly assisted in drawing up Titles to such of the Arabic and Hebrew Manuscripts as wanted them; and Mr. Gomez, a professed Jew, was employed to give Titles to such as are Rabbinical; the Remainder was added by the Under Librarian of the British Museum, to whose Care the Department of Manuscripts is committed,

Mr. Hocker, in his Part of the Catalogue, differs both from Mr. Wanley and Mr. Casley. In his Entries of Articles, he follows Mr. Wanley's Method, by giving a full and explanatory Title to every separate Tract contained in each Volume; but he avoids all Criticism and Dissertation, and likewise never attempts to ascertain the Century in which any of the Manuscripts were written.

¹ Of this we are likewise assured by Mr. E. Llwyd, an excellent Judge in these Matters, in whose Letter to Mr. Wanley, dated 6th January 1702-3, is the following Passage:

"I find by your Censure of Kolam Kil's Gospel, that you have acquir'd a more critical Skill in distinguishing the Date of our oldest MSS. than I thought attainable." See Numb. 3777, in the Harlian Library.

SECOND PREFACE.

THIS Catalogue was begun, in the Year 1708, by the learned Mr. Wanley, who was Librarian to Robert and Edward successively Earls of Oxford; and he appears, from several Entries in various Parts of his Manuscript Work, to have been employed herein till his Death, July 6th, 1726. From that Time the Work seems to have been laid aside, till about the Year 1733; when it was resumed, where Mr. Wanley had left off, at Number 2408, by the late Mr. Casley, Keeper of the Cottonian Library, and well known to the learned World by his Catalogue of the Royal Manuscripts. In about the Space of three Years Mr. Casley continued the Catalogue to Number 5709.

In June 1741, died Edward Earl of Oxford, the great Enlarger of this Collection of Manuscripts, and soon after his Lordship's Trustees ordered the Catalogue thereof to be taken up a third Time by Mr. Hocker, the Deputy Keeper of the Records in the Tower, who in less than two Years completed it as far as Number 7355; and what remained has been lately added by the Librarians belonging to this particular Department of the British Museum.

It is proper to observe, in Justice to Mr. Casley and Mr. Hocker, that the Circumstances under which they drew up their respective Parts did not allow them the Time necessary to complete the Catalogue upon so extensive a Plan as that of Mr. Wanley; whose Part of the Work contains an Abstract of most of the historical Manuscripts, and a critical Account of many of the rest.

In this State the Catalogue remained till the Year 1800, when, at the Suggestion of HIS MAJESTY'S COMMISSIONERS FOR THE ARRANGEMENT AND PRESERVATION OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS OF THE KINGDOM,* the Trustees of the British Museum engaged the Under Librarian of the Manuscript Department to revise and correct the latter Part of the Catalogue, beginning from Number 3100. It was not at first supposed that any great Length of Time would be required for the Purpose of Revision; but, as the Work proceeded, it soon became manifest that, to obtain the necessary Degree of Correctness, and to make that latter Part of the Catalogue bear any Kind of Proportion to the former, would be a Matter of much Labour, and must occupy more Time than could be easily defined by Anticipation. It might indeed have been calculated, that, as Mr. Wanley, by the above Account, had employed eighteen Years in describing 2408 Numbers; Mr. Casley and Mr. Hocker, three and two Years respectively, in making their Additions, in the very brief and inadequate Way in which they were executed; the complete Revision, and considerable Augmentation of near 5000 Numbers could not be performed in a very short Space. It employed, in Fact, all the Time and Diligence that could be given to it by the Librarian, till May 1806, when the Beginning of Volume the Third was sent to Press.

Nor could even this Progress have been made without the following Assistance. In the Beginning of 1801, the Rev. Stebbing Shaw, then engaged in writing the History of Staffordshire, offered his Services in examining the Topographical, Genealogical, and

* As appears by their Report, page 8.

Heraldical Manuscripts, and the Librarian, by Permission of the Trustees, engaged him, at his own Expence, for that Purpose. This Aid, however, was not of long Duration, on account of the Illness of Mr. Shaw in the Summer of 1802, and his lamented Death, on the 28th of October, that same Year; but his Diligence had performed as much as could be expected while he was employed. Mr. Shaw was fond of the Part for which he engaged, it was coincident with his other Pursuits, and auxiliary to them; and if there was a Fault in what he did, it was on the side of Redundance rather than Deficiency.

After the Printing of the Third Volume was begun, it was discovered by the Librarian that the Numbers from 2408 to 3100 also wanted Revision, and required many Additions, to make them at all Uniform with either the first or the last Part of the Work. This Task was therefore voluntarily taken up, and continued till the Summer of 1807, when other Views induced him to resign the Office of Librarian, and retire to a Country Residence. At this Period he had not advanced beyond 2700, having been much impeded by Attention to the Part which was then printing.

The chief Part of what remained was afterwards taken in hand and revised by Mr. Douce, the Successor to the former Librarian; whose Skill in executing the small Part which he undertook will probably occasion a just Regret that he had not had a larger Share in the Work. It should not, however, be omitted, that some Additions to this Part, which now forms the latter End of the Second Volume, had been made by Mr. Planta, while he was the Librarian of that Department.

The very extensive Additions which it was found necessary to make, without at all approaching to the Degree of Minuteness observed by Mr. Wanley, will be estimated at once, by comparing the Bulk of the present Third Volume with that Part of the original Second Volume, which was occupied by the Description of the same Numbers. But it will be more important to point out, following the Divisions of the former Preface, some valuable MSS. which have been brought into Notice by this Second Research.

I. BIBLES, and BIBLICAL BOOKS. Also, VI. EVANGELISTARIA, &c. Under these Heads, no notice was taken in the former Preface, nor any sufficient Description given in the Catalogue, of the Five Codices called by Dr. Mill Covelliani, being then in the Possession of Dr. Covell, Master of Christ's College Cambridge, from whom they were purchased by the Earl of Oxford. 1. Codex Covellianus primus [5776.] This valuable Copy of the Four Gospels in Greek was not known to Griesbach, who has described most of the rest, probably from its not being properly noticed in the Catalogue. It appears not to be less ancient than the Thirteenth Century, and was given to Dr. Covell, when Chaplain to the Embassy at Constantinople in 1764, by Daniel, Archbishop of Proconnesus, as is inscribed in the Book itself. It is described at § 1481, in Dr. Mill's Prolegomena. 2. Codex Covellianus secundus [5537.] This Volume, which was written in the Eleventh Century, contains the Acts of the Apostles, the Epistles, and the Apocalypse. Dr. Covell purchased it at Constantinople in 1679. It has been described by Mill in his Prolegomena, § 1482; and by Griesbach, in his Symbolæ Criticæ, vol. 2. p. 148 and 184. He has also collated it. 3. Codex Covellianus tertius [5557.] This also contains the Acts and Epistles, but has not the Apocalypse. Dr. Mill describes it in § 1485. Griesbach does not seem to have known it. By some unaccountable Mistake, this Book appears to be mentioned in the former Preface as a Transcript of 2829, which is in Latin*. An ancient Menology, prefixed to it, is properly introduced in § VII.† The Manuscript in general seems to be of the Eleventh Century; the Menology, probably, a little later. 4. Codex Covellianus quartus [5620.] Its Age is uncertain; a Greek has inserted a Note as if he wrote it in 1663, but the Hand is very different, and it is possibly somewhat older. Mill and Wetstein have supposed it a Transcript of Wetstein's 35. It is described by Mill. Proleg. 1487; and by Griesbach, Symb. Crit.

tóm. 2. p. 151. It contains the Acts of the Apostles, and all the Epistles. 5. Codex Covellianus quintus [5778.] vel Sinaiticus. This MS. originally contained the Acts of the Apostles, all the Epistles, and the Apocalypse, but has been much injured by damp, and much of it lost. Mill has described it in § 1488. Griesbach does not seem to have known it. But the Parts that remain are valuable, being probably of the 12th Century. An ancient Volume containing the Four Gospels and a Menology [5777] was considered by Dr. Covell as a Transcript of his Codex 1. [5776.] A few other Manuscripts belonging to this Class deserve further Notice. Among these is a more modern Hebrew Roll, similar to 5619, but very finely written. A Manuscript containing the Acts and Epistles in Greek, written on Silk Paper, probably in the 13th Century. It has been collated and described by Griesbach [5588.] A Copy of the Four Gospels, probably as old as the Eleventh Century, written in Greek, on Vellum, with Scholia somewhat more modern than the Text, but still ancient [5540.] A Paper Manuscript of the Acts and Epistles in Greek, but containing Four Vellum Leaves as old as the 10th or 11th Century, which, as well as the Volume itself, have been carefully described by Griesbach. That Critic considers the Four ancient Leaves as having belonged to a MS. of particular Excellence [5613.] A memorable Copy of the Four Gospels in Greek, a large Quarto written in Uncial or Capital Letters, probably as old, at least, as the Middle of the Tenth Century, and highly esteemed both by Woide and Griesbach [5684.]

As it appeared desirable to mention the principal Codices Covelliani together, the first and Sixth Classes of the former Preface have here been united. It may properly be mentioned that an engraved Specimen of the valuable Evangelistarium, 5598, will now be found in the Plate prefixed to Woide's Edition of the Alexandrine MS. of the New Testament.

IV. LITURGIES, and LITURGICAL BOOKS. Among these may be mentioned a curious Psalter, with Grotesque or Arabesque Illuminations. The Book contains also some Offices and Prayers [5764.] A Psalter in Greek, Latin, and Arabic, disposed in parallel Columns, and dated in the Middle of the 12th Century [5786.]

VII. MARTYROLOGIES, &c. A magnificent Copy of the Golden Legend in English, belongs properly to this Head. It is written on 264 Leaves of Vellum, of the largest Size, and is of the 15th Century [4775.] Extraneous to the Book and its Contents, is inserted a modern Print of the Fair on the Thames in 1716. The Gesta Romanorum, being undoubtedly composed with religious Views, may also be here introduced, and of this there is a fine Copy on Vellum [5259.] Seventy Stories of an English Imitation of this Work appear in another MS. with various other Matter [7333.] On these Works and MSS. several valuable Remarks appear in Mr. Douce's Illustrations of Shakespeare, vol. 2. p. 363, &c.

IX. ENGLISH TOPOGRAPHY, ANTIQUITIES, and HISTORY, &c. Six curious Volumes, containing very copious historical Collections, from the Year 1662 to 1672, had by some means been separated and overlooked in this Library. They will now be found at Numbers 4060, 4061, 4062, 4728, 4729, 4730. An imperfect, yet remarkable Copy of Bishop Burnett's History of his own Times, differing in many Respects from the printed Editions; and occasionally well illustrated by the Remarks of Dr. Gifford [6584.] A Description of England, written by Mich. Suriano, an Italian, probably a Venetian, in 1556. [3473.3.] Some historical Notes written in an interleaved Ephemeris, chiefly remarkable for being the private Observations of a Man so much the Object of Notice as Partridge the Almanac-maker [6200.] On the Subject of English Law, under this Head, very large Additions might be made, and particularly under the Title of Readings on the several Statutes, a very considerable Class might be formed. It shall suffice, however, to mention the single Manuscript of Lord Coke, containing his original

SECOND PREFACE.

Notes on Littleton's Tenures, formerly one very large Volume, but now, for the sake of Preservation, bound in four. It contains, besides the legal Notes, many private Memorandums concerning the Author, his various Promotions, and his Family [6687.]

X. HERALDICAL, &c. The most remarkable Genealogies of the Shirley Family, written in Latin and English by Thomas Shirley, who translates his own Names whimsically into Greek, *Thomasas Caloleitmon [4023, 4028, 4928.] Also a splendid Book of the Arms of Knights of the Garter, from the Foundation of the Order, blazoned in Colours, but not continued so far as intended [5831.]

XIV. HISTORY OF SCOTLAND. The Continuation of Hector Boethius's History, from 1437 to 1586, written by Robert Lindsay, of Pitscotties; assisted by other respectable Men of his own Country [4687.]

XVI. GREEK AND LATIN CLASSICS. Under this Head much remains to be remarked, in Addition to the former Notices. Among these the first that deserves Notice is the valuable Copy of Homer's Odyssey, collated by the late Professor Porson, with great Diligence, for the Grenville Edition [5674.] Several other Copies of Homer might be mentioned, but this is the most important; they will be found distinctly described in the Catalogue. Another most remarkable Volume is the Lucian, a beautiful Manuscript of the tenth Century, which, as well as the preceding, once formed a Part of the Library of Cardinal Antonio Seripandi, a celebrated Collector of classical Manuscripts. It is the very Volume which was presented by the famous John de Witt, to Jensius; whose Collation of its Readings may be found in the Edition of Hemsterhusius. Though it is imperfect, and contains only a Part of the Works of the Author, it is, from its Age and Beauty, of the highest Value [5694.] A Volume containing a Part of the Morals, or smaller Works of Plutarch, remarkable for containing two Tracts, numbered 17 and 18 in the Book, which had never been printed, till they were copied for that Purpose by Mr. Tyrwhitt [5612.] Several Copies, more or less perfect, of the Orations of Demosthenes, some known to Dr. Taylor, and some not. [5670, 5724, &c.] The Organon, or logical Works of Aristotle, fairly written on Paper, with the Isagoge of Porphyry [5599.] A noble Copy of the Bibliotheca of Photius, which was formerly the Property of Henry Stephens, and contains many Annotations by him. It is now bound in two Volumes [5591—3.]

Besides these, are many Copies of various Parts of the Works of Cicero, Virgil, Horace, Ovid, and all the Latin Classics. There are also many important Volumes of modern Critics, illustrative of the Classics; particularly two, which appear to have been the Collections of Joh. Michael Dilherr [3521 and 3837.] Lectures, or dictata on Petronius Arbitr, by J. F. Gronovius [5739.]; Lectures of John Meursius on the Works of Theophrastus, whether lost or extant [5384.] Notes on Cicero's Epistles, on Petronius, Tacitus, &c. [5379, 5385.] A complete and very laborious Commentary on the Alexandra of Lycophron, by Ambrose Fisher, [4067.] and, by an anonymous Writer, most laborious and extensive Collections, to illustrate the History of Dion Cassius [6351.]

To these we may add some early Translations of the Greek Classics, written in the most splendid and beautiful Manner: such as a large Part of Plato's Works by Ficinus, [3481.] followed by a Digest of the Platonic Theology, as understood by that Commentator, in eighteen Books [3482.] Few Manuscripts are more splendid than the two here mentioned. They are rivalled, however, if not surpassed, by a Collection of 26 Lives from Plutarch, translated into Latin by L. Aretino, Guarini, Francis Philadelphus, and other Literati of that Period [3485.] Of equal if not superior Splendor are the four Volumes containing a Translation of the Works of Josephus [4960, 61, 62, & 63.]

* Printed by mistake Caloleitmon, at No. 4023.

Several early French Translations of Classics also appear, in the most magnificent Form, in this Collection. Of these the most remarkable, the two Copies of Valerius Maximus, [4372—4375.] have been mentioned in the former Preface; on account of their Illuminations, which are, in their respective Styles, as beautiful as any that can be named: But it was not observed that each contains the complete Version of Simon de Hesdin and Nicolas de Gonesse, with Notes and supplemental Histories by those Translators. In these there may be also Variations. The Translation of Boethius de Consolatione, by John de Meun, the Continuer of the Roman de la Rose, in five elegant Volumes, with Illuminations, must not be omitted [4335, 6, 7, 8, & 9.] There is also a Spanish Translation of some Works of Cicero, very elegantly written [4796.]

Not to extend this Article too far, there shall only be noticed, in addition, the laborious Index Latinitatis, or Index Verborum, to Pliny's Natural History, by A. de Grau, which amounts to 1501 Pages of Writing [4837.] The same laborious Person also compiled Indexes to Seneca and Rutilius [4823.]

XVII. LEXICONS, VOCABULARIES, &c. Among these the most remarkable is a Greek Lexicon, mentioned indeed in the former Preface; but it may be useful to add, that it seems exactly to agree with one in the French Royal Library; and contains the initial Inscription, more correctly written [5572.] It is of the thirteenth Century. A very ancient Greek and Latin Vocabulary, conjectured by Dr. Morton to be as old as the seventh Century, but certainly of venerable antiquity [5792.] An Etymologicon Linguae Latinae, compiled from the Notes of Donatus on Terence [4738.] An Abridgment of Somner's Saxon Dictionary, which appears to have been the Work of Mr. Humphrey Wanley [3317.]

XVIII. FRENCH HISTORY AND ANTIQUITIES. The great Stores of this Kind which the Harleian Collection comprises have been hitherto overlooked, but they are very extensive. They consist of many Volumes, containing a vast Number of Papers, collected by the Chanceller Seguier, which extend from Number 4435 to 4472; in Quarto and Folio; and again commence in 4489, and many subsequent Numbers, as far as 4530. These are followed by the Collection of the Count de Brienne, who appears also to have possessed the former. It extends to 4551, and appears again in subsequent Parts of the Catalogue. These Collections which consist of State Papers, and Letters from Persons in the highest Situations, cannot fail to contain very important Materials towards the History of the Times to which they belong. In addition to these, Mention should be made of the splendid Volume on the Ordinances and the Knights of the Golden Fleece [6199.]

XX. POEMS, &c. Of Poetical Works in various Languages, a great Number will now be found to be described, which were either not ascertained before, or noticed in a very slight Manner. Among these, some of the most remarkable are the following. The Life of the Virgin Mary, by John Lydgate, of which there are Two Copies [3862, 3952.] Some fine and ornamented Copies of the Poetical Works of Petrarch, either entire or in Parts [3410, 3411.] Also a Volume of his Works, professedly transcribed from a very ancient Copy [3264.] Of ancient Poems in the French Language, not to mention the transcendent Copy of the Roman de la Rose, with its beautiful Illuminations [4425] as it was noticed in the former Preface, the most remarkable is the large and splendid Volume of the Works of Christine de Pisan; containing, in some of the Illuminations, the Portrait of the Author [4431.] This magnificent and curious Volume was only marked before, as "Une Volume des Balades, Virelaiz, &c." A beautiful Copy of a Prose Tract by the same Author appears at No. 4605; also her Corps de Policie, No. 4410. Some of the Poems of Mary, the Norman Poetess, which have been the Subject of Dissertations in the Archæologia, are preserved in this Collection; particularly her Translation of the the Fables of Æsop [4333.] The Verses of Sançon de Nanteuil, are also curious [4388.] Likewise several other French Poems or Romances [4390, 4399, 4401, 4404.]

XXI. MUSIC. The most remarkable treasure of this Kind is contained in six folio Volumes [7337—7342.] It is a Collection of Anthems, Services, &c. used in the Church of England, from the Reformation to the Year 1720. Dr. Tudway, Organist and Composer to Queen Anne, collected these Productions, with great Care, for the Earl of Oxford; and appears to have transcribed them himself into the Books. The Work was gradually continued for several Years, and contains Introductory Dissertations, in the Form of Dedications to the several Volumes, by the Collector.

XXII. ARCHITECTURE, &c. Under this Head may be noticed a singularly curious Tract, of a Mechanical Nature, in which the first Discovery of the Principles and Practice of the STEAM ENGINE seems to be fully announced, by Sir Samuel Morland, who styles himself Master in Mechanics to his Majesty the King of Great Britain, Charles II. The Book contains not only the Plan and the Diagrams, but the Calculations for the Work, and was presented to the French King; possibly because it did not meet with sufficient attention at Home [5771.]

XXIII. NATURAL PHILOSOPHY. Here we should not pass over an unpublished Tract on OPTICS by Hobbes, fairly written, as for the Press [3360.]

XXVI. LETTERS, &c. Too distinct a notice cannot be taken of Four inestimable Volumes of original Letters, which passed between the most celebrated Scholars and Critics of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries. They are not Transcripts but the very Letters, in the Hand-writing of their respective Authors, whose Names will at once explain their Value. Among the Writers are these. I. Fred. Gronovius, N. Heinsius, J. I. Chiffletius, Js. Vossius, I. Geo. Grævius, Hadr. Valesius, M. Meibomius, Petrus Victorius, Joach. Camerarius, Obertus Gifanius, Justus Lipsius, Cl. Salmasius, Elias Putschius, Erasmus, Js. Casaubon, Jan. Gruterus, and very many more; insomuch that hardly any celebrated Man of that Class can be named, whose autograph is not in those Four Volumes [4993, 4, 5, 6.]

It is evident that an Enumeration of this Kind might be carried to a much larger Extent. But it shall now be closed, with the Hope that the Public may derive, from this fresh Examination of so large a Part of the Harleian Collection of Manuscripts, all the Advantage which the Care and Labour bestowed upon it were intended to secure. That many Things are still imperfectly described is certain, and that they must have been so, unless twice or three Times the Length of Examination had been bestowed upon them. Some Errors also will doubtless appear; in a Work of such Extent and Variety; but it is hoped that, with the Aid of the ample Indexes of Persons, Places, and Matters, now subjoined to this Catalogue, such a Key to this inestimable Repository will at length be put into the Hands of the Learned, that nothing of great Value or Importance can long escape the Researches of the diligent Enquirer.

A Book in 12mo containing divers Tracts, as well printed as MSS. to which Sir Simonds D'Ewes prefixed the following Title, BAELEGAMVS, or Roial Marriages discussed, approved, improved: betwene Queene Mary & King Philip, finished A°. D°. 1554.

Queene Elizabeth & Monsieur frustrated, A°. D°. 1555.

i. e.

1. A Supplicacyon to the Quenes Majestie. (written to Queene MARIE, A. D. 1555, shewing the miseries brought to Religion & the Realme by Her Mariage with King Philip. Imprinted at London by John Cawoode Prynter to the Quenes Mayestie, with here most gracijs Lycence.

N. B. Cawoode's Name seems to be wrongfully putt to this Libell; which was rather printed beyond the Seas with other Books of the Protestants, about the same time, and with the same Letter.

2. The Discoverie of a Gaping Gulf, whereinto England is like to be swallowed by another French Mariage, if the Lord forbid not the Banes, by letting her Majestie see the Sin & Punishment thereof (written against Monsieur's desiring Q. Elizabeth in Marriage, by John Stubbs) Printed—Mense Augusti, Anno 1579.

If I remember rightly, the said Stubbs lost his hand for writing the Libell.

3. The Lord Henry Howard, after Earle of Northampton, his Defence of the French Monsieur's desiring Q. Elizabeth in Marriage, written in A°. 22° Eliz. A. D. 1580, in Answer to Mr. Stubbs Treatise foregoing.

D. 1627, with the English singing Psalms at the latter End. At the beginning Sr. Simonds D'Ewes has written most Part of the Morning & Evening Service, from the Common Prayer book, as it seems, for his own use in the Church.

A small Book, before which Sr. Simonds D'Ewes wrote this Title,
An Annale of Queene Marie her Raigne; or a great part of it, ab Anonymo.

This Book formerly belonged to Mr. John Stow, who took from thence many Passages which may be found in his Annals, at the Reign of Queen Mary; and more yet remain by him untouched. It is also cited by Sr. Simonds D'Ewes, in his Tract entituled Primitive Practise for preserving truth, printed at London, A. D. 1645. at pag. 13.

 Sir William Cecil Her Majesties Principal Secretarye; touching the Lord Buckhurst's coming over into France to congratulate the Kings Marriage. Dated from Paris,
 1 Febr. 1571. 1.
 2. The Copie of Secretarye Pynartes Letter to Mr.
 Walsingham, mentioned in the former. 2. b.
 3. Sir William Cecil to the Right Honble Sir Henry Norrice & Mr. Francis Walsingham Ambassadors for the Queenes Majestie in France, touching certain violences committed by the French in Ireland. Dated from Westminster, 29 January, A. D. 1570. 3.
 4. Mr. Walsingham to Sr. Will. Cecil, owning the Receipt of the last Letter, and that he will know of the French King whether the said Disorders committed in Ireland, were done with his Consent. Dat. from Paris,
 3 Febr. 1570. 4.
 5. . . . Robert Cecil to Mr. Walsingham, thanking him for his Letters written at Bulloigne, and hinting at Overtures to be made from France, for a Match with the Queen. Dat. 27 January, 1570. 5.
 6. Mr. Walsingham to the Right Honorable, his verye good Lord, the Earle of Leicester; concerning the same Affair. Dated from Paris, 5 Febr. 1570. 6.
 7. Mr. Walsingham to Sir William Cecil, giving an account of his Audience had of the King of France, & of the Queen-Mother, upon the subject of the late Outrages committed in Ireland; as also that he was informed that the Guises & the Pope were concerned therein; as perhaps the King of Spain, & the Scotts. Dated from Paris, 8 Febr. 1570. 6. b.
 8. Mr. Walsingham's private Letter to Sir William Cecil, acquainting him with the private Talk he (as a private Person) had with the Queen-Mother; for a stricter League to be had between France & England; and with the Reasons which induced him thereunto.
 Dated from Paris, 8 Febr. 1570. 10.
 9. Mr. Walsingham to the Earle of Leicester, upon the same Subject, as in n°. 6. above. Dated from Paris, 8 Febr. 1570. 12. b.
 10. Mr. Walsingham, to the Right Honble Sir Walter Mildmay, one of Her Majesties Privy Counsell, thanking him for his good Offices, and acquainting him with the designs of the Pope & Spain upon Ireland, which were furthered by the Cardinal of Lorraine. As also with the Promises of the French King to punish such of his Subjects as were guilty of the Violence done in Ireland, wherein he observes the French Court to be in Promise speedy, in Performance slowe. Dated from Paris. 8 Febr. 1570. 13.

CAT. HARL. VOL. I.

Num. 260.

11. Sir William Cecil to Mr. Walsingham, desiring him to present the Earle of Rutland to the French King, before the arrival of the Lord Buckhurst. And shew-ing that the Lord Rutland is of the Bloud Royall, and as near Kin to the Crown (tho' in less danger) as the Earle of Huntingdon. Dated from Westminster, 28
 January, 1570. 14.
 12. Mr. Walsingham to Sr. Will. Cecil, containing an obliging Answer to his Recommendation of the Lord Rutland to him. And shewing that the French King being given over to pleasure, refers the Complaints of those of the Religion to the Queene-Mother, & to Monsieur his Brother. 15.
 13. Queen Elizabeth's Letter of Instructions to Mr.
 Walsingham, touching at the Overture of Marriage;
 and commanding him to confer with the Spanish Ambassador at Paris, concerning the King of Spain's amicable Offers to Her, (made by the Duke of Alva) for composing the Differences between Her & the Queen of Scotts. And that he should endeavour to find out the King of Spain's mind with relation to his securing the Irish Rebels & Fugitives, upon their Requests. Of whom in general, & of Stewckley in particular, she gives a character. Dated from Westminster, 11 Febr.
 1570. ibid.
 14. Mr. Walsingham to Sir William Cecil, concerning the Lord Rutlands Reception by the French King, who recommends the good Issue of the Matters in dispute between the Queen of Scotts, & Qu. Elizabeth to Her Majesty. Of the endeavors of the Guises, for a Match between the Kings Sister & the Cardinal of Este, in order to prevent her being married to the Prince of Navarre. And of the Recovery of the French Queen.
 Dated from Paris, 18 Febr. 1570. 19. b.
 15. Mr. Walsingham to Sir William Cecil, being a private Letter to him, apprising him of the Designs of the Guises, and of Spain, in diswading Monsieur from marrying with the Queene of England. Dated 18 Febr.
 1570. 20. b.
 16. Mr. Walsingham to the Earle of Leicester, advertising him of the Endeavours of the Popes Nuncio, the Spanish Ambassador, the Guises, and their Adherents, to frustrate the intended Matches between Q. Elizabeth & Monsieur, and of the French Kinges Sister with the Cardinal de Este. Dated from Paris, 18 Febr. 1571.
 21. b.
 17. Sir William Cecil to Mr. Walsingham, advertising him that Monsr. de Serniga is coming out of Flanders, to treat of mutual Restitution of Shippes & Wares, &c.
 And since that one Huggins, upon the Information of Stewckley is imprisoned in Spaine; to direct him to send some other meet Person into Spaine, to discover things there. And that the Earle of Morton & the other Scotts Commissioners, are on their way to London.
 Dated from Westminster . . . Febr. 1571. 22. b.
 18. Mr. Walsingham to Sir William Cecil, acquainting him with his Conference had with proud Don Francisco the Spanish Ambassador; from one of whose Servants nevertheless, he hopes for constant Intelligence.
 The Answer of the French King & his Mother, upon the Complaints made to them against De la Roche, who committed the abovementioned Hostilities in Ireland. And that he (Mr. Walsingham) would from time to time give Notice of all preparations to be made at Brest, &c. and of the honorable Reception & Behaviour of the Lord Buckhurst, sent into France, by the Queene.
 Dated from Paris, 25 Febr. 1571. 23. b.
 19 The Earle of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, concerning the Match with Monsieur, and the difficultie attending that Affair. That the Queen shews more Inclination to marry than heretofore. Desires him to enquire farther into the Matter relating to Ireland; where, the Queen

Num. 260.

Queen is informed, the King of Spain is almost ready to put his Practices in Execution. Dat. 14 Febr. 1570. 27.

20. Mr. Walsingham's Answer to that Letter, and condoling the Death of Sr. Nicholas Throgmorton, of whom he says, that for Councill in Peace, & for Conduct in Warr, he left of like sufficiency no Successor. Dated from Paris, 5 March, 1570. 28.

21. Mr. Walsingham to Sir William Cecil, concerning the visit made to him by the Spanish Ambassador Don Francisco, with proposals of Amity to be had between the K. of Spain & the Qu. of England; the reason of which, was the Repulse the said D. Francisco lately had from the French King, as to certain Demands. Concerning a Popes Bull against the Qu. of England, publicly affixed in Paris; as it was supposed, by the Spaniards. And of the Popes designs against England. Dat. from Paris, 5 March, 1570. 28. b.

22. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, concerning the very Honorable Entertainment of the Lord Buckhurst in France; his as Honourable Demeritor there. The Duke of Longueville's Retirement from Court in Discontent. Concerning the illlike grown between the French Queen & the Queen Mother; and the French Kings Disaffection at the Popes disdainfull Answer made to a Request of his. Dat. from Paris, 5 March, 1570. 31.

23. Sir William Cecil (newly made Lord Burleigh) to Mr. Walsingham, shewing Her Majesties Satisfaction with his Proceedings; and thanking Him for his good Will to the Lord Rutland. Dat. from Wiltminter, 1 March, 1570. 32.

24. The Earle of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, acquainting him with the Substance of the Conferences between the English and Scots Commissioners, who are very stiff on both sides; and the Q. of England uncertain which way to take. Since tho' it was conceived that the Q. of Scots (then in Prison) was not fit to governe; yet Q. Elizabeth was loth to depose her from her Dignity and as loth to restore her. On the other Hand she was loth to defend the Authority of the young King James, which she was not persuaded, was just. On the one Side, the Interest of the true Religion was not to be neglected; on the other Side, there was danger in keeping the Q. of Scots in Prison, by Reason of her Friends. Dat. 26 Febr. 1570. 32. b.

25. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, shewing how perillous it would be to release the Q. of Scots without Q. Elizabeth's marriage to Monsieur: Who in that Case, if refused by England, would match with Scotland. And by Reason of the great Dearth in France, he desires that his Allowance may be augmented. Dat. at Paris, 9 March, 1570. 33. b.

26. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, in Answer to divers of his Letters. He cannot believe Mr. Walsingham's Advice of a Design to free the Q. of Scots from Prison, when she is upon the point to be lett out by Treaty; but judges there may be more probability, by means of Stewkeley, of an Invasion of Ireland from Spain. He writeth the Queens Instructions, in case any Prison of Value should make overture of a fitt Match for Her; and adds (of himself) that he fees no continuance of her Quietness without a Marriage. Dat. 3 March, 1570. 33.

27. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burleigh, desiring him to intercede with her Majesty, that his Allowance may be raised. Dat. at Paris, 13 March, 1570. 38. b.

28. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burleigh, relating his Conference with Olivarez the Spanish Ambassador in Paris, (whom he found, more solemn, after the Spanish manner than wife) upon the Subject of the King of Spain's entertaining & knighting of Stewkeley the Queen's Rebell. Dat. at Paris, 19 March, 1570. 39. b.

Num. 260.

29. Queen Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, declaring her Intention to send a Gentleman into Spayne, to know that King's Intentions towards her, by word of Mouth; and of her Resolution to send Forces into Ireland, & to fitt out a Fleet for the Defence thereof. Also that he would use proper Methods to procure Redress to Sir Thomas Cotton, who had been treacherously and villainously used by De-la-Hay a French Gentleman. Dated at Greensyche, 10 March, 1570. 40.

30. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, (a dark Letter, & partly in Cypher) written by the Queens special Command. It seems to relate to her Match with the Duke of Anjou. Dat. at Greenwich, 10 March, 1570. 41. b.

31. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burleigh, giving a Relation of a Conference between him, and the fugitive Archbishop of Cashels who came to visit him. Being upon the Subject of Stewkeley inciting the King of Spain to conquer Ireland, whereby Her Majesty might be expelled, and true Catholick Religion planted therein. And of the Archbishops desires of being restored to the Queens Favor, and to his former Dignity. Dat. at Paris, 19 March, 1570. 42.

32. Queen Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, being a Letter of Instructions to him, containing sundry Heads for his Answers, to be made in her Name to the Overture made to her (by way of Articles) for a marriage between her & Monsieur the Duke d'Anjou, the French Kings Brother. Dated at Greenwich, 24 March, 1570. 47. b.

33. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, shewing his Opinion, with some farther Instructions relating to the same Matter. Dat. at Greenwich, 24 March, 1570. 54. b.

34. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burleigh, setting forth his Conference with the Queen-Mother of France, as to a marriage between Qu. Elizabeth and her Son the Duke d'Anjou, according to the Instructions mentioned, N^o. 32. Dat. at Paris, 2 April (A.D. 1571.) 55. b.

35. The Earle of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, touching the Queens resolution to marry; and of the Difficulties that might happen, in regard of Monsieurs Religion. Dat. 2, March, 1570. 59.

36. Qu. Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, shewing that Mr. Henry Cobham one of her Gentlemen-Pensioners, is (according to her former Resolution) sent by her to the King of Spain, with Orders to take France in his way, that he might inform him (Mr. Walsingham) of certain Matters relating to the Queen of Scots, which he should impart to the Queen-Mother of France. Dat. at Greenwich, 26 March, 1571. 60. b.

37. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, that the Earl of Leicester is for the Queens marriage with Monsieur d'Anjou; and that since there are hopes of his changing his Religion upon such Marriage, and appearance of being a Martial Prince, he may conquer Popery throughout Christendom. And finally that the Title of his poor Degree is Lord of Burleigh. Dat. at Greenwich, 25 March, 1571. 61.

38. Mr. Walsingham to the Right Honble & his very good Lord, the Lord of Burleigh, delivers his private Opinion as to some circumstances attending the Queens Match with Monsieur. The Sum of which is, for a War with Spain, to be made by France & England. He also begs Pardon for his forwardness, since 'twas his Office (as an Ambassador) to advertise, and not to advise. Dat. at Paris, 5 April, 1571. 62.

39. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, relating further Advertisements concerning the fugitive Archbishop of Cashels. Dat. at Paris, 4 April, 1571. 63.

40. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, desiring his protection for the Daughter of Madame de Moicy. Dat. at Paris, 5 April, 1571. 66. b.

Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, directing him to promise the fugitive Archbishop of Cassels, her Majesties favor, in case he would seek it in England, & submit himself, &c. or else to deal with the French King, that he might be apprehended as a Traytor, & so sent over. And advertising him with the little Progress made in the Agreement between her Commissioners; the Earl of Morion & those of the young King of Scots; the Bp of Rois, &c. sent by the imprisoned Queen of Scots. Dat. at Westminster, 8 April, 1571.

42. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, shewing that the Queen of Scotts Cause was deferred, to gain time; and that Dunbritton Castle (the Receptaculum of the Scottish Queen's foraygne Aid) was taken by Cuming. Dat. at Westminster, 7 March, 1570.

69. b.

43. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burleigh, that through the means of Captain Thomas, an Irishman (often before mentioned) the design of the Archbishop of Cassels to ingratiate himself with Monsieur d'Anjou was frustrated. And that the Arch Bp. would submit himself, & go into England, if he might receive his Pardon from thence within 20 Days. Dat. at Paris, 22 April, 1571.

70.

44. Qu. Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, a dark Letter; deferring her Answer to some Question made by the French Court, as I suppose touching her Match with Monsieur. Dat. at Westminster, 13 April, 1571.

72. b.

45. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burleigh, containing his Answer to the last Letter, Dated from Paris, 22 April, 1571.

73.

46. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, shewing the great Satisfaction he takes in his Proceedings, and that he will endeavour to procure her Majestie, to conceive the same Opinion of them. Dat. at Westminster, 14 April, 1571.

73. b.

47. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, still darkly, as doubting ill Success to attend the Refusal of some Offer, made (as it seems) by the French. Perhaps it related to the Match. Dat. at Paris, 22 April, 1571.

74.

48. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, desiring him to use his endeavours for the Archbishop of Cassels submission. That Her Majesty would soon send him her full Resolution as to Her Marriage with the Duke of Anjou. And desires another Cipher easier than the last. Dat. on Good-Friday, 1571.

74. b.

49. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, relating the French Kings Discourse with Monsieur Flegny, concerning Monsieurs altering his Religion, upon the Match with the Queen of England; which Thing the King desired, and the Queen most insisted upon. And of some hopes that the King would also change his. Dat. at Paris, 22 April, 1571.

75.

50. Queen Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, that the Sieur Cavalcant had imparted to Her certain Articles (for a Marriage between her & Monsieur) to which he had returned an Answer; of all which he should be apprised, for his better proceeding. Dat. 12 April, 1571.

76. b.

51. Queen Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, a Letter of Instructions to him, upon the above-mentioned Articles given to her by the Sieur Cavalcant, & the French Ambassador, and the Conference held thereon, between them, & the Lord Chancellor, the Earl of Leicester & the Lord Burleigh; with the Answer made by Her to the said Articles, and the Exceptions taken against that Answer. With Orders to him to insist upon adjusting the Matter of Religion, before any further Proceedings. Dat. 19 April, 1571.

76.

Articles delivered by the French Ambassador & Mr.

Cavalcant 13 April, 1571.

79.

Explanatio Articulorum propositorum a D. Oratore Regis Christianissimi, cum potestate reservata ad ampliorem Explicationem eorundem, cum tempus postulaverit.

79. b.

52. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, advising that the Queen does not now send her Articles or Demands, as she did intend. But rather insists upon being complied with as to the Matter of Religion; as having Notice from France, that that Point might be assented to by the French Court. Dat. from Westminster, 19 April, 1571.

81. b.

53. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burleigh, relating his Audience with the Queen-Mother, who cannot yield that Monsieur her Son should change his Religion, but desires to know directly whether by yielding or not yielding to the second Article (about Religion) with all reasonable Cautions; the Queen of England meant to proceed or forbear. Dat. at Paris, 28 April, 1571.

82. b.

54. The Conference betwene me (Mr. Walsingham) and Monsieur de Foix, about Monsieurs changing his Religion, which Mr. de Foix thought could not be done, till after the Marriage; & Mr. Walsingham insisted on; and that Her Majestie adhered to her Answer as to that Article about Religion, as otherwise resolving not to proceed. Dat. at Paris, 28 April, 1571.

85. b.

55. Qu. Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, offering Pardon to the fugitive Archbishop of Cassels, & Restitution to his Dignity, in case he would humble himself, & come to England to beg it. Dat. at Westminster, 5 May, 1571.

90. b.

56. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, that the King of Spain after expending much Money upon Stewkeley, finds him worthy no more. That there are some hopes that the French will moderate the Article about Religion. And that some matters are revealed, from Scotland, that may be had for some great Persons.

91. b.

57. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burleigh, concerning her Majesties rewarding Captain Thomas, who elied into the Practices of the fugitive Archbishop of Cassels, and other Irish Traytors; with a Character of Him. Of some secret Matters on the anville, between the King of Spain, the Duke d'Alva, & the Pope, the particulars whereof he cannot yet discover. Intelligence (from one whom he sett to spie over the Lord Seton's doings) that the Scots there have some Enterprize in hand. That the Assistance the Scots Queen could hope for from France depends upon the success of the Negotiation for Marriage between Queen Elizabeth and Monsieur; as does the French Invasion of Ireland again by La-Roche, who secretly told his Kinsman the Enterprize he was to have executed there before, was a Plot of Conquest, devised by Peter Strozzi in King Henries time. Dat. at Paris, 14 May, 1571.

92.

58. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, that it seems as if the French would yield to the Queen in the Article of Religion, rather than break off. Dat. 7 May, 1571.

94. b.

59. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, that the Protestants in France are zealous for the Match, and the Catholics as earnestly bent against it; and gives his Opinion, that if it be broke off, the Queen cannot stand; and desires that her Majesties Answer may be hastned. Dat. at Paris, 13 May, 1571.

95. b.

60. To the Earl of Leicester and the Lord Burleigh, by Mr. Walsingham, desiring that her Majesties Articles or

or Demands may be sent to him with all Speed, for dissolving all Clouds of Jealousie on the side of the French. Dat. 19 May, 1571. 96.

61. Queen Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, giving her Reasons, (to be by him communicated to the King, & Queen-Mother) why she would have Monsieur comply with her, as to Religion; so far as forbear the Exercise of his own, and to assist at that of Hers. Dat. 12 May, 1571. 97.

62. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, acquainting him how the Queen was induced to insist upon the Duke d'Anjou's changing his Religion, as Matter of her own Conscience; & how afterward, it was altered to the mistaking of her good Subjects, & the danger of losing their good Wills: with hints of some-bodies (perhaps the Earl of Leicester's) doubting in this Affair. That the Queen has recovered Edinburgh, and that the Scots are inclined to govern by Magistrates, without King or Queen. Dat. at Westminster, 8 May, 1571. 99. b.

63. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burleigh, relating the particulars mentioned at divers audiences he had of the King, the Queen-Mother, and of Monsieur, who own that the Queen of England's reasons as to the Article of Religion are worthy of Consideration. He commends the good Offices of the Lords & Countmorancie, de Boix, of the Sieurs de la Motte & Cavalcant, in this important Affair. Desires that a Book of Common-prayer translated into French (of which he has seen some printed in Guernsey) may be sent to him, to shew to Monsieur. And intimates a Request from Count Lodewick, that Mr. Hawkins might serve him 'underhand, with certain Shippes. Dat. at Vernon, 25 Maie, 1571. 101.

64. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burghley, including a Memorial to the Queen, about a French Ship, & desiring speedie Justice. And touching a Passport desired by the Queen-Mother for the Scottish Ambassador to repayre to the Queen his Mistres, in Prison in England. Dated at Nantes, 26 May, 1571. 104.

65. The Lord Burghley to Mr. Walsingham, acquainting him how near the Match was to be broken off, upon making that Toy, the Restitution of Callice, one of her Majesties Articles; which after, thro' the Advice of the Earl of Leicester, &c. was left out. That a Copie of them was communicated to the French Ambassador, who seemed not to mislike them; that at present, the Earl of Leicester furthers the Match. That the Scottish Queens Party have lately received Money and Munition from France; and that in Spain, the Practises of Stewards are abated, through the Discovery of his Leadeness & Insufficiency. Dat. at Westminster, 5 June, 1571. 105.

66. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, deliberating with him about the Match, and shewing that Her Majesty will not alter her Resolution as to the Article of Religion, before her Marriage. Dat. 6 June, 1571. 106. b.

67. Queen Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, being a Letter accompanying her Articles, as to the Match. Instructing him what to say to the French King & Queen-Mother with relation to them. And shewing her Reasons why she keeps the Bp. of Ross in Prison; why she will not suffer the Bp. of Glasgow the Scottish Queen's Ambassador to come into England; and why the hearing of the Cause of the Scottish Queen is still delayed. Dat. at Osterley, 8 June, 1571. 107.

68. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, concerning the Queens opinion, that if she persist stedfastly, as to the Article of Religion, the French Court will at last comply with her. And concerning their mutual Dowry, in case Monsieur and She should marry. Dated at Osterley, 7 June, 1571. He sends also the French

Num. 260.

Common-prayer book, abovementioned, which was hardly gotten. 108. b.

69. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burleigh, apprising him of the honorable Sentiments the King & Queen-Mother do entertaine of her Majesty, in regard of her upright dealing in this Negotiation; and especially in sending her Articles; before theirs concerning Monsieur Religion was adjusted. That the King would send Mr. l'Archant, a Gentleman of his Chamber & Captain of the Guard to Monsieur d'Anjou, to thank her therefore, and to know her pleasure when he should send Marshall Montmorency, & Monsieur de Foix his Ambassadors, with his full mind touching the Articles exhibited on either side. Dat. 20 June, 1571. 111. b.

70. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, shewing that the Queen still continues stiff, to have the point of Religion yielded by the French Court. And that, in his Opinion, Monsieur might do best to leave the matter entirely to her, whereby it might prove to his better Satisfaction. Dat. 9 June, 1571. 111. b.

71. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burleigh, concerning a practise contrived for stealing away the Scottish Queene and of the beginnings of Discontent arisen between the Kings of Spain & France. Dat. at Lenders, 25 June, 1571. 112. b.

72. Queen Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, apprising him of a Conference had between the French Ambassador with Monsr. l'Archant, and the Earl of Leicester with the Lord Burleigh, concerning the point of Monsieur Roman Religion which he could not suffer. That she is willing it shall not be at all mentioned in the Treaty; but then, she expects, that after the Marriage he should forbear the use of it. And that she forbears to grant a Passport, for Marshall Montmorency, &c. till she knows more of the Kings mind hereupon. Dat. at Hampton-Court, 9 July, 1571. 113.

73. A Summarie of the severall Answeres made by the Queenes Majesty to the French Ambassador, & Monsieur l'Archant, to their Message and Request (drawn up by the Lord Burleigh, as appears by the last Letter. 114.

74. The Earl of Leicester & the Lord Burghley to Mr. Walsingham, concerning their Conferences with the French Ambassador, and Monsr. l'Archant, (mentioned at large in the Summarie above.) Dated at Hampton-Court, 8 July, 1571. 118.

75. The Lord Burghley to Mr. Walsingham, concerning the difficulties in this Match, especially that of Religion, and that all her Majesties Councillors are for it; the Amity of France being needfull, as matters stand between England & Spain. Dated from Hampton Court, 9 July, 1571. 119.

76. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, concerning the late Conference about the Queens Marriage, and her Inclination thereunto. That in case the Article of Religion should be left out of the Treaty, her Majesty will require that Monsieur should not afterwards desire the private Exercise of his Religion, which would infallibly break off the Match, which might prove fatal to us. And that those in Credit with the King of Spain used Mr. Cobham most proudly and arrogantly. Dat. 8 July, 1570. 120.

77. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burghley, concerning the divers Reports touching Mr. l'Archants Reception in England, and the Queens Intentions as to Marriage. And that the French King intends to send a Person of good Quality to thank her Majesty for her honorable dealing, and to desire the continuance of good Amity. Dat. at Mellin, 27 July, 1571. 121.

78. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, upon the same subjects. Dat. at Mellin, 27 July. 121.

79. Mr.

Num. 260.

79. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burghley, relating the words spoken to him by the King, the Qu. Mother, & Monsieur, who all thanked the Queen his Mistress for her honorable and sincere dealing with them; and desired that the amity between both Crowns might be continued, though the intended Marriage should take no Effect, because of the point of Monsieurs Religion. And that the King would send Monsieur du Foix into England, in hopes to find her Majesty less resolute therein. Dat. at Mellin, 31 July, 1571. 123.

80. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, that the King will send Monfr. de Foix into England to conclude the Match, or a freighter Amity, very necessary for England at this time. That there are great practices used by the Pope, Spaine, & Portugall to hinder this Match. And that the French Clergy offer Monsieur a great Pension to desert. That the French Court grow more stiff for the Article of Religion. And that Messieurs de Foix & Cavalcante have done many good Offices both to Her Majesty & to his Lordship. Dated at Mellin, 31 July, 1571. 124. b.

81. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, deliberating upon our ancient League with the House of Burgundy, as now resting in the House of Austria; and persuading to a League with France, as much more secure, though not so profitable; and that without the continuance of Amity between France & England, the Cause of the French Protestants is desperate. Dat. at Mellin, 3 August, 1571. 126.

82. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burghley, acquainting him with the Audience the Spanish Ambassador had of the French King, and of the Threats of the Spaniard. That the Queen mother is much incensed against the Spaniard, as being thoroughly persuaded that her Daughter was poisoned. And of the Journey of the King, to meet the Princes, and the Admirall, whom the Hugonots desire the Queen of England to recommend particularly to His Majesty. Dated at Paris, 12 August 1571. 127. b.

83. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burghley, shewing that Count Lodowick had come secretly to him and apprised him of the Audience he had had of the French King, whose success he craved, in regard of the Tyranny used by the King of Spain in the Low-Countries. That the Princes of Germany were willing to join with France & England in Defence of the same; upon Condition that the French King be content with Flanders & Artoys which once pertained to the Crowne of France: That Brabant, Gelderland, & the Land Lüdenburgh which once were federates unto the Empire might be united againe to the same. And that they wish that Zealand and the rest of the Islands, might be taken by the Queen of England. That the French King & his Mother had hearkened to his Proposals, and that it was agreed between them that Strozzi should enterprize something against Spain in a little time, to amuse that King, and that the French King would nevertheless openly disavow of such his Proceedings. Finally, he craves aid of the Queen of England, and shews that 'tis her Interest to assist the Nobles, &c. of the Low Countries, against the King of Spain. Dat. from Paris, 12 August, 1571. 129.

84. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, containing many reasons to induce her Majesty to grant all, or some of Count Lodowick's Requests (of which Prince, he gives a great Character) for considering the State of England, at Home & Abroad: he thinks a peace between Spain & France would be the beginning of our Wars, and therefore advises his Lordship to deale so with Her Majesty, as that the Fire now kindling may grow to a Flame, and we take Comfort by the Heat. Dat. at Paris, 12 August, 1571. 135.

Num. 260.

85. The Lord Burghley to Mr. Walsingham, that Monsieur du Foix is arrived in England, with such Offers of great Amity, as he fears will divert the former intention of Marriage. Dat. at Hatfield, 16 August, 1571. 131.

86. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, in answer to his last; promising to use his endeavour in persuading her Majesty to establish God's Religion & her own Safety. That Monsieur de Foix has been very graciously received by her Majesty; that he standeth stiff for the point of Monsieur's Religion, and her Majesty as stiff against it. 138. b.

87. Queen Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, touching the Conference between Monfr. de Foix, and some of her Councillors. That they cannot agree as to the Article of Religion; that tho' upon importunity, she had consented to the change of the Words Verbo Dei, into Ecclesie Dei, yet her Intention is not to permit Monsieur or his Servants, tho' never so few, to use private Masse; and this would have him to declare. That notwithstanding some former Letters of his, Mr. de Foix has made no Overtures of any stricter Amity, and being sifted says he has no Commission to do so. And that when he has sent an Answer to this, another shall be his Assistant, 'till the Recovery of his Health, as he desires. Dat. 2 September, 1571. 139.

88. Summa eorum, quæ Serenissima Regina, suavit et Consilio suorum Consiliariorum proposuit, in Colloquio, de tribus Articulis cum Illustrissimis Oratoribus Christianissimæ Regis. 141.

89. The Lord Burghley to Mr. Walsingham, that Monfr. de Foix hath had 7 or 8 special Conferences with her Majesty & her Councillors; yet now the Matter seems farther off than before; wherein he seems to suspect & censure the double dealing of some. That her Majesty declares she will assent to the Marriage if Monsieur will forebear his Masse; tho' he believes some others may withdraw her from this determination. That he is clearly for the Match, tho' if it should take Effect, he might suffer for it. That Mr. de Foix has had all Honor shewed him here, and he desires in case the Match cannot be effected, that the Queen should send an Embassy into France for a freighter Alliance & Confederacie between the Two Crowns. And that there are some discoveries made, whereby it seems that the Duke of Norfolk does still mind the Matter of the Scottish Queen. That the Duke's Secretary is committed to the Tower, and to be examined by Sr. Thomas Smith; and therefore he desires Mr. Walsingham to enquire after Liggins the Duke's Servant, who hath long been about Paris, and the Court. Dated from Audley-End by Walden, 2 September 1571. 143.

90. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burghley, that the French King desireth nothing but perfect Amity with the Queen of England. Whole Friendship likewise is much valued by the Queen-Consort of France. She seems much bound to her, in that she vouchsafed once to write to her; and therefore he advises that her Majesty would send her some Ring, which he thinks would be well bestowed. That 150000 Frankes have been lately coined in Poitou, by the Officers of the Queen of Scottes; to be brought up to Paris & from thence to Scotland. 145. b.

91. The Lord Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, that the Queen promises to take his chargeable Service into Consideration, 20 October, 1572. 147.

92. Instructions for Henry Killegrew Esquier, being sent into France to supply the Place of Francis Walsingham Esquier her Majesties Ambassador-Resident with the French King, during the Tyme that the said Walsingham shall be absent from the Courte of France to recover his Health, for such Infirmities as presently he is is troubled withall. Dat. at Richmond, 19 October, 1572.

Herein, he is ordered to open to the French King the Practices & Designs of the Queen of Scots and the Duke of Norfolk, who after warning given them before, and contrary to their solemn promises, Oaths, & Letters under their Hands, did conspire to deprive the Queen of her Crown, & to place herself in the Throne of England, not only by aid of traitorous English, &c. but by foreign force, namely Spanish, to gaine which, the Qu. of Scots pretended to send her Son into Spaine, and to marry with Don John of Austria. In which Matter, she gave directions that none of the French Kings Minister should be made privy to it, she being resolved to follow wholly the directions of the King of Spain. 147.

93. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, advertising him of Mr. Killegrews arrival, to relieve him during his Illness. That there are reasons to apprehend that the Battle of Lepanto may prove more especially profitable to Spain, in that the Spanish Faction in France may from thence induce the King and the Queen-Mother (who is naturally fearful) to pals by the Injuries done them by the King of Spain. That there are Letters from Emden going to the Queen of England, to desire that the Narrow-Seas may be cleared of Privates; as also Exemption from Payment of a certain Customs, in consideration of the Favor shewn to her Majesties Subjects there. Dat. at Paris, 8 November, 1572. 149. b.

94. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, thanking him for late favors, and shewing that the French King inwardly is not joyful for the Victory of Lepanto (La Panta) since it proved so glorious for Spaine. And therefore advises that the Queen do speedily send some Person over to conclude a straiter Amity with the French. Dat. at Paris, 7 Novem. 1572. 151. b.

95. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, and to his (Lordships) Brother in Lawe Henry Killegrew Efq; wherewith he sends a Latine Treatise lately printed, concerning the Marriage of the Qu. of Scots with Earl Bothwell which is also to be printed in English with Additions. That the Queen will send the Lord Grey, or Sr. Peter Grey into France. That the Duke of Norfolk's Case grows dayly more odious. And that the Lord Hamdon is gone for Scotland to endeavour to bring Grange (one of the chiefeest Partisans for the Qu. of Scots) and Edinburgh-Castle to the Young King's Devotion. Which if not to be effected by fair Means, must be done by force from England. Dat. at Richmond, 1 Novemb. 1572. 153.

96. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, that the Marshall de Goffe had procured a Loane for the French King of his Subjects. That this Marshall, with Marshall Montmorencie had come to Paris, and there plucked down the Crois, to the Comfort of the Protestants, and Jilgust of the Papists. Dat. 7 Decemb. 1572. 153. b.

97. The Lord of Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, a Letter of no great Moment, from Greenwich, 5 of November, 1572. 153. b.

98. The Lord of Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, sent by Sir Thomas Smith, who is sent by the Queen to treat with the French Court about the Marriage, and increafe of Amity. That her Majesty has declared to the States of Scotland, that she will never suffer the Scots Queen to resume the Government of Scotland. And that the said Scots Queen is kept so streightly, as that she has but ten persons of her own about her. Dat. at Greenwich, 7 Decemb. 1572. 154.

99. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, concerning her Majesties willingness, to be married to Monsieur d'Anjou, and requiring him to impart all the pall Proceedings in relation to that Affair, to the Admirall of France, as by order of her Majestie: And if the Admirall should like well of such Marriage, then to desire him to be at the Court, during Sir Thomas Smiths continuance there; in order to be privie to their Dealings. Dat. at Greenwich, 7th of December, 1572. 155. b.

100. Instructions given to Sir Thomas Smith Knight one of the Queenes Majesties Privie Councill, & Ambassador in France; and to Francis Walsingham Efq; her Ambassador Ordinary there; and in his Absence, to her Majesties trustie Servant Henry Killegrew Efq; Given at Westminster the 13th Day of February, 1572, the 13th year of her Majesties Raigne. 157.

Concerning a League to be entered into, mutually, by France & England: wherin the greatest Difficulty was, to oblige the French to aid England, in case it should be invaded upon the account of Religion. 155. b.

101. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, concerning the Success of the Qu. of Scots Party in Scotland, in their application to the French King for relief. Dat. at Paris, 29 Decemb. 1572. 164.

102. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, whereby it appears he had conferred with Marshall Montmorencie touching the Marriage; and of the good will he bare to the same; and to the speedy effecting it. Dat. at Paris, 31 Decemb. 1572. 165.

103. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Leicester? touching his conference with Mathias de Montmorencie, about the Marriage, and of his Endeavors to further the same. That Limerolles the chiefest Diswader against the Marriage is slain. Dat. at Paris, 31 Decemb. 1572. 165. b.

104. A Mynut of my Lord Burleighs Letter to Sir Thomas Smith, of the 28 Decemb. 166.

i. e. Concerning the ill demeanor of the Spanish Ambassador here, especially with relation to his Lordship. No accord likely, between the two opposite parties in Scotland: With requests of the French Ambassador here for the restitution of the Qu. of Scots, and of the Money taken as going from France to Scotland. Both which were denied. 165. b.

105. The Lord of Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, that the Spanish Ambassador here was, in the Queenes Name, commanded to departe the Realme, upon his renewed Practices, to perfwade the Catholics, that the King his Master would aide them with Power, this Spring, &c. that his Daughter is lately married to the Earle of Oxford, and that her Majestie honor'd the Wedding with her Prefence. Dat. at Westminster . . . Decr. 1572. 168.

106. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, that the Queen, mercifull Ladie, hath taken more harme by Mercie than by Justice. That one Mather accuses Borgelt the Spanishe Ambassadors Secretarie, that his Master & he doth intice him (this Mather) to murder him. i. e. himself the Lord Burghley; upon Borgelt's deniall, Mather offers to trie it Con la Spada. Dat. at Westminster. 27 Janry, 1572. 169.

her Son. To whom they complained of the Troubles raised in Ireland by the Cardinall of Lorrayne, upon the account of James fitz Morris, who was carried away from thence by Monfr. de la Roche. And that they had fixed a Time for entering upon the Treaty for a stricter Amity between both Crownes. Dat. at Bloys, 22 Febr. 1572. 171.

110. Sir Thomas Smith & Mr. Walsingham to the Queen, advertising her of another Audience they had of the French King & his Mother, for adjusting certain difficulties which retarded the finishing of the League, so well begun. Also that the Queen-Consort was with Child. Dated at Bloys, 1 March, 1572. 174.

111. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, that he had caused one Darbshire an English Jesuite to be privately fitted, as to his Opinions relating to the Queen of Scotts, &c. with a relation of his trayterous Speeches & Designs. Dat. at Bloys, 2 March, 1572. 178. b.

112. Mr. Walsingham to the Earle of Leicester, concerning the difficultie as to inserting in the League, an Article, obliging the French King to aid Q. Elizabeth, in case she should be invaded upon the Account of Religion. Which the King would not have inserted in the Body of the League, but would send it under his Hand, in a Letter missive to the Queen. And of the King & Queen-Mother's desire, that the Earle of Leicester might be sent over to receive his Oath, and to ratifie that Treaty. 179. b.

113. 131. Sir Thomas Smith to the Lord Burleigh, rejoicing that Monfr. du Croque was gone into Scotland, who had lately wrote to the French King his Master, that he believed the English Court would not permit him to go thither at all; which Notification had caused many jealousies & suspicions. That the Duke de Montmorencie & Monfr. du Foix the French Ambassadors to England, lay ready to embarque, as soon as the English Mirall came for them. He wishes that Monfr. de Montmorencie might be honoured with the Order of the Garter, as his Fathers was. He being a great Prince, and an entire Lover of our Queen and Nation. He is glad that the League lately concluded is approved of in England, and thinks it a great Security unto it. Dat. from Paris, 7 May, 1572. 227.

132. Then follow the dates of divers Letters to the Lord Burleigh, by Sir Thomas Smith, as it seems: most of which are above-mentioned. 229.

133. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Burleigh, that divers English make suit to the Marshall de Montmorencie to return into England in his train; and would therefore desire that care may be taken in that behalf. That one Chambers (who had formerly done ill Offices in Scotland) is in the Train of Monfr. du Foix, and is intended to be employed by the French King (by consent of England) in composing the Troubles in Scotland, in Case the endeavors of Monfr. du Croque should prove unsuccessfull. That Count Lodowick is gone from France, but that he had placed Mr. Morgan with him, to advertise him of his Proceedings. Dat. at Paris. 21 May, 1572. 226. b.

134. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, lamenting the Queens Irresolution, the Cause of many evils, which yet, for saving of her Honor, is & must be imputed to her inward Counsellors, who are not in the fault. He intends to send Mr. Walsingham the Commission for treating with France about Trade, viz. as to such Cases as are not determined by the League. That Le Croque is in Scotland, where it was supposed he could do little good. He desires an Account of the States & Degrees, of the principal Persons that come over with Monfr. de Montmorencie. Dat. at St. Jameses, 21 May, 1572. 221.

135. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, desiring that his Boy . . . Clarke, who ran away from him, may be sent over to him, to be made an example of. That the Scottish Queen is about to be attained of Treason; wherein, as also in relation to the Execution of the Duke of Norfolk, at the great suit of the House of Commons, the Queens irresolution is much apprehended. Dat. 21 May, 1572. 233.

136. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, that Count Lodowick had sent 600 Horle to Brussels, in hopes to surprize & take the Duke d'Alva. Dat. at Paris, 29 May, 1572. 233. b.

140. Instructions (signed by the Queen) given to the Earle of Lincolne Lord Admirall of England, and one of the Lords of her Majesties Privie Councell, appointed by her Majesty to repaire to the French King in Ambassage, and att his Arrivall at Parris, or elsewhere, to be assisted for the execution of the Matters underwritten, with Sir Thomas Smith Knight, Chauncellor of the Order, and Francis Walsingham Ambassador Resident for her Majesty with the said King. Att St. James the 25th of May, 1572. 238.

The Effect of which are, to receive the French Kings Oath for performing the Articles of the League of Amity between both Crowns. To apprise the French King of her Majesties Design to protect the young King of Scotland, and to desire him to do the same, as being the only way to procure & preserve Peace & Tranquility therein. To declare the dangerous Plots of the Queen of Scots, not only against her own Son and Realm, but against her Majesties Person, &c. for which the Parliament do solicit her Majesty to proceed against her, the said Scottish Queen, by order of Justice. To excuse the stay of La Cioque, from going into Scotland, and to shew the Reason of it. Touching the unkind Dealing of the French Court, as to the Marriage of the Queen with Monfr. d'Anjou, in adhering to the Article for his Religion, after it was, in a Manner yielded up by them; which thing broke off the Treaty. To be mentioned, in Case the French should propose a Marriage between the Queen, & the Duke of Alençon. To congratulate the Queen of Navarre upon the Peace concluded between the Catholicks & the Protestants, & of the farther good Prospect of Affairs, by the Marriage intended between her Son, & the Daughter of France. To encourage the Admirall of France and others of the Nobility joyned with him, in their Obedience & Loyalty to the King, now after the Pacification of the former Troubles. Not to forbear saluting the House of Guise, if he find them disposed to accept it.

141. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham declaring his Opinion as to the partition of the Low Countreys. That the Q. was somewhat sad at the Duke of Norfolks Death. (A dark Paragraph, perhaps relating to a private Love born to the Queen by the Earl of Leicester) That the Officers of the Queens Household, the Earl of Pembroke, the Lords Windsor & Buckhurst, with mighty traines, were gone to Dover to receive Monfr. de Montmorencie the French Ambassador at his landing. Dat. from St. James's, 6 June, 1572. 249. b.

142. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, recommending his Nephew Mr. Philip Sidney to his Care & Assistance. He reflects the Unkindness of Cardinal . . . his boy Clarkes new Master, who refused to deliver him to him. That Clarke had made Supplications to him to be received again, but that he would not yield to; being minded to make an example of him. He hopes however, in a little Time, to send Mr. Walsingham Word where he is, that he may be apprehended. Dat. 26 May, 1572. 251.

143. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, declaring his intollerable charges, by reason of the Dearth, and desiring that his Allowance may be augmented. Dat. at Paris, 22 Juné, 1572. 252.

Num. 260.

144. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, concerning the feasting of the French Ambassadors here, and of the Queens declaration as to the Cattle of Hume, & France-Castle, in Scotland, before she took her Oath to observe the League with France. Dat. at Westmr. 20 of June, 1572.

252. b.

145. The Forme of the Communication with the Duke Montmorency, de Foix, and la Motte, which they said should be to finish Matters expressed in the Treaty, June, 1572. Present the Lord Keeper, the Earls of Suffex & Leicester, the Lord Chamberlayne, & Burleigh. Mr. Comptroller, Sir Raphe Sadler, Sir Walter Mildmay.

254.

146. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burghley, that the Scotch Ambassador & the Lord Grange's brother have made importunate Suit to the French Court, in behalf of the Queen of Scots. But that 'tis his Opinion, that so long as she lives, there will grow no good Accord in Scotland, nor continuance of Repose in England; nor perfect and sound Amity between England & France. Dat. at Paris, 28 June, 1572.

256. b.

147. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, giving his Opinion as to the Wars in Flanders, whereon he thinks the Common Cause of Religion depends. And that in case it should not succeed well, he supposes the Queen cannot promise to her self any great safety; since the Spaniard would thereby be much increased in power & reputation. Dat. at Paris, 28 May, 1572.

257.

148. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, advertising him that Mr. Junius is chosen to establish some Policy in Flushing, where all Things are in Disorder, for want of a good Governor; and that he wanted his Lordship's Letter to Captain Morgan there, to assist him in the Execution of his Commission. Also, that he desired to confer with Mr. Killegrew & shew him in what posture the Affairs of the Netherlands are now in. Mr. Walsingham adds, that he perceives, that if her Majesty does not send some Assistance thither, underhand, they must yield to such Inconveniences as shall be laid upon them by the French. Dat. at Paris, 2 July, 1572.

257. b.

149. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, to the same effect. Dat. at Paris, 2 July, 1572.

259.

150. The Lord of Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, relating the great Entertainment, Honors, & Rewards, which the Duke de Montmorency & Monfr. de Foix met with here. That her Majesty took a Month's time to make answer to their Overtures for a Marriage between her and the Duke of Alençon; and in the mean time requires from him (Mr. Walsingham) a particular description of his Person & Character; as also of his Followers & Servants. At present the only Objection against that Prince, being his Youth. That the Queen has taken Time till Allhallontide to consider of the Bill in Parliament for disabling the Scottish Queen to succeed to the Crown of England. And that some (perhaps meaning the Earl of Leicester) seem to abuse their Favor with the Queen, by making her her own Enemy.

260.

151. The Lord of Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, that the French Kings Recoyle from the Flanders Enterprise, (i. e. not succouring the Netherlands) breedeth Coldness here. Dat. at Westminster, 5 July, 1572.

262.

152. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, shewing how thankful the French King & the Queen-Mother were for the honourable Entertainment the French Ambassadors found in the English Court. And how desirous they were for the Queens Marriage with the Duke d'Alençon; and of continuing the Amity between the two Crowns in case that design should not take effect. That the Admiral and the Heads of the Religion are very much for it; and believe that the Duke is not so stiffly grounded in his Religion, but that he might be brought to a Knowledge of the Truth. He gives a Character of him & of his Servants, and of their Love & Affection to the Queen. The Communication between him & the Admirall concerning the Resolution of Callis, in case of the Match; which the Admirall affirmed the French King would in no wise consent to; but believed he might be induced to join in the Conquest of Zealand (since her Majesty had already footing in Flushing) which would be much more worth to her than Callis. Dat. at Paris, 1 July, 1572.

262. b.

153. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, concerning the posture of Affairs in the Low-Countries, where it behoves her Majesty to bestow some aid on the side of the Prince of Orange. That the French would assist, underhand; but that their delay proceeded only from their wishes that Don John of Austria was onward on his Voyage to Morea. In the mean Time the French to disguise their Intention, have put out severall Proclamations, for recalling their Subjects of France from Mons; for inhibiting any others from repairing thither, &c. Dat. at Paris, 13 July, 1572.

154. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, apprising him of the Prince of Orange's return to the Netherlands with a considerable Army. That the Turk makes great Naval preparations against Spain; offers the French King Money to break with the Spaniard; and desires him by Mediation to compose the Differences between him and the Venetians, who are disgusted at that Monarch. Dat. at Paris, 18 July, 1572.

267.

155. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, to the same Effect, & with the like Date.

267. b.

156. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, that the King has dispatched a Servant of the Duke d'Alençon to thank the Queen of England for the Entertainment she gave to the Marshall Montmorency; as also to give her Notice of the Marriage between the King of Navarre, and the Lady Margaret. Dat. at Paris, 21 July, 1572.

268. b.

157. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, that the French King sends a Gentleman to England under pretence of thanking her for the Honour she shewed to his Ambassadors. But that he takes the true End of the Journey to be, to deliver Letters from the Duke d'Alençon to her Majesty. Dat. at Paris, 21 July, 1572.

269.

158. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, desiring that a Scotch-man who had robbed a Portuguese Gentleman in France & fled into England might be pursued and apprehended. Dat. at Paris, 22 July, 1572.

269. b.

159. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer, that by the Overthrow of Janlis, those of the Religion in France who before slept secure, do now see their Danger; and that if the Prince of Orange do not succeed, their Cause is desperate. That they therefore have made application to the King to assist him, or to be employed by him in that Service. That the King of Spain has the Assistance of the Pope, & of other Catholic Princes who have no other Interest in the Netherlands, but that of Religion; and that since the Common Cause is so nearly concerned therein, they have made Application to several of the Princes of Germany to join with France in the Support of the Prince of Orange & his Party. It is therefore desired that his Lordship would induce the Queen to join with the French King in this behalf. Dat. at Paris, 26 July, 1572.

270.

160. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, giving reasons to induce the Queen to assist the Prince of Orange at this juncture, the Quarrell being mixed, and consisting as well of Religion, as of State. Dat. at Paris, 26 July, 1572. 271.

161. Qu. Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, containing her Instructions for giving her Answer to the French King, whereby she declines the Marriage with the Duke of Alençon, principally by reason of the difference in years between them. Dat. at Theobalds, 23 July, 1572. 272.

162. Qu. Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, containing some further Instructions, with relation to the Marriage. She proposes that the Duke d'Alençon should come into England; and then if they should not like one another, the breaking off of the Match might be imputed to Religion. Dated at Gerambury, 25 July, 1572. 275.

163. The Lord Treasurer to Mr. Walsingham, that the Marriage with the Duke d'Alençon is more hindered by the milking of others, than by the Queens own conceit. He thinks, that by no marriage, all Evils must be looked for; and by marriage without liking, no good can be hoped. Dat. at Gerambury, 27 July, 1572. 277. b.

164. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, concerning the Affairs of the Low-Countries; and of the Queens Progress (sans date, but recd. 2 Aug. 1572.) 278.

165. Mr. Walsingham to the Right Honble Sir Thomas Smith, her Majesties Principal Secretary, that upon Audience had of the King & Queen-Mother, he found them both averse against an Interview of the Queen his Mistress & the Duke d'Alençon, unless they could be assured, that it would produce a liking between them. That it being affirmed that her Majestie had recalled her Subjects who served in the Netherlands, the King was fallen from his Resolution of assisting the Prince of Orange, whose Designs therefore were in great danger of miscarrying. Dat. at Paris, 10 August, 1572. 279.

166. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, that the French Court observing the Coldness of her Majestys Affection towards the Duke of Alençon, intend to persevere in that Overture, which in the End they hope her Majesty will embrace, for the sake of her own Safety. He hopes that Sir Thomas will put to his helping Hand in procuring a stay of the Revocation of her Majesties Subjects from the Low-Countries; which would give the K. of Spain an Opportunity of putting his malicious designs against England in Execution. Dat. from Paris, 10 August, 1572. 282.

167. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer, with more earnestness upon the same Subjects; and acquainting him with the Admirals of France's Sentiments upon the same, and of the dangers which might fall upon her Majesty & her Subjects, in case the Low-Countries were not succoured. Dat. at Paris, 10 August, 1572. 283.

168. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, touching the same Matters; and that the Admiral of France affirms that shortly some Offer shall be made of Flushing to her Majesty, by those who are now possessed of it. Dat. at Paris, 10 August, 1572. 285.

169. Qu. Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, a Letter of Instructions concerning the coming over of the Duke d'Alençon into England, now desired by the French Court; and that he should set forth how loath she is to yield to it. Dat. at Killingworth, 22 August, 1572. 287.

170. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, playing upon the Duke d'Alençon who will not take the pains once to see his Love, but the must first say Yea; before either he see her, or the him; with several jocular Reasons for his coming. That her Majesty has not recalled her Subjects from Flushing or Flanders; but only hindered others from going thither, for fear of too much Disorder, for lack of some wife & expert Captain. Dat. at Killingworth, 22 August, 1572. 289. b.

171. The Lord Treasurer to Mr. Walsingham, that the Prince of Oranges Governor of Flushing is corrupted and become Spanish; that the Tower of Edinburgh is at the direction of the Regent, and the Rebels of Ireland overcome. Dat. at Killingworth, 22 August, 1572. 291.

172. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, that he sent his Secretary to thank the King of France & the Queen-Mother for the particular Care they took of him, & of all the English, during the last Tumult (the Massacre) which they said, they did, as tending to the Preservation of the good Amity between the Two Crowns. He also transmits the Account of the said Tumult, which was delivered to him by Monsieur Picard the French Secretary of State. Also that the Duke of Nevers had shewed great kindness to him & other English Gentlemen. Dat. at Paris, 27 August, 1572. 291. b.

173. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, acquainting him, that the King had declared to him that Necessity, & the Safety of his Life, his Mother, &c. had obliged him to do execution on the Admirall & other Conspirators, whose Process was drawing, and when finished, should be transmitted to the Queen of England. With whom he was resolved to continue in perfect Amity. That now the Heads of the Religion being taken off, the others should enjoy the Benefit of the Edict. And that he was sorry for the Murder of 3 English & the Spoil of others which happened during the Tumult. Dat. 2 September, 1572. 292. b.

174. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, that the French King violates his promise, touching the Liberties of the meaner Protestants; who have been barbarously executed at Lions, Bourdeaux, & Orleans, to the great dissatisfaction of the Catholics, who find that they cannot trust in this Government. That the Bastile is preparing for some Persons of Quality, supposed to be the Prince of Condé & his Brethren. That the Marshall de Montmorencie is ordered to keep in his House at Chantilly. And that the King being advertised that the Duke of Alva is frightened by the Prince of Orange, intends to send a Force to support him. Dat. at Paris, 12 September, 1572. 294.

175. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, giving an Account of what passed at a late Audience he had of the Queen-Mother, who desired to know his Scruples against the Marriage of the Queen his Mistress to the Duke d'Alençon. And of the Queen-Mothers declaration that the King her Son would not permit the Protestants the publick Exercise of their Religion. Also, that la Roche, who was employed in the Enterprize of Ireland, is gone to Rochell. Dat. at Paris, 14 September, 1572. 295.

176. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, that the Queen-Mother extremely desires the Interview; and to that end the King would have Her, & the Duke d'Alençon to go to Bulloigne or Callais, and the Queen of England to Dover. How affectionately that Duke sent his Compliments to her Majesty, and thanks for the Honors she shewed to la Mole his Servant, who brought his Letters to her. That the Lord Levingston and other Scots Gentlemen, desire Passports to go for England; and upon this late Massacre, to desire that perfect Amity might be established between England & Scotland. Also that some of the wiser sort, with that the Earl of Morton & the Lord Liddington might be reconciled, and that her Majesty might bind some of the Scots Nobilitie to Her by Penfions; which might save her much more Money, & prevent some dangerous Enterprises from that side. Lastly, that the French King shews more than ordinary Kindness to the Scots. Dat. at Paris, 14 September, 1572. 299.

177. Mr.

177. Mr. Walsingham to Sr. Thomas Smith, advertising him of the Prince of Orange's Victory over the Duke of Alva, near Mons. That after the Queen-Mothers Speeches on Friday, that nobodies Conscience should be forced, &c. the Prince of Condé, & the young Princefle were forced to hear Mass, or go to Prison, where in all likelihood they would be soon murdered; as one Roullart a Canoine of Notre-dame & Councillor in the Parliament, a Catholique, was lately; for speaking against such lawless proceedings. That the King hopes soon to be possessed of Rochell; and then would send upon an Enterprize in Scotland meaning to wear out the Hugonots in conquering of Foreign Countreys. Dat. at Paris, 16 September, 1572.

178. A Letter from some of the Lords of her Majesties Privie Council, to Mr. Walsingham, advertising him of the Audience which the French Ambassador had of the Queen, in what manner he declard the occasion of the Massacre of Paris; and what Answer he received from her Majesty. With directions for declaring her Majesties Thoughts thereupon to the French King, & his Mother. Dat. at Woodstocke, 9 September, 1572.

179. The Lord Treasurer to Mr. Walsingham, shewing that the fair Speeches & Excuses of the French Ambassador were not much credited here: and that since Strozzi was equipping out a Fleet, it was resolved to fit out her Majesties Navy, and to putt the whole Coasts in Defence. He also desires a List of the chief Protestants who were murdered, and who escaped. Dat. at Woodstocke, 19 September, 1572.

180. The Lord Treasurer to Mr. Walsingham, that at length he had obtain'd a Letter from her Majesty to the French King to licence his Return to England. Dat. at Woodstocke, 12 Sept. 1572.

181. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, deploring the Inhumanity of the Paris-Massacre, and shewing his Detestation of the French King, if found in that diabolical contrivance. But shewing that her Majesty would assist him (if need should be) with 20,000 of her best Subjects, in case he was imposed upon in that Matter by the Enemies of the late Admirall, & of the Protestant Party. Dat. 11 September, 1572.

182. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, lamenting because of the late barbarous Massacre, wherein he believes the share the King had therein was premeditated. He writes farther that the English Merchants dare not go over to the approaching Vintage, and that the Trade at Roan, is almost at an end. Dat. at Woodstocke, 12 Sept. 1572.

183. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, that her Majesty has been, at length, prevailed with, to write to the French King for his return. And that care is taken for the Defence of the Kingdome. Dat. at Woodstocke, 12 September, 1572.

184. Mr. Walsingham to the Lords of her Majesties most honorable Privie Council, containing his particular Speeches to, and answers received from the French King, and Queen-Mother. That there are private Consultations among the Ministers of divers Popish Princes. That Strozzi's Expedition seems to be delayed, as long as Rochell holds out. That there is a Report that the French King meaneth to succour the Duke of Alva. And that the Amity of France should not be too much relied upon. Dat. at Paris, 24 September, 1572.

185. Mr. Walsingham to the Lords of her Majesties Privie Council, concerning the surrender of Mons to the Prince of Orange, and of a report of a likelihood of an Accord between him & the Duke of Alva; which was not well relished by the Court of France. Dat. at Paris, 25 Sept. 1572.

Num. 260.

186. Queen Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, commanding him to remonstrate to the French King, how little his continued Practices to root out the Protestant Religion (which she professes) throughout his Kingdom, suits with his Overtures for Marriage between her and his Brother. To desire to know plainly whither the Fleet fitted up & commanded by Strozzi, is meant; and to complain of certain violences committed upon some English Merchants, by the same. And likewise to present to the French King a Letter from her Majesty, in behalf of the Vidame of Chartres, who lately came to her, and on whom she has great Compassion. Dat. at Reading, 28 Sept. 1572.

187. Her Majesties Answer to the French Ambassadors Message to be communicated by Mr. Walsingham to the French King, viz. as to these 3 points. 1. The said King's Verification of the Admirall's Conspiracies against him, his Mother, & Brothers, for which only he pretended to putt him to Death. 2. The continuance of the Amity between the two Crowns. 3. The Marriage between her Majesty & the Duke of Alençon; to promote with the Queen-Mother of France offers to come over into England, and to bring her Son along with her.

188. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, bemoaning the pittifull Case of those butchered in many great Cities of France, whose innocent blood, he says, cries out for Vengeance. He writes farther, that the two opposite parties in Scotland are not like to agree. That Strozzi's seamen use our Merchants, as Pirates would do. That there are hopes of compassing the greatest Matter for the security of her Majesty & her People: (viz. the Execution of the Q. of Scots). And that her Majesty is in great care for his (Mr. Walsingham's) welfare at this difficult juncture. Dat. at Reading, 27 September, 1572.

189. The Copie of the Queens Majesties Letter to the French King for the Vidame de Chartres. Dat. at Windfor, 28 September, 1572.

190. The Lord Treasurer to Mr. Walsingham, concerning the inhuman Massacre of the Protestants at Roan, done by order of the French King. Dat. at Reading, 25 September, 1572.

191. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham desiring him to help him to a Rider, (one that can manage the great Horse?) if he can find a fit person. Dat. at Reading, 26 September, 1572.

192. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, containing an account of his proceedings as to her Majesties Answer abovementioned, viz. in § 187. And of other doings of the French. Dat. at Paris, 8 October, 1572.

193. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, concerning the dangers threatening England, from the Papists, and the incertain continuance of the French Amity with England. With Hints of the best way to remove the French & other Councils from Scotland, to procure Union among the Scots, and to secure her Majesties Person & Government. (i. e. by executing the Queen of Scots) Dat. at Paris, 8 October, 1572.

194. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer, much to the same purpose. Dat. at Paris, 8th of October, 1572.

195. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, upon the same subjects, and recommending two Officers to her Majesties Service, since that by the Prince of Orange's retiring from the Low Countries, her Enemies will have the better Opportunity of putting their malicious Designs against her in execution. Dat. at Paris, 8 October, 1572.

196. Answers

Num. 260.

196. Answers to the French Ambassador given by word of mouth by my Lord Treasurer, in the Council-Chamber, 3 October, 1572. 346.

197. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, that he believes the Dean of Winchester, whom he had placed about Mr Philip Sidney, to take care of him in his Travells, is deceaf'd. And therefore desires his Lordship to provide accordingly. Dated at Paris, 17 October, 1572. 348. b.

198. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, that the Queen is recover'd, (as the Physicians said) from the Small Pox; though she and others say she had not that Distemper; which, whatever it was, has left no marks on her Face. He includes within this, an Account of du Crocques Negotiation in Scotland, from whence he is returning. And thinks the Massacre in France, induce the Scots Nobility to draw nearer to an Agreement between themselves. Dat. at Windfor, 13 October, 1572. 349.

199. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, advertising of some private practises, and consultations between the French Court, and the House of Guise, some Scotch Nobility, & English dependants on the late Earl of Northumberland; as it was supposed in behalf of the Queen of Scots. He also desires Sr. Thomas to recommend his Secretary to her Majesties Favor. Dat. at Paris, 28 October, 1572. 350. b.

200. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, in answer to his last, and declaring his Suspicions of the French upon the score of their present plausible dealing, And shewing how extreme kind that Court was to the Admiral and his Party, for a few Days before the Massacre. Dat. at Paris, 25 Oct. 1572. 351. b.

201. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, that he had communicated the same Answers, as were lately given by word of mouth to the French Ambassador in England (vid. supra § 196.) to the Queen-Mother, and shews what she replied thereupon. As also that the English Marchants Ships after being forbidden to touch a Rochell, were discharged. Dat. at Paris, 25 October, 1572. 352.

202. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, that the French Queen was brought to bed of a daughter, and that some hours after, two Protestant Gentlemen were hanged by Torch light, upon Account of the late pretended Conspiracie (whereof many of the Catholics themselves acquitted them) the King and Royall Family looking on. That the King was grown more bloudy-minded since the late Executions; so that the Queen-Mother had much ado to stay him from a second general Massacre of all such as had ever been of the Religion. He relates the Speeches used by him at his Audiences of Congratulation, with the Answers he received to the same. That the Amity between Spain & France seems never to have been greater than now. That there is a project of a Match between the young King of Scots, and this new-born Princefs, to congratulate whose birth the French Court expect that her Majesty should send some person exprefs. Dat. at Paris, 1 November, 1572. 354. b.

203. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer, that there being now less fear from the side of Spain than before, it is thought that the French King's cruelty towards the Protestants would rather encrease than abate. Dat. at Paris, 1 November, 1572. 357.

204. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, concerning the French King's severity, his Amity with Spain, & his Conjecture, that if France thus ruins itself, she will also endeavour to ruin some of her Neighbours. Dat. at Paris, 1 November, 1572. 358.

205. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, that the Scots seem to agree better among themselves, now that de Crocque & Viracque are departed from thence. Dat. at Windfore, 30 October, 1572. 358. b.

206. The Lord Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, a dark Letter, perhaps relating to the Overture of Marriage between the Queen & the Duke d'Alanson. That the Regent of Scotland was reported to be dead; and that it was feared that the young King would be conveyed away. The Queen's Answer to the Motion of the French Ambassador, that she would christen the young Princefs of France with her own Name, and to send the Earl of Leicester and himself thither. 359. b.

207. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, concerning the Rider whom he had desired Mr. Walsingham to procure for him. That all things are in quiet; and that not liking his present Cypher, he would frame a new one, & send it to him. Dat. at Windfor, 27 October, 1572. 360. b.

208. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, referring him for more weighty business to the Lord Treasurer's Letters. That if the Emperor be dead, he thinks it will be better for the Protestants. And desires him to countenance Benedic't Spinola (the best Italian he knows in England) as far as he can. Also that upon his repeated desires to be recalled, her Majesty, will appoint either Mr. Francis Carewe, or Mr. Henry Cobham, to succeed him. Dat. 2 November, 1572. 361. b.

209. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, that Standen was lately arrived by Post out of Flanders, & after secret Conferences with the Scotch Ambassador, returned again as speedily; that the said Ambassador has had private Audiences of the Queen-Mother, at unusual Times. And that from divers words he left fall, it may be guessed that there are some Practises in Hand in favour of the Queen of Scots. Especially since the Spanish Ambassador, who came upon pretence of congratulating the French Queen's delivery, has a Commission to treat secretly, for bringing the King into the League; for a Marriage between Monsieur and the Infanta; and for the Queen of Scott's deliverie. And that the Germans do not like that the Emperors second Son should be elected King of Poland, lest that thereby the house of Austria should grow too powerfull. Dat. at Paris, 12 November, 1572. 363.

210. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, a dark Letter, relating to a person sent over to her Matie. (and mentioned in former Letters) with some Overtures, perhaps for her Marriage. Dat. at Paris, 13 November, 1572. 364.

211. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, recommending Monfr. Mansfire whom the French King appoints to go into England, to desire her Majesty to be Gossip to his Daughter, jointly with the Emperess, and the Duke of Savoy. That a Legate is expected there soon, to induce the King to subscribe to the last Council of Trent; and to suffer a Crusado to be levied in his Dominions, for maintenance of the War against the Turk. Dat. at Paris, 20 November, 1572. 365.

212. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, condemning the cruelties of the French King, and that the Queen has lately been troubled with some small fits of the Mother; which yet had occasioned great Bruits. Dat. . . . November, 1572. 366.

213. The Lord Treasurer to Mr. Walsingham relating to the Partie mentioned in n^o. 210. whom the English Court is still very suspicious of. 367.

214. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, setting forth the French Kings inclination, & practises to embroyl Matters in Scotland; and therefore advising that her Majesty might allow Penions to some of the Scots Nobility; and that the Amity of France being grown doubtfull; would have the French Ambassador treated with accustomed kindness & civility, and yet her Majesty to be upon her Guard. Dat. at Paris, 27 November, 1572. 367. b.

215. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, that many Mischiefs are brewing by France & England. And that Manefire is it over only to abuse her Majestie. Dat. at Paris, 26 November, 1572. 368. b.

216. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, that the Rochellers have taken the life of Rees, with some Ships of Bretagne; and of the Kings resolution to besiege Rochell. How hatefull the French are grown in Germany since the Massacres of the Protestants; and how unacceptable the Election of the Elector of Brandenburg to be King of Poland, would be to the French Court; where they do all they can to persuade the World, that the coming of the Legate thither is not pleasing to them. Dat. at Paris, 5 December, 1572. 369. b.

217. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, touching the French Kings praides in Scotland; where, since the Lord Regens death, the Queen of Scots partie is grown by far the stronger; especially by the accession of the Earls of Argyle & Atholl. As also his suspicion that they are contriving to steal that Queen out of Prison. Also, that before Messieurs Bickequemaunt & Canages (mentioned in N^o. 212.) before they were executed, were caused to subscribe to certain Blanks, which are now filled up with such Matter as may best prove that there was a Conspiracie. Which Blanks to filled up, they have sent into Germany, to shew some of the Princes there, for the better justifying the late Massacres. Dat. at Paris, 5 December, 1572. 371.

218. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, concerning the Rochellers taking the life of Rees; and the Report of the Queen of Scots partie in Scotland being stronger than that adhering to the King her Son. Of the Mischiefs that may grow to her Majestie from that side, which may be prevented, unless too much sparing hinder. Dat. at Paris, 5 December, 1572. 372.

219. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer, that the Affairs transacted by the Legat at the French Court are kept very secret. And that to disguise things, the said Legate and the Spanish Ambassador have little communication together, but that another person goes daily between them. That the Duke of Savoy is come to Paris, which shews as if the Amity between France & Spaine is likely to grow great. That the Turks preparations make them & the Venetians grow uneasy, and to endeavour to put off the same. Dat. 5 December, 1572. 373.

220. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer, of the Encrease of the Protestants in Languedoc both in Number and Power; and of the Kings resolution of marching against them. Of the Arrival of a Person from the Duke of Bavaria, as it is thought to induce the King to enter into the League; and to proceed in rooting out those of the Religion. Dat. at Paris, 10 Decbr. 1572. 374.

221. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, of the ill Success of the Rochellers; that the Duke de Guise has raised some Souldiers, and is come to Court. Of the Turks naval preparations, and his commending the Emperor for keeping his Word. Dat. at Paris, 18 Decbr. 1572. 374. b.

222. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer, that one article of the Legate's Instructions, is earnestly to recommend the Queen of Scots Cause to the French King; and to devise with him some Means for her deliverie, whereby England may be reduced to the Catholique Faith. That the French Ambassador in England having advertised that that Queen is likely to be executed, her Friends say it would be advisable to stay such English Noblemen as shall be sent to the Christening, as a Pledge for her Safety. That a Messenger has been sent to Edinburgh, to promise those in the Castle, that if they can hold it till Whitsonde, he shall have Assisfance from the Pope, Spain, & France. Dat. at Paris, 8th December, 1572. 376.

223. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, concerning a Composition likely to grow between the French King and the Rochellers; for want of their meeting with foreign Assisfance. Dat. 18 December, 1572. 377.

224. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer, rehearsing the 3 chief Articles of the Composition proposed to be between the King & the Rochellers, the hope of which makes the Court very merry; as being a precedent fit for other Towns to follow. Dat. at Paris, 18 December, 1572. 377. b.

225. Queen Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, containing her answer made to Monsr. Manafere the French Kings Messenger, touching the continuance of the Amity between both Crowns; her being Godmother to the Royal Infant; and the Request of Marriage with the Duke of Alençon. 378.

226. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, that Monsr. de Manafere was honorably received at the English Court. That after the Death of the Earl of Marre, the Earl of Morton is chosen Regent of Scotland, and labours to unite the opposite Parties. He also desires to know what is said in France, of the new Appearance of a Starre, over the backside of Cassiopeia's Chaire. Dat. at Hampton-Court, 11 December, 1572. 380.

227. The Lord of Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, perhaps relating to a talk of the Duke d'Alanson's coming to England. Dat. at Westminster, 11 December, 1572. 382. b.

228. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, that there being no hope of getting Rochelle by Composition, means are concerting for obtaining the same by Force. But men cannot for that end be now levied in Switzerland, by reason of an Inhibition made at the last Diet. That the King therefore applieth himself to the German Princes, from whom though he has received many a churlish Answer, he nevertheless continues to court them. That there are hopes from Poland of Monsieur's being elected King there. That the King hath ordered Repristals to be made upon the Venetians upon the Account of certain Ships taken by them; and that he is displeased with the Earl of Morton's being made Regent of Scotland. Dat. at Paris, 22 December, 1572. 383.

229. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, chiefly to the same effect; as also, that the French Court will not be persuaded but that the Rochellers are encouraged by her Majestie to hold out the City. Dat. at Paris 22 December, 1572. 384. b.

230. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, concerning (as I suppose) the Duke of Alençons coming over: the Cardinal of Lorraine's promise to the Pope, that the French King should enter into the League. And that it is thought that the chiefest part of the Duke of Savoy's business in France, is, not only to make a Complaint against Geneva; but to conclude a freighter Amity between France and Spain, by a Marriage between Monsieur, and the Infanta. Dat. at Paris, 22 December, 1572. 385. b.

231. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, relating the particulars declared at a late Audience he had of the King, (in pursuance of her Majesties Letters above-mentioned, N^o. 225.) and his Majesties Answers, with divers other Matters of less Note. Dat. at Paris, 25 Decr. 1572. 386. b.

Num. 260.

232. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, concerning the State of those of the Religion in Languedoc, and at Rochelle; against whom Monsieur, & Monsieur le Duc his brother, are to be sent; accompanied by the King of Navarre, & the Prince of Conde. That Carpenter has written a Latin Vindication of the late Massacre; many Copies of which are sent into Germany & Poland; in which last Countrey, those Barbarities (as it was thought) would prove a great Obstacle to Monsieur's Election. Dat. at Paris, 2 Jan. 1572.

233. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, setting forth the Complaint of the French Court that some English Mariners are on board several Ships belonging to those of the Religion. He declines to write to her Majesty to endeavour an Agreement between the King & the Rochellers. And shews how little regard to Justice the French use (contrary to their repeated fair Promises) in the cause of the English Merchants, who lost their Goods in the late troubles. Dat. at Paris, 11 Jan. 1572.

234. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, concerning a Rider whom his Lordship (in former Letters) desired Mr. Walsingham to procure for him. Dat. at Paris, 11 Jan. 1572.

235. Mr. Walsingham to the Lords of her Majesties Privy Council, concerning the want of will in the French to redress the wrongs suffered by our Merchants, and others, during the late Massacres; and particularly in the case of a person recommended to him by their Lordships in October last. Dat. at Paris, 23 January, 1572.

236. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, that the Queen has now, at length, promised to recall him at Easter. That the Earl of Worcester, appointed to represent her Majesty at the Christening of the French Princes, has ample Instructions; and is ordered to communicate the same to him. Dat. at Hampton-Court, 12 January, 1572.

237. The Lord of Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, concerning his Revocation, which it was hoped would be effected in a short Time. Dat. at Westminster, 12 January, 1572.

238. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, concerning his Revocation, which this business of the Marriage with the Duke of Alençon (it seems) does retard. For her Majesty has declared that she did not think it fit to employ Dr. Dale (who was appointed to succeed him) in this Affair; wherein she believed the French Court would not deal so frankly with him, as with Mr. Walsingham. He is also directed to found out the Bottom of the French designs as to this Affair: since what they have already done therein, shews as if their Meaning was not sincere. That the Lord of Worcester, a Roman Catholic, is to stand for her Majesty at the Christening; but desires his advice in all things belonging to his Charge. Dat. 12 January, 1572.

239. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, that since the Cardinal of Lorraine is returned from Rome, the Management of the affairs of Scotland is entrusted to him; who makes many of the Scots Nobility great Offers & Promises. Dat. at Paris, 21 January, 1572.

240. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer, concerning the loose kind of dealing used by the French; which raises many suspensions. The matter seems chiefly to relate to their overtures for the Queen's marrying with the Duke of Alençon. Dat. at Paris, 20 January, 1572.

241. Mr. Walsingham, to the Earl of Leicester, that the French Court are grown sick of him, so that they chuse rather to deal in the business (of the Marriage?)

in England. And that they make great Offers to those of the Queen of Scots Party in Scotland. Dat. at Paris, 20. January. 1572.

242. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer, advertising that a secret Council had been held by the Queen-Mother, at which none else were present but the Cardinal of Lorraine, and two others. The Matter in debate was, how the intestine troubles of France might be appeased; and 'twas thought this could not be brought to pass, without employing England. That upon this, they formed a Plot, to send over Forces into Scotland; to lull the French Protestants at Rochell, &c. asleep for a time; and to release the Queen of Scots out of Prison, by force. They being assured that a very strong Party in England would assist them. Dat. at Paris, 14 January, 1572.

243. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, that a Servant of the late Cardinal Chastillon is put to death for conspiring to betray the City of Rochell; and that he confess'd that he paysoned his Master, in England. So that it seem'd as if the Design of the Massacres had been long laid. Sir Thomas says that the English Astronomers do not agree with the French, as to the place of the new Star (vid. supra, N^o. 226.) but that since 'twas above the highest of the Sphere of Venus, 'twas plain that now 'things above the Moon doe rise & die, which was never believed before. Dat. at Hampton-Court, 13 January, 1572.

244. Part of the Lord Treasurers Letter to Sir Thomas Smith, touching the Interview, between the Queen-Mother of France, & Qu. Elizabeth, and such things as have pass'd, for a Marriage, with the Duke of Alençon.

245. The Lord of Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, owning the receipt of two French Books, the one being a Translation of that written by Carpenter the Apollita (and mentioned, N^o. 232.) the other written chiefly against the Lord Keeper and himself. From whose false aspersions his Lordship vindicates himself with remarkable Expressions, and desires Mr. Walsingham to find out the Author, if possible; or to desire the Queen-Mother to cause the Printer to be punished. Dat. 14 January, 1572.

246. Instructions for the Earle of Worcester, relating to the christening of the young French Princes; the stop put to the Commerce of our Merchants in France, by reason of the unbridled Fury of the Populace, & lack of Justice; the Troubles in Scotland; & the Queen of Scots. Dat. at Hampton-Court, 11 Jan. 1572.

247. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, shewing his Suspensions that the Marriage between Queen Elizabeth and the Duke d'Alençon, propos'd by the French, is but a practise to gain time, for the present, and to abuse her at the last. He also acquaints Mr. Walsingham, that many times his Messengers are apprised of the Letters they carry; and have discovered the same to such as are no Counsellors; and of the consequences thereof. Dat. 18 January, 1572.

248. The Earl of Leicester to Mr. Walsingham, answering some former Letters rec'd by him. Dat. 29 January, 1572.

249. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, to shew to the French King how that the Scots are broken out again into open Wars, in defiance of him & of her Majesty, who had taken so much pains with them; and therefore he determined to deliver up Heun-Castell, & Faulkes-Castles, into the Hands of such as should be on the part of the young King, and for the peace of their Countrey; and not to their former owners.

250. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, in answer to that at N^o. 247. Dat. 6 Febr. 1572.

251. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, that Viracque is landed in Scotland, in order to augment the troubles troubles in that Country; and desiring a Passport for the Lord Levingstone to come thro' England in his way to Scotland; his Lordship promising in lieu of that favor, to discover several Secrets of importance to her Majesty. And still desires to be recalled. Dat. at Paris 6 Febr. 1572.

252. The Lord of Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, partly in dark phrases (as I suppose with relation to the French negotiating in England the Marriage with the Duke of Alençon) and partly relating to the secret Designs of the French, mentioned in N^o 242. which advertisements were confirmed here by divers occurrences. My Lord still shews his dislike of the French Book lately written against him. And advises Mr. Walsingham, if he cannot follow the Court (for lack of Furniture, Money, & Credit, as he declares, in N^o 251.) to lodge in some safe place near Paris, and upon some pretence, to send his Secretary. Dat. at Westminster.

251. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, that he had given a Passport for one to bring a Box of Linnen to the Queen of Scots. He thinks some of that Linnen may have writing upon it, and therefore advises, that after it is seized, it be held to the Fire, whereby the Writing may become legible. Dat. 11 Febr. 1572.

254. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord of Burleigh, setting forth the Earl of Worcester's dutiful & discreet demeanour, in refusing to see a servant sent to him by the Lady Northumberland his sister. Dat. at Paris, 12 Febr. 1572.

255. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, relating the particular discourses used on either side, at the Audiences of leave which the Earl of Worcester had of the French King, and of his Mother. Dat. 12 Febr. 1572.

256. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, relating the success of the Kings Army before Rochelle, and touching at his Councils for continuing the War; to which end Monsieur Schomberg is sent into Germany, to levy Men there; if there be any appearance of the Protestant Princes inclination to succour Rochelle. Dat. at Paris, 26 Febr. 1572.

257. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, concerning the good success of those of the Religion besieged in Rochelle & Sanferra. And that a Letter from Count Lodowick has been intercepted, promising the Rochellers succour from Germany; which makes the French uneasy. Dat. at Paris, 10 March, 1572.

258. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer, with some great News (inclosed therein) to the Advantage of the French Kings Interest. He does not entirely Credit it, tho' it be affirmed with Oaths. Dat. 17 Marche, 1572.

259. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, that his Revocation is at length signed, according to his desire and Dr. Dale is to succeed him. That Her Majestie has sent to apprehend the Pyrates of all Nations, who under pretence of Commissions from the Prince of Orange, & Count Montgomerie, have spoiled many, as well English as others. That Virarque who was sent by France to keep the Scots still in dissention, has been forced by contrary Winds into Scarborough, & coming to London. During his stay there, some of the Scots Nobility have come in to the Lord Regent's Party. But that the others still hold Edinburgh-Castle & the young King so obstinately, that there is no hope of their Surrender. That a Servant of Virarque has been taken in Scotland, whose coming thither was under a feigned Pretence; but really to throw most part of his Masters Papers into the sea, which he has done. An instance of the French sincerity! That the Lord Levingstone is come to London, but not yet trusted; some words having fallen from him and his Companions in the way, which have not fallen to the Ground. Dat. from Greenwich, 19 March, 1572.

260. The Lord of Burleigh to Mr. Walsingham, relating the Proposals of the French Ambassador, at a late Audience had of her Majestie, and her Majesties Answer to the same, which putt the French in mind of particular Matters of Fact (and of the highest Importance) which she had kindly done to the French King, for preserving the Amity concluded between them. As to the repeated Proposal for the Marriage between her Majestie and the Duke of Alençon, she directed his Lordship to give her Answer to Mr. Walsingham, by him to be communicated to the French King. My Lord gives his Opinion touching that Affair, and desires Mr. Walsingham (after necessary sounding the Minds of the French Court) to send him his. Lastly, that he is informed from Scotland, that one Gordon is reputed to be the Author of the Book, (mentioned N^o 245, & 252. and desires him to find out the Truth thereof. Dat. on Good-Friday at Night, 20 March 1572.

4. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer, relating the particulars mentioned at a late Audience had of the Queen-Mother, in pursuance of the Lord Treasurers Letter, N^o 260. Dat. at Monelle, 1 April, 1573.

5. Mr. Walsingham to the Lord Treasurer giving his private Opinion touching the Marriage between the Queen & the Duke d'Alençon; which, as he thinks, will take no Effect. Dat. 1 April, 1573.

6. Mr. Walsingham to Sir Thomas Smith, communicating to him the late Occurrences happening in France, Germany, &c. Dat. 1 April, 1573.

7. Mr. Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, relating some part of the News contained in the Letter above, and shewing that he has provided a Rider for him in Italy. Dat. 1 April, 1573.

8. Sir Thomas Smith to Mr. Walsingham, that Doctor Dale is in his way to succeed him. That Matters go well in Scotland, none now refusing to obey the King & the Regent, but Lyddington & Graunge, who still keep in the Castle of Edinburgh. Dat. 17 March, 1572.

9. The Lord Treasurer to Mr. Walsingham, concerning the Occasion of writing the Letters N^o 261, & 262, of the Severity used by her Majestie towards Count Montgomerie Men & Sh.pps, using the men as Pirates, & the Goods, as gotten by Piracy; as an argument of her adhering to the Amity concluded between both Crowns. That James Fitz-Morris the Irish Rebell, having submitted himself with all his Sequell, Munster is now free from Rebellion. Also that the lewd book written against him, (vid. N^o 260) is now brought over, and therefore desires him to take what Care he can to gett it suppressed in France. Dat. at Greenwich, 30 March, 1573.

10. Queen Elizabeth to Mr. Walsingham, being her Letter of Revocation; and authorizing him to recommend Dr. Valentine Dale, one of the Masters of the Requests Extraordinary his Successor, to all fitting persons; to communicate to him all Secrets or Advices as may be meet for her Service; and to deliver to him all Plate, Furniture, &c. of Hers,

11. Réponse fait aux Messieurs les Ambassadeurs de France, 20me Augst, 1573, concerning the Marriage. 450.
- 1 I suppose that this book contains a transcript of part of those Papers of State, which by order of Council, A. D. . . . was taken from Mr. Ralph Starkey. Perhaps he had notice beforehand or such an Order, and therefore caused these (with many more) to be transcribed with all speed. And to this halt, I ascribe the many Errors of the Writers found in these Collections. And it is plain by the Vacancies at the bottom of fol. 10. fol. 340. b. fol. 394. b. fol. 419. b. fol. 443. b. and divers other places of this book, that several Writers were employed about the writing it, at the same time.

A Book consistig of Original Papers, & Letters, relating to the Negotiations of Sir Thomas Wyatt Embassador from K. Henry viii. to the Emperor, viz.

1. Sir Thomas Wyatts Transcript in long hand, of the Kings Letter written to him in Cyfre (vid. fol. 17.) and Dat. at Westminster, 22 February, anno Regni 29. wherby it appears that the Old Amity between the Emperor and K. Henry was renewed. The King commands Sr. Thomas to persuade the Emperor to write to him that he will stick to his former Promises, relating to France, & to the General Councill summoned by the Pope, to be held at Vincenza. That the Emperors Ambassadors in England seemed to accept of the Overture for the Lady Mary (the Kings Daughter) to be given in marriage to Don Loys of Portugal, with 100000 Crowns Portion, and she not to succeed to the Crown of England, but after all other the Kings lawfull Children, born or to be born. And Don Loys to have the Dutchy of Millaine. Also, that they in like manner accepted of the Overture for marriage to be had between Prince Edward & one of the Emperors daughters; and of the Princess Elizabeth to one of the King of the Romans Sons, or to one of the Sons of Savoye. 1.

2. The King to Mr. Pate Arch-deacon of Lincoln & his Ambassador Resident with the Emperor, (predecessor to Sir Thomas Wyatt; this being the last Letter he recd from the King before Sir Thomas's coming) That the Emperors Ambassador here desired that the old Amities between the Emperor & himself might be renewed. With some other Motions, viz. for his Reconciliation with the Pope; for the Legitimation of the Lady Marie, and that she might have some place in the Succession. And that he would contribute toward the Emperors Wars with the Turk. And for present aid against the French King (who threatens the Duchy of Millaine) according to the purport of the League concluded between them. The King communicates his Answer made to these Overtures, wherein he says, that "He made him" (i. e. the Emperor Charles v.) "first, King of Spayne thenne Emperour, whenne the Empire was at his Disposition; and after, lent to him his Money; so that he" (the Emperor) "maye only thanke him for the Honour he is now advanced unto," &c. At the End of this Letter, in Cifer, the King desires him to promote the Amity now about to be renewed, as far as he can (The Key of this Cifer is at fol. 11.) Dat. at Greenwich, 25 April, ann. Regni, 28.

3. The King to Sir Thomas Wyatt, commanding him to thank the Emperor for his kind Entertainment of Sir John Dudley. And in Conference with Monsieur de Grandeville, or Monsr. Cobus, to lett fall some speech, as of himself, touching his wishes that he (the King) would marry, as that the Imperial Court may be thereby induced to offer him the Dutchess of Millain, "whom" "percase, he" (the King) "may honor by Marriage; her Vertue, Qualities, and Behavior beyng reported to be such, as is worthe to be moche advanced." Dat. at Westminster, 22 Janr. ann. Regni, 29.

4. The Original Letter, from whence that at n^o. 1. above was transcribed. 17.

5. The King to Sir Thomas Wyatt, desiring him to procure the Emperor to refer his Differences with the French King, to His (King Henries) Arbitration. But that herein he will not be joyned with the Pope, or be concerned with him. He would have the Emperor to prorogue the General Council summoned by the Pope to Cambray, or some other such indifferent Place. In Case the Emperor will comply with him, he will give him assistance for his Wars with the Turk. Dat. at Westminster, 15 February. 22.

6. The King to Sir Thomas Wyatt, that the Emperors Ambassadors having desired him to appoint Commissioners to treat with them, upon divers important Matters, did (at last) own that they had no Commission to treat upon the chiefest point of all, viz. His (the Kings) Marriage with the Dutchess of Millaine, which usage with what followed thereupon, his Majestie somewhat reforms. That then, they conferred about a Marriage between Don Loys Infant of Portugal, & the Lady Mary, with whom the King offered to give 100000 Crowns. He commandeth therefore Sir Thomas to open the whole Communication had here with the Emperors Ambassadors, and to desire him to send a full Commission to them to treat, or else to the Lady Regent of Flanders. But if he cannot effect this, then to induce the Emperor to renew his former Promises, of joyning the King with him, as a Principal Contrahent, in his Treaties with France: and not to give his Consent to any Thing that shall be transacted in the General Council, which may be prejudicial to him, or his Kingdom. Dat. at Westminster, 5 of April, ann. Regni, 29. 26.

7. The King to Sir Thomas Wyatt, that he has sent Doctor Haynes & Doctor Bonner to the Emperor, to open certain Affairs to him; and therefore directs him to peruse their Instructions, and to advance their Business as far as he can. Dat. at Westminster, 7 April, ann. Regni, 29. 32. b.

8. The King to Sir Thomas Wyatt, commanding him to offer his Mediation for a Peace between His Imperial Majestie and the French King. As also to shew out the Truth of the Emperors inclinations towards him; i. e. whether he do indeed love him so well as he pretends to do. Dat. at Hampton Court, 10 October, ann. Regni, 29. 34.

9. The King to Sir Thomas Wyatt, requiring him to give the Emperor Thanks for his kind Entertainment of Sir John Dudley his Majesties Ambassador. To offer the Emperor Assistance in his Wars with the Turke, in Case he will accept his Majesties Mediation for a Peace with the French King, and to joyn him as a Principal Contrahent in the Treaty. In which Case, Sir Thomas is instructed, what to treat of on his Majesties Part. Then the King shews, at length, the unreasonablebeness of the Popes pretending to summon a General Council, and especially at Vincenza; and would induce the Emperor by many Arguments, to oppose it; wherein his Majesty would willingly joyn with him. Dat. at Greenwich, 23 December, ann. Regni, 29. 37.

10. The King to Sir Thomas Wyatt, much complaining of the Coldness & Dilatoriness of the Emperors Proceedings, whose practise is, to fecke to his Friends in his Need, and to neglect them when his turn is served. The King therefore, in this weighty Matter of his Marriage, requires a positive Answer. Also that some Barking Preachers who had slandered him in their Pulpits, might be punished; as a Grey Freyre was lately at Rean. Dat. at Westminster, 19 January, ann. Regni, 30. 43.

11. The King to Sir Thomas Wyatt, commanding him to advertise the Emperor that Pole is coming to him, as Legate from the Pope, and therefore to desire him, according to the Tenor of the Treaty of Cambray, not to suffer him to enter within his Dominions; and in case he be entred, to expell him thence, without giving him any Audience; the said Pole, whom his Majestie maintained at his Study, by Exhibition paid out of his own Coffres; with his Family, whom his Majestie had raised from naught to great Honors & Dignities, & Sir Nicholas Carew, &c. having conspired to murder him, the Prince & the Princesses Mary & Elizabeth, and to take upon themselves the whole Rule. Dat. at Westminster, 13 February, anno Regni, 30. 47.

12. The King to Sir Thomas Wyatt, thanking him for his dexterous Care & Pains taken in his Affairs, and ordering him to thank the Emperor for the Refusal he made to the Traitor Pole, to assent to the Censures pronounced by the Pope against him, (the King) and his Subjects. And to complain of the strangeness shewed to the English in the Low-Countries, where upon a small pretext, our Merchants Ships were arrested: and divers incivilities done to the English Ambassadors at Brussels. That there was a sudden Rumour spread through Germany, Spain, & other Parts, that the Emperor, the French King, & other Princes, by the Instigation of the Pope, were forthwith to invade England. Where, in the height of these Rumors, the Emperors Ambassador, suddenly desired leave to depart, without shewing any Letters, but only faying it was the Queen of Hungaries (the Governes of the Low-Countries) commandment. That hereupon, for the Indemnity of our Merchants, he had arrested all Ships belonging to the Low-Countries, or to Spain, where in particular, the English Merchants have been often ill used, through the Means of certain slanderous Preachers. And hereupon to know positively from the Emperor what his Intentions are. And that since the Emperor has declared, that he will not proceed as to the Marriage of the Dutchess of Millain to him, without the Popes Dispensation, &c. that since his Nobility dayly pers him to marry, and Age comes on apace, the Emperor must not think it strange, if he seek that Alliance elsewhere, which he could not have with him. Lastly he tells Sr. Thomas Wyatt that he shall soon be recalled, & succeeded by Mr. Richard Tate. Dat. at Westminster, 10 March, ann. Reg. 30.

13. The King to Sir Thomas Wyatt, Gentleman of his Chamber; Doctor Haynes Dean of Exeter; & Doctor Boner Archdeacon of Leycester; his Ambassadors with the Emperor. That the French King has made to the Bishop of Winchester, his Ambassador at that Court, an Overture for a Marriage to be had between the Duke of Orleans, and the Lady Mary, in hopes that the Emperor would give the Duchy of Millaine with her. That the same Overture had been made to him here by the French Ambassador. But that he had declared that he would not suffer the Pope (to whom the French King had referred the management of all matters in Controversie between himself & the Emperor) to be a Medlar, a Mediator, or a Principal Contrahent, where himself should be a Partie. His Majestie then communicates the Conference between his Commissioners and the French Ambassador, upon the Points of this Marriage, and of a Treatie Artioris Amicitie; previous to which he required that the French King should bind himself by Treatie, never to make peace with the Emperor, but to join him in the same as a principal Contrahent, and likewise never to consent to this Council now indicted by the Pope, or to any other for the future, without his exprels Consent first obtained. Dat. at Hampton-Court, 4 Maye. ann. Reg. 30.

14. The King to Sir Thomas Wyatt, complaining of the Coldness of the Emperours proceedings concerning the Marriage of Ladie Mary his Daughter, with Don Ludoric the Infant of Portugal, propoised by himself. Notwithstanding which, he is willing to enter into Alliance with him, by marrying with the Dutchess Dowager of Millain, upon honorable Conditions; and to enter into a League Offensive & Defensive with the Emperor. He likewise Orders Sir Thomas to propose to the Emperor, the marrying the Lady Mary with the young Duke of Cleves & Juliers, or with the Duke of Urbyue, and to know the Emperours Opinion thereupon. Dat. at Hampton-Court, 28 November. ann. Regni. 30.

15. The King to Sir Thomas Wyatt, being a Letter of Revocation, Mr. Richard Tate being appointed to succeed him. Dat. at Greenwich, 12 Aprill, ann. Regni, 30.

16. A Copie of the Kings Letter (in French) to the Emperor, against Cardinal Pole, who was coming to him in quality of Legate. (vid. supra. N°. 11.) Dat. at Westminster, 13 Febr. ann. Regni, 30.

17. Instructions geven by the Kings Highnes, to his trusty & welbelovéd Servant & Counsellour Sir Thomas Wyot Knight, his Graces Ambassadour with the Emperour, who was sent in Post, by the Emperor to the King, with a Commission; and now sent back by the King with his Answer, viz. that his Majestie declines to marry his Daughter the Lady Mary, with the Infant of Portugal, to whom upon that Condition, the Emperor would give the Duchy of Milaine. 2. To declare the Reasons why His Majestie does not send a Commission for treating of a straiter Amity between them. 3. To shew the Reasons of His Majesties delay, as to the matter of his Marriage with the Dutchess-Dowager of Milaine. 68.

18. Instructions geven by the Kings Highnes to his trusty & welbelovéd Counsaillours Sir Thomas Wiat Knight, & Philip Hoby, oon of his Graces Privie Chamber, to be declared unto the Emperor, the 16th of October, the 30th Yeare of his Graces moost noble Reigne.

That since the Emperor is resolved go in Person against the Turks, the King advises him so to dispose of his Affairs, as that whatsoever may happen, the young Prince of Spain, his Son, may be securely established in his Dominions. 73.

19. Intructions gevin by the Kings Highnes, to his Trusty and Welbelovéd Counsaillour Sir Thomas Wiat Knight, whom his Majestie sendeth at this time into the parties beyond the See, for the purposes ensuing.

i. e. To joyn himself to (Bonner) Bishop-Elect of London the Kings Ambassador to France, & to Mr. Tate his Majesties Ambassador to the Emperor, and then to fish out the Designs & Intentions of the Emperor and of the said French King, and how the Interview between them was brought about. 77.

To shew the Kings joyfullnes at this their Interview, which may bring forth much benefit to Christendome, and to shew that his Majestie has recalled Mr. Tate, in whose Place Sir Thomas is to be his Majesties Ambassador Resident.

To declare the same to the French King.

20. Intructions gevin by the Kings Highnes to his trusty & wel-belovéd Servaunt Thomas Wyat Esq. whom His Majestie sendeth at this time to the Emperour to relyde with him, as his Graces Ambassadour.

i. e. First he is appointed to succeed Mr. Pate his Majesties Chaplain, in his Ambassage to the Emperours Court, since that now the Emperor desires a renovation of the former Amity, after much unkind usage of his Majestie, upon account of his Majesties Divorce from the late Princess-Dowager, the Emperours Aunt. And then to declare the Order, Equity, & Justice of his Majesties Proceedings in that important Affair; together with his kind usage of the Lady Mary, whom his Majestie is willing to match with the Infant of Portugall, and to allow her Succession to the Crown of this Realm, after all his other Legitimate Children. 79.

21. A Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyatt to the King, shewing his Proceedings as to the Apprehension of Robert Brancetour his Majesties Traitor who (as Sr. Thomas declared to the French King) was a Merchants Factor, and having robbed his Master, despaired of returning to England again, and now had most maliciously sett himself to conspire against the King his Master. That at his Apprehension, Brancetour surrendered up himself, and his Papers, to the Provost of Paris, to be putt into the Hands of the Emperor, whom alone he acknowledged for his Master. That after the formal Promises made by the French King, at His Majesties request, they would not deliver up either Brancetour or his Papers and Writings to him. That upon the Audience he had of the Emperor concerning him, the Emperor declared that this Brancetour had done him great Service, in taking upon him his Commission of Envoy to the Sophi of Persia, upon the Decesse of another (in the Journey) whom he had appointed for that purpose. That ever since his return, for 10 or 12 years, Brancetour had followed him in all his Voyages, & served him faithfully; nor did he know any Treason he could be guilty of toward the King of England, unless it were by going along with Cardinal Pole. That he would would not consent to the destruction of a Man that followed him upon his Word, and whom he had not yet rewarded for his Services; but that he would speak to the French King, & to the Constable, not to do him so great dishonor, as to suffer one that followed his Word to suffer Damage.

Then he complained to the Emperor of the ill Treatment of the English Merchants by the Spanish Inquisition, for not acknowledging the Supremacy of the Pope; as to which the Emperor vindicated the said Inquisition. He also complained of divers Spanish Preachers who diffamed the King, and the English Nation, and provoked the Spaniards against the English. To which the Emperor replied that Kings be not Kings of Tongues, and that if Men give cause to be spoken of, they will be spoken of. Mr. Wyatt, so far as he can, declares the Emperors secret Designs, which occasioned such an alteration in his demeanor towards him; and gives his Opinion as to what the King should best do upon this Occasion. Dat. at Paris, 7 January, 15. . . 83.

22. The Kings Letter of Instructions to be communicated to the Emperor (sent to Sir Thomas Wyatt at Barcelona) containing his Majesties reasons against the holding a general Council at Vincenza; and is a Translation (into French) of part of the Letter abovementioned, v. 2. at N°. 9. 109.

23. Draught of a Letter from Mr. Thomas Wyatt to his Majestie, relating the particulars happening at an Audience which he & Mr. Vaughan had of the Emperor, upon the subject of Brancetor, whom the French delivered up to him the Emperor; upon the Duke of Cleves, whom the Emperor had dispoiled of Part, or of all his Territories; and upon the Subject of the English Merchants cruelly used by the Spanish Inquisitors. As to all which, the Emperor gave unsatisfactory Answers. And that he reflects extremely King Henries calling him ungrateful, a Title he thought scarcely to be given to an Inferior, nor to be brooked by an Equal. Mr. Wyatt gives his Opinion, as to the Cause of this unwonted fierceness in the Emperor. Dat. at Bruxelles, 3 February 15. . . 113.

24. Draught of a Letter (from Sir Thomas Wyatt) to the King; advertising, that the King of the Romans, his Sister, and the Emperor are all arrived at Brussels from Gaunt. He sends his Majestie an inclosed Letter concerning the Affairs of Germany, where many false Stories are published concerning His Majestie and his proceedings. And therefore proposes that a true account or relation of the same be drawn up, and he will cause it to be translated into the German Language, & afterwards sufficiently dispersed. Dat. at Bruxelles, 25 February 15. . . 119.

25. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyatt to the King, or to Thomas Cromwell Lord Privy Seale, hinting at some Designs hatching between the Emperor & the French King against his Majestie. That the King of the Romans being a friend to the Duke of Cleves, advises him to submit himself to the Emperor, as the best way to obtain his Favor, and that it was talked that the Dutches of Milain was to be given to the said Duke. Upon this, he congratulates his Majesties Escape from that Princess, in whom tho' he supposes nothing but Honor, he nevertheless thinks his Consort ought to be free from Suspicion. He likewise hints, that of a long time there has been Affection between her & the Prince of Orange, and that it partly proceeded from her own Occasion. That the Gauntis have made their Answer of Submission, to the Accusation & Confiscation of the Town. Dat. at Gaunt, 9 March 15. . . 121.

26. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyatt to the King, dated from Gaunt 12 March, 15. . . that the good Countenance shewn by the King of the Romans to the Duke of Cleves, seemeth now to be but a Practice, to separate him from the German Princes; as also by such Separation, and by the appearance of Amity with France, the better to reduce the said Princes to the Emperors Will. 126.

27. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyatt to his Majestie, dated from Gaunt, 14 March, 15. . . That the French had communicated to the Emperor what the Duke of Norfolk was treating with them, and what Answers had been made to him; which token of Amity on the Side of the French greatly rejoiced the Emperor, who before was very melancholique, as dreading the Effect of the Dukes Negotiations. That the Amity between the Emperor & France, stands without the Emperors parting with Milain. That the Germans are said to be about an Accord with the Emperor; which if concluded without comprehending his Majestie & the Duke of Cleves in the same, might prove prejudicial to them both, & especially to the Duke. That a Force of Spaniards & Italians, are coming into Flanders; and that it is possible that the Pope & the German Protestants may be reconciled, if he will own his Power not to be absolute and usurped by Scripture, but taken as by Consent. 128.

28. A Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyatt to the King, dated from Gaunt, 16 April, 15. . . advertising that the Duke of Cleves is come thither, whom he has visited and disswaded from coming to any Accord with the Emperor, without his Majesties Advice, which that Duke promises to do; as also not to agree to the Sequestration of Geldres into the Emperors hands, without which he thinks the Emperor will not see him. And that divers of the Electors are to write to the Emperor, putting him in mind of his Oath, to do no Violence, where Law is offered. That the Reformation is begun in Poland. That there is a Truce agreed on between the Emperor and Denmark; with which Crown Duke Frederick Count Palatine is endeavouring an Agreement as to his Wives pretensions. Also, that it is said that the Duke of Lorraine & the Prince of Salerno, are to come to Gaunt. 130.

29. A Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyatt & Bp. Bonner to the King, dated from Bloys, 2 December, 15. . . relating their several Journeys thither, and the Audience they had of the French King, upon the Subject of the Emperors journey to be taken through France to the Low-Countries, and of the intended Interview. But, as yet, they own they cannot find who brought it about, nor what is intended to be done after it. They also relate the Opinion of some French, that it is but a Trick of the Emperor who means to amuse & deceive the French. 133.

30. A Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyatt to the King, dated at Amboys, 12 December, 15. . . Relating his Journey to Chastellerault where he mett the Emperor, and had Audience of him on divers Subjects. One was upon the Duke of Cleves, whom the Emperor affirmed to have no Right to Geldres, and that he desired his Majestie to give that Duke proper Advice in that Case. That both he (Sir Thomas) the Bishop of London, and all other Foreign Ministers were forbidden to tarry at Court during the Interview between the Emperor and the French King, who are already agreed not to treat, till the Emperors arrival into his own Territories. That Cardinal Farnese is coming with a Legation from the Pope, to both those Monarchs. And Sir Thomas believes that the News of his Majesties Alliance with the Duke of Cleves, has been the only Cause of this the Emperors sudden exposing his Person to the Dangers and Fatigues of so long a winters Journey. 143.

31. A Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyatt to the King, Dat. at Bloys, 16 December, 15. . . who takes the Opportunitie of the Bishop of London's sending a Courier with such Intelligences as he has gotten gotten of the Ceremonies of the Enterview, to advertize his Majestie, that the Emperor and the Court were come to Amboys, and is about to depart to the Castle of Châlons. That Mr. Tate was come out of Spain, not knowing that his Majestie had any Minister about the Emperor in France, & Sir Thomas gives Mr. Tates Consideration & Indultry their due Praise. He says also that Robert Branletour (who passed through France with Pole) follows the Emperor; that he hears he has been secretly in England with the Marquis of Exeter, and believes he is capable of making large Discoveries; and therefore proposes that his Majestie should write to the French King, to deliver him up; and to the Emperor not to support him. But that in Case this be denied, he shall not scape his Hands. 151.

32. A Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wiatt to the King, Dated from Paris, 25 December, 15... Shewing that the Queen of Navarre had reported that the French King, the Constable, the Chancellor of France, the Emperor, and Grandvella his Minister had been in Council 3 Hours together: but that he believed they would agree, for the present, upon nothing; Since the Emperor might be desirous of getting out of France handsomely, and keep the French in suspense by delays, according to his Custom; which is, to lett the Matter to depend upon a third Person, not present. He gives his Opinion of the Reason of this Journey now made by the Emperor, ascribing it principally to his Majesties sudden Alliance with the Duke of Cleves. And shews, that as the Emperors affairs stand, he could come from Spain to his Netherlands no other Way, but through France. 155.

33. A Copie of a Letter from Thomas Crumwell (as it seems) to Mr. Wyatt, desiring him to declare to the Emperor that if he will commit the management of the differences between him & the French King to the King of England, refusing the mediation of the Bp. of Rome, the King will, out of hand, go through with the Marriage of the Lady Mary; and couple his only Son the Prince with the Emperors Daughter, born or to be born, (of years meet for him) with bond that he shall at the years of Consent take her in Marriage. And also join his other Daughter the Lady Elizabeth in Marriage with one of King Ferdinands Sons. And also aid him in his Expeditions against the Turk. 159.

34. A Letter from the said Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wiatt, dated from London, 19 January, 1538, being a very kind & friendly Letter, touching his Revocation, the next April; and remitting Money to him, with advice not to be too free, as he had lately been in lending Mr. Hobby 200 Dollars, who had no need of them. Politick Charity foreseeing rather for providing a Mans self, than for the Provision of another to be left naked. 160.

35. A Letter in Cyfre from the Lord Thomas Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wiat, Dat. from Westminster, 11 February.—This is the original to that Copie mentioned above, at No. 33. 162. & 165.

36. A Short Letter from the Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wiatt (of the same Date) letting him know that his doings are taken in good part, and that the King is his good and gracious Lord. 163.

37. A Letter in Cyfre from the Lord Privy Seal Thomas Crumwell, to Sir Thomas Wyat, Dat. from the Courte being at Westminster, 11 February, 167.

It is a Duplicate of that above-mentioned, No. 35. but more correctly written.—And here it may be observed (once for all) that the Writers in these old Cyfres, do often mistake, thro' habit, by putting one Character for another, leaving out letters or syllables, or putting in others erroneously. And that those who have written out the same in words at length, have made mistakes of their own, when the Cyfre has been right.

38. A Letter from the Lord Thomas Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wiat, Dated from London, 13 February That he has caused Mr. Tuck to deliver 500 & odd Pounds to his Assigns, and has also reserved the House of the Freres of Ayllesforde for him, as he desired: and requires him to send Advice of the Emperors final resolution as to the Matters contained in the Kings Letters, as soon as he can. 171.

39. Another from the Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wiat, Dat. from St. James's besydes Westm. the 22 of February. Desiring him to apply himself diligently & dexterously in bringing his Majesties Purposes about, and at his access to the Emperor to "Merke & Note in" suche wise the Discourses, Proceedings & Conclusions their Continuance, Fashion & Vehemence, "with the very words & answers, as by the same the" "certainte of things to ensue, may be conjectured & known." 173.

40. A long Letter in Cyfre from Thomas Crumwell, Lord Privy Seal, (written, as it seems, partly, viz. the latter end by the hand of Thomas Wriothesley, afterwards Earl of Southampton, and partly viz. the former part by Crumwell himself) to Sir Thomas Wiat, shewing that the Bp. of Tarbez &c. were arrived with a Commission from the French King, to offer the Kings Majestie the management of the Peace between him & the Emperor; with whom altho he would make no Peace unless his Majestie was accepted as a principal Contrahent; and that in the matter of the Council summoned by the Pope, he would shew all friendship to the King. That the French-men asseme boldly that all the Promises which the Emperor has made to his Majesty, or others for him; touching his mediating the Peace; his being accepted therein as a principal Contrahent; his (the Emperors) consenting to nothing in the Council (though it should take effect) which might be prejudicial to his Grace or his Realme; or as to a further Alliance: have no good Faith, or meaning in them, but are all full of Fraud & Deceit. That to all this his Majestie returned a proper Answer, & much to the Emperors honor. He expecting from his (Sr. Tho. Wiatts) Letters, & Mr. Dudleys Relation, to find nothing but Friendship & Kindness from the Emperor. He exhorts therefore Sir Thomas to use all his dexterity in inducing the Emperor to confirme his Promises in a Letter to the King, as also to prolong the Truce with the French, which if he give his Consent to, that crafty dealing which the Frenchmen say they will cause the King to decyfe in him, will be discovered & noted in themselves. Dat. from Hampton-Court, 1 March. 175, 176, 177, & 182.

41. Sir Thomas Wiat's Copie of the foregoing Letter in the common hand. 178.

42. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wiat, from Westminster, 4 March, the 29th of his Graces Noble Reigne. 184.

This is an Original, and of the same Contents, (though written in the common hand) with that above-mentioned, at no. 40. excepting some little differences, which alter not the sense. 184.

43. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wyat, concerning some rumours strangely spread abroad, & that certain Ships have been sent from Flanders (where the English Ships were putt under Arrest) unto Spain. That Mr. Wriothesley wrote, that the Lady Regent of Flanders, shewed him a very good Countenance, till the arrival of two Couriers from Spain, when it was altered all on a sudden. He requires therefore Sir Thomas to use all diligence in searching out the bottom of their Hearts in Spain, & to learn whether the Emperor sent any such Orders to the said Lady Regent, what Intelligence they have with the French, & the Pope, and what they intend & practise. That the King is thankfull for his good service, and upon his Return, will so reward them as that he shall be no longer needy. Dat. from London, 10 March. 187.

44. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wiat, from St. James's, 4th April, that upon his Majesties Commissioners treating with the (Emperors?) Ambassadors, they found many fair words, but attended with very small effects. That the King blames him, for sending his Letters, open, to the Bishop of Winchester. And that by the Kings next Messengers, Dr. Haynes Dean of Exeter, & Dr. Boner Archdeacon of Leicester, he shall hear of the augmentation of his Diet. 189.

45. The Lord Crumwell, in Cyfre, to Sir Thomas Wiat, from Westminster, the x of May, m^oxxxviii. that upon the last Dispatch sent by him from Spain, the King & all his Council find such coldness in the Emperors Discourses, as they much marvel at. That his Majestie is advertised from other parts that all things transacted at the General Council for the Benefit & Glory of Rome, be sett forth and advanced by the Emperor; who devises with fair words to mock all the world, for his own Purpose. He writes this, that Sir Thomas may either bring things to a better Steye, or desire the untruth, that the Malice thereof may be the better prevented. 191.

46. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wiat, from St. James's, 8th of April, that he has obtained the Warrant for the Augmentation of Sir Thomas's Diet in Spain, by a Mark a day. Which Diet being now encreased 54s. 04d. a day, he is to allow the overplus of 4 Marks to Mr. Maion. That his Agents are very slack, & that he has left few friends behind him. He desires him to tell Robert Brancator, that if he will return to England, he will take such Order with his Creditors, as that he shall be in quiet, and out of Danger; and that he shall fynde the Kings Highnes his good and gracious Lorde. 193.

47. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wyat, from London, 12 April, acquainting him that Mr. Tate the Bearer, is to be his Successor, and therefore desires him to let him have what Plate or other furniture he shall desire, at a reasonable Price; he owns the receipt of divers Letters from him, and says that upon his Return the King will remember his Services. 195.

48. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wyat, (mostly in Cyfer) Dat. London, 16 April, declaring that the King's will is, that he should return with all possible diligence, since he says that he has matters to declare by word of mouth, which he cannot do by Writing. He directs him also to inquire what the Emperor intends to do this year, whether he will go out of Spaine? or (if he does) where? or whether against Turkie, or Barbaroffa? 197.

49. Sr. Thomas Wiatt's Copie of the preceding Letter. 198.

50. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wiatt, Dat. from St. James's besides Westminster, 4 May. Shewing y^t, he will receive the Kings Letters, signifying an Overture made unto his Majestie by the French King, with an Instruction howe he shall use & behave himself in the same. That his Majestie marvels that he is not more speedy in his advertisements, considering the Tyne & th'importance of Affaires nowe in Treatic among Chriſten Princes. 200.

51. Sir Thomas Wiat's Copie, in common hand, of the Letter above-mentioned, at N^o. 45. 202.

52. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wiat, Dat. from the Rolls, 6 June, the 29th year of the Kings Reign, advertising him that Monfr. du Vaudray had been here from the Queen of Hungary Regent of the Low-Countries, to declare her Excuses for her Conveyance of the Traytor Pole from Cambray (where being commanded by the French King to avoid all his Dominions, he was retired) 203.

to the Dominions of the Bishop of Liege. That Don Diego de Mendoza the Emperors Ambassador was arrived, and had been treated with about the Marriage (of the Lady Mary?) but that nothing was as yet concluded-upon till they should hear farther from the Emperor, since his Ambassadors stick at such things as are proposed to them, concerning & against the Pope. That the Queenes Grace is quick with Child, and the whole Realme in perfect quiet, most of the late pardoned Traytors being heartily repentant. Tho' of the Lords Darcy and Hufey, Sir Robert Constable, the Lord Lumley's Son, Robert Afke, Nicholas Tempeſte, Th' Abbot of Jervaulx, the Priour of Birlington, Sir Thomas Percy, &c. who had their Pardon, yet because they have been openly condemned and attayned of certaine Conspiracies and Illegit Treasons fitneſſe the pardon granted unto them, some of them are executed. 203.

53. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wyatt Dat. from Stepney, 8 July, 1537, that there now appear some hopes of good Success, as to the Marriage, in Treaty between the Emperor and England. That the Burgundians having gained some Advantage in France, having taken St. Pol, Montreuil, &c. And desiring him to write sharply to his Servants, who are reputed common Stealers of the Kings Hawks. 205.

54. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wyat, from Stepenthith, 24 September, in behalf of John Brymſdgham (leg. Byrmingham) one of the Kings Subjects of Irland, who was robbed upon the See, of his Shyp & goods by certain Spanyards. 207.

55. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wyat, from Mortlacke, 1 October, directing him (upon the Receipt of the Kings Letters) to offer his Majesties Mediation to the Emperor, for concluding a peace between him & the French King, and desiring him to find out how the Emperor is inwardly disposed towards his Majestie; as also whether the Report that the Mediation of the Peace being referred to others is true or not. Likewise to find out what the Emperors Intentions are with relation to the Bishop of Rome's Council, which is refused by the German Princes, and by his Majestie. His Lordship notes his negligence in not delivering the Lady Marie's Letters (to the Emperor) according to his Instructions. That Sir Thomas's Brother (in Law?) Anthony Lee has been in the Porters Lodge, for consenting to the Stealing of certain of the Kings Hawkes; but that the Kings highnes is nowe again Good Lorde unto him. He adds, that the French declare the Emperor in Words towards his Majestie to make only faire wether, and in his Hart, Dede, & Works to doo all that he canne to his Graces Dishonour. Inſomuch as they bolt themselves, to have refused some honest Offres for themselves, because they were knytt with vile and filthy Conditions towards his Majestie. 208.

56. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wyat, Dat. from St. James besides Westminster, 12 October, desiring him to advertise the Emperor that the Queen is delivered of a goodly Prince. And that the Kings Highnes will write unto him, & other Princes of the same. 211.

57. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wyatt, Dat. 16 October, from London, that upon the Queene Regents ſignification of the Emperors good Affection, & Intention to proceed ſincerely, his Majestie had ſent Mr. Wryſley & Mr. Vaughan into Flanders, with Commiſſion to treat with her. And that therefore the King had diſpatched Mr. Hobby to him, with his deſires that he would proceed in the Declaration of his Majesties good Affection towards the Emperor; and promote this amitie between them in ſuch manner, as that the ſaid Treaty may have the deſired Effect. 215.

58. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wyat, dated from St. James besides Westminster, 20 October, desiring him 216.

him to handle Matters so discretely, that at Mr. Dudley's return (who carried the Kings Letters to the Emperor, notifying to him the Birth of the young Prince) his Majesty might find what he desires, viz. the Emperors good Inclination towards him. Also that the King desires to know what he has done as to Dignelly. (This Dignelly is also mentioned fol. 209. b. and I am apt to believe it is only a faigned Name for Robert Brancetor.)

215.

59. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wyat, dated from London 28 November, 1538, advertising him that the Lorde Marquis of Exetour, & the Lorde Mountagu, with a sorte of their Adherents of meane Estat and no Estimation pretely, have been commaunded to the Towne to Prison there, for sundry greiv Crymes of Lefe Majestie. That the 16th day of this present, the Kings Majestie, for the Reverence of the Holy Sacrament of th'Altar, did sitt openly in his Hall, and there presided at the Disputacion, Processe and Jugement of a myserable Heretic Sacramentary (John Nicholson alias Lambert) who was brought the 20th of the same Month. That it was a wonder to see howe Princely, with howe excellent gravitie, & admirable Majestie, his Highenes exercised there the very Office of a supreme head of his Church of Englande. Howe benignely his Grace assayed to convert the miserable man: how strong and manifeste Reasons his Highenes alleged against him. He wishes that the Princes & Potentys of Christndom had a meate place for them there, to have seen it. Undoubtedly, they shuld have moche marvelled at his Majesties most high Wisdom & Jugement, and reputed him none otherwise, after the fame, then (in manner) the Mirror & Light of alle other Kings & Princes in Christendome. That at the Time of the Condemnation of the Sacramentary, the Kings Highenes caused some Proclamations to be made, which are printed. He desires him to sollicite the cause of divers Merchants his Majesties Subjects, who had been robbed by the Emperors subjects, so as that speedy Justice may be administrd unto them.

217.

60. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wyat, dated from the Nete, 30 Novembre, partly upon Sir Thomas's private Affairs, whose negligence therein he somewhat blames. That the Complaint of the Emperors Agents here, that they could have no Audience in Six Months, is groundless; and that they themselves have since owned that they never desired Audience but they had it. He does not like their Proceedings in the Matter of the Queen's Decease, they had demanded the Prince, for the Daughter of Portugal; tho' it would have been much better taken, if it had been done, by a new Commission from the Emperor, than by the old one, also, that the King requires him, again to renew to the Emperor his Offers of mediating a Peace between him & the French King, now, upon the Abatement of his Affairs in Italy, & the success of the French there; notwithstanding that the Emperor had said before, that he was solicited for Peace when his Affairs went prosperously forward; but otherwise, heard no Mention of it.

61. The Lord Crumwell to Sir Thomas Wyat, dated from London, 26th Decembre, that he should receive the Kings Letters with a Commission, to treat (with the Emperors Commissioners) that the King is well inclined to forget all things passed, & to enter into a perfect Reconciliation. And advises him therefore to use all his dexterity in inducing the Emperor to shew that he esteemeth the King as much as he pretendeth to do; and especially to follow the Kings advice, in the Matter of the Council.

62. A Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyat to Thomas Crumwell, Lord Privy Seal, almost wholly upon the Subject of apprehending Brancetor (who was, as now) with the Emperor in France, practising with the Nuncio, and for Peto. And that Cardinal Farnese the Pories Legate, was suddenly to make his publick Entry into Rome.

225.

63. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyat to the Lord Privy Seal, from Toledo, 2 January, biding an Answer to the Letter abovementioned at N^o 59 he also (in regard his own particular Affairs go to ruin) desires his Lordship to move the King to recall him.

227.

64. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyat to the Lord Crumwell, dated 22 January from Bruxells, setting forth the extreme dearth of the Place, and therefore craving an augmentation of his Allowance.

229.

65. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyat to the Lord Crumwell, dated from Bruxells, 3 February, concerning his discourse with Chapyns (who is also mentioned in the former Letter) & that two Gentlemen, Robert Valle & another, offer to serve the King, for the Truth's sake, & for the advancement of the Word of God; and promise to effect Wenders.

231.

66. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyat to the Lord Crumwell, dated from Bruxells, 14 of February, that the King of Denmark has sent Commissioners, & the City of Hamborough a Secretary, to treat of a longer Truce. That Peace has been offered them, but with such unreasonable conditions, as that they could not meddle with it; nor with the Truce neither. That they have day to go home & return again before Palm-Sunday. And that by a third Person, he had putt into their heads, that if they should protract yet 40 days, or two Months, they should peradventure be desired of that which they now offer. This he thinks is no difference to the King, nor to the Duke of Cleves, whose Inveititure is still delayed upon pretence of the Emperors entry into Gaunt. Also that Tor, whom he employs as a Spie about Brancetor, still puts him in hopes of betraying him; but then there are difficulties in conveying him away.

67. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyat to the Lord Crumwell, dated from Bruxelles, on Shrove-tuesday, advertising, that Grandvela the Emperors Minister gives him many fair Promises touching the Extrusion of the Kings Traytors out of the Emperors Dominions; and for redress to be given to the Kings Subjects in Spain. That the French had rather involve the Emperor in a War with the Princes of Germany, than with the Turk, in order to draw him into an extreme necessity of their Aid. Sir Thomas requests his Lordships favor, as to his coming out of the Kings Debt, to whom he owes 500 l. and to induce his Majesty to give him somewhat towards the purchasing the Lordship of Ditton; as also in the matter of his Revocation.

68. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyat to the Lord Crumwell, dated from Gaunt, on Palm-Sunday, that the Emperor gave a favourable audience to the Ambassadors of the Protestant Princes; and that other Ambassadors are expected from Hesse & Saxony. That the Pope is raising Money, (as it is given out against the Turke & the Lutherans. That he begins to grow unacceptable, and that his Money is all gone, & therefore desires he may be recalled, lest that hereafter he should not have the Means of doing that which may be thought meet to be done for his Majesties service.

69. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyat, dated from Gaunt, 2 April, that Grandvela had told him that they had no certainty of any Truce concluded between the Emperor & the Turk, which relation he thinketh false, in regard that the Venetian Ambassador had complained thereof, which being made without comprehending the Venetians, had obliged them to give N^o poli di Romania to the Turke for Peace. The same Grandvela also told him, that they were accommodating Matters with France, which he thinks but a Practice to induce England to make some Offer to the Emperor, in order order

order to hinder it. That matters between the Duke of Cleves & the Emperor stand not, as they are represented to his Majesty; and that there is a talk of an Arbitration to be made between them. That since his Majesty desires a Licence to buy some Horses for his Saddle, he will ask for Spanish Horses, which are the best, and for 12 or 16 of them. That the Pope having augmented the Imposition upon Salt, a Mutiny has been raised upon it in Perusa; and the People there have desired Radulfo Balyon to command them. His family long governed that City, but after the Decease of his Father the Pope usurped the Governance of it, under promise of Restitution, but indeed, did not restore it; which has given some Offence to the Emperor; and may perchance, occasion a new War in Italy. Also, that it is said, that a Devorce is to be made between the Popes Grandson, & the Emperors Bastard-daughter, the late Duchesse of Florence.

70. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wiatt, to the Lord Crumwell, dated from Gaunt, 5 April, that the Pope had written to the Emperor concerning his promised Donation of Millan to the French, who have held secret Consultations, paid the Swissers their Pensions, and appointed them to come to Lions. Sir Thomas thinks the Emperor will not part with Millan at all, but spend the year with practices, touching the French, the Duke of Cleves (who is putting himself in Armes) and others. And that the Prince of Salerno, one of the most considerable persons of the Kingdom of Naples, is desirous of going into England to see the King. Sir Thomas wishes he might accompany him in the Journey.

71. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wiatt to the Lord Crumwell, dated from Gaunt, 12 April, relating the Discourse had at an Audience of the Emperor, touching the Flemish & Spanish Horses desired by King Henry; touching the Restraint of exporting Harneisse from the Low Countreys to England; and touching the Duke of Cleves, whose Motion of referring his Title to Geldres to be tried at Law, the Emperor will in no wise hearken to, so long as he keeps that country in his Possession. That there is now a coldness between the Emperor & the French King, notwithstanding their late interview in France; the Emperor putting a Spanish Interpretation (i.e. to do as shall suit with his Interest) upon his ratification of the motion made by the French King for Marriage of the Duke of Orleans with the King of the Romans Daughter, & the donation of Millan upon that Match; the French Kings Daughter with the Emperor; and the King of Navarre's Daughter with the Prince of Castile; upon promise obtained that no particular should be touched upon during his passage through France. Which dealing the French King seems to resent. He desires that Notice may be sent to Callice, that a Ship may be fitted up for bringing over the Prince of Salerno.

72. Draught of a Letter from Sir Thomas Wyatt to the Earl of Hertford, Dated from Toledo, 3 March, and recommending a certain person to his acquaintance.

73. Copie of the Memorall for Mr. Duddeley upon his Commission; written by Sir Thomas Wyatt, and relating what passed at an audience Mr. Dudley & himself had of the Emperor, wherein notification was made of the Kings Marriage with the Lady Jane Seymour. Together with short Memorandums, as to the Pope, & the Council summoned by him; the Peace to be made between the Emperor & the French King; And of the Conferences they had with Granvela.

74. Minutes of what passed at an Audience had of the Emperor, wherein the Birth of Prince Edward was notified to him, written by Sir John Duddeley: as also touching the particulars mentioned in that above drawn up by Sir Thomas Wiatt.

75. A Letter from Thomas Wriothesley (afterwards Lord Chancellor, & Earl of Southampton) to Sir Thomas Wiatt, Dated from Westminster, 11th of February, declaring his resolution to buy some Land in Hampshire, and desiring Sir Thomas to sett the Price of it, for the Owners.

76. Mr. Thomas Wriothesley to Sir Thomas Wiatt, from London, 15th February, promising him much friendship; and giving him hopes, that among the rest, he may get a Morfell, i.e. of the Abbey Lands, desires him to sett a Price upon the Estate mentioned in his last Letter.

77. Mr. Thomas Wriothesley to Sir Thomas Wiatt, dated from St. James's, 1 Marche, hopes by the next, to send him certain Tidings of the Augmentation of his Diets; and writes that the Rent of the Farme in Hampshire (which he desires to purchase) is 8l. 16s. 8d.

78. Mr. Wriothesley to Sir Thomas Wiatt, from St. James's, 4 April, thanks him for his Courtie in setting a price upon the Land in Hampshire, which yet he will not meddle withall unless Sir Thomas would willingly forgoe the Title he had in the same. That as the Diel wold, the Bill for the Augmentation of his Diets was lost, as it was carrying to be signed; but another would be drawn up.

79. Mr. Wriothesley to Sir Thomas Wiatt, from St. James's, the 8th of April, tells him, that he solicits his Affair much better than all his Agents, who are too slack. And desires him, to send his Gere (i.e. his Release of his Title to the Land in Hampshire) sealed with his Seale of Armes, and subscribed with his Hand.

80. Mr. Wriothesley to Sir Thomas Wiatt, from St. James's, 15th April, acquainting him that he sends him a Deed to be signed & sealed by him; & complains of the Negligence of his Agents.

81. Mr. Wriothesley to Sir Thomas Wiatt, in Cyfre, from Westminster, desiring him to remember his Suit, & shewing that his proceedings are well taken. In the same Page Sir Thomas has written the same, in his common hand.

82. Mr. Wriothesley to Sir Thomas Wiatt, dated from the Rolls, in more than hast: desiring him to induce the Emperor to make an Overture, of ayding no man directly or indirectly against the King; whether the Bishop of Rome or any other would attempt any thing against him.

83. Mr. Wriothesley to Sir Thomas Wiatt, dated from Mortlacke, 10 October, that his doings are well taken, and his negligence in not delivering the Lady Maries Letters to the Emperor as yet not noted. That his Letters to the King had been read with great Applause, but he not having put his Name to them, they could not, at first, tell from whom they came; but before they were carried to the King, he Mr. Wriothesley played the Jolly Countrefaite, and subscribed his Name for him; but advises him to omit the same no more. And desires him to buy a Jennett (with all manner of good qualities) for his own Saddle.

84. Mr. Wriothesley to Sir Thomas Wiatt, Dated from the Nete, 30 November, that the King is very well pleased with his Proceedings; and that for want of speciall words in his Letter of Attorney made to Sir William Hawte, they are obliged to sue for a new Warrant, for every Payment to be made to his use.

85. Mr. Wriothesley to Sir Thomas Wiatt, dated from London, 26 December, being only a familiar Letter.

50. Originall Warrant of Q. Elizabeth to Mr. Davison; Dat. at Greenwich, 24 day of April, 1585. for his Return. 129.

Num. 285.

51. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham. Dat. at Cornbury, 12 August, 1585. touching the Scottish Affairs, as it seems. 131.

52. Original Letter of Sir Francis Walsingham to the Earl of Leicester, Dat. at the Courte, 27th Sept. 1585. upon her Majesties declaring her Intentions of employing his Lordship in the Low-Countries; for the advancement of which Service, if his Lordships requests shall be found chargeable, the Impediment will be found in Her Majestie, and not in the Council. 132.

53. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, upon her Majesties pleasure signified unto him, to stay his preparations for his Journey into the Netherlands; shewing how far he has gone in the said preparations, &c. 135.

54. The Commissioners of the Lowe-Countries advise to his Excellencie the Earl of Leicester, touching his Administration of Affairs, as Chiefe Head and Governour of the United Provinces, upon his arrival, A. D. 1585. 137.

55. Things to be considered in the present Deliberation for Vlissinge, A. D. 1585. The latter part in the Lord Treasurer Burleigh's Hand. 140.

56. Original Letter of William Pekott to Captain Berney, desiring the money due to him for Powder. 142.

57. Things most necessary to be understood touching the Estate of these Lowe-Countries, written by the Earl of Leycester, A. D. 1585. 144.

58. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, which seems to have been written privately to Sir Francis Walsingham, upon the Orders given by her Majestie for staying his preparations: whereas that before at N°. 53. might be shewn to the Queen. 146.

59. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, excusing a late Request touching Men to go over with him into the Low-Countries, which he did not with design to encrease her Majesties Charge; and desires that 500 or 600 of his own Tenants, may be permitted to serve there: which will not be any Charge to her Majestie, and he shall reckon them as good as 1000 others. That he has given some Notes to his Nephew Sir Philip Sydney to confer with him about. 147.

60. Draught of a Letter (as it seems) from Mr. Secretary Walsingham, to the Earl of Leycester in the Low-Countries; touching the quarrelsome temper of Collonel (Sr. John?) Norrys; and the sending Sir William Pelham over to assist his Lordship. That the raising of Volunteers for that service will be difficult; but if he will furnish the Master of Gray with an Imprest of 2000 l. he may expect to bring over with him 3000 footmen & 200 Light-Horses. That by the demeanor of those of Bounnell & Deventre, it appears, that if the Cause had been throughly countenanced, the most part of these Provinces now possessed by the Spaniard, would have revolted ere this; but we are so greedy of Peace, in respect of the Charges of the Wars, as in the procuring thereof neither to weigh our Honor or Safety. 149.

61. First Draught of a Letter (as it seems) from Sir Francis Walsingham to the Earl of Leycester, shewing that her Majesties taking the Lowe-Countries into her Protection, has increased her Reputation in Italy, & Germany; where (if the war shall be prosecuted with vigor) another Fire might be Kindled; to the Damage of Spain. That the Report of 100 Pieces of Brais-Ordinance, being missing, through Sr. Thomas Pelham's neglect in overlooking his Inferior Officers, had like to have hindered his coming over into Holland, to assist

62. Part of a Letter, concerning the affairs of the United Provinces. 156.

63. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, (as it seems) to Sir Francis Walsingham, advertising of two Plots of the Pope, Jesuits, &c. to take away her Majesties Life. He describes the men, and their pretences to come to Court. And advises therefore, that they would persuade her Majestie to pass away the Sommer, at a distance from London, as at Woodstocke or Farnham, whither no suspicious person could come to the Court, without being noted. 157.

64. Original Letter of Mr. Thomas Lovell to the English Ambassador (Mr. Davison?) in the Lowe-Countrys; Dat. from the Brill, 24th day of October, 1585, desiring, that since his Honor thought him worthy the Station of Sergeant Major, and therefore conferred it upon him; that he may not be turned out, to make room for others in whose behalf the Captain-General had written to the Queens Council. And shewing that the Burgers of the Brill, desired the Keys of the Towne, of the Governor, but were refused. 157.

65. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Mr. Secretary Walsingham, Dat. 31 December, 1585, describing his great Entertainment, at the Hague, the loud applauses of the Queen there, and the Rebuke given to the French Ambassador, at the same time. That though her Majestie does refuse the Sovereignty of that People, & the Name of Protector; She yet shall have the sole management of their Money, Contributions, & Men of War (i. e. Souldiers) That the German Princes, are so encouraged by these open Steps of her Majestie, taken against the Spaniard, that they are agreeing to send 25000 to the assistance of the King of Navarre, in France; who has suffered much through the Intrigues of the Pope, & King of Spain. 160.

66. Original Letter of Sir Philip Sydney, to her Majesties Ambassador in the Low-Countrys, Dat. 7 December, 1585, from Flushing; about bringing Colonel Morgan's Regiment to some Port thereabout. 162.

67. Original Letter of Sir Philip Sydney, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. from Middleburgh, 14 December, 1585, complaining of divers Abuses, and Hindrances of the Service; and containing requests in behalf of himself, and others. 164.

68. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester to Mr. Secretary Walsingham, Dat. 15 December, 1585. Desiring that the Original Contract between Her Majestie and the States, may be sent to him; and that to his rate, as General, may be added his Ordinary Company as a Guard, Physician, Chaplain, &c. which other Generals have been allowed. That 600 or 1000 Irish may be sent to him, they being harder than the English. That the Spaniards imagine that her Majestie has sent many more English than really came over. 166.

69. Original Letter of Sir Philip Sidney to Sir Francis Walsingham; Dat. at Middleburg, 16 of December, 1585. Recommending a Gentleman (Mr. Edward Norris?) to his Favor, who commanded in Flushing till his Arrival there, with universal applause. That he is desirous of being employed in her Majesties Service, and especially in Horfe. 169.

70. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Delph, 26 Decemb. 1585, shewing how much Her Majestie is praised & honor'd by the Dutch, who now doubt not but to beat the Spaniards out of their Countrys. Desires that Seburo the Spanish Prisoner may be exchanged for the Son of Jacob Muys van Holy, now cruelly used by the Spaniards, in consideration of his Fathers Services. He enlarges upon the honorable entertainment, he found in the great Towns of Holland; and adds, that a her Majestie has made this people Hers, by Countenancing them, at this juncture; so she had lo't them for ever, if she had forsaken them in their distress. He desires that a Pursuivant at Arms may be sent to him, Mr. Segar having made twenty excuses. Complains that neither Sir William Pelham, nor Mr. Killigrew are sent to assist him; he having none but Mr. Davyson, who though he have good will, & a pretty Scholars wytt, is not a match for the Dutch, as heavy as Her Majestie supposes 'em to be: and wishes She had but one or two such as the worth of half a score of them. And concludes with the characters of some of them in particular. 171.

Num. 285.

71. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. from Leyden, 3 Januare, 1585. 174.

72. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. from Leyden, 14 Januare, 1585, shewing in what manner, and for what reasons the States had offered to make him absolute Governor both of Warre and Peace, over all their Provinces; in what manner he declined the same; but is of opinion that if her Majestie will not suffer him to take this office & trust upon him, all will be lost. He adds that the States have laid before him a true state of their Countrey, Forces, &c. and have thereby made it appear, that they are able to go through with the war. And that if her Majestie had accepted their Sovereignty, they should have paid her constantly, 30000 l. P. month, besides other advantages. Gives a character of some Princes of the House of Nassaw, Count Hollock, &c. 176.

73. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. 15 Januare, 1585, desiring that about 70000 l. being her Majesties Arrears may be remitted over to him, there being great want of Money. That they are forced still to keep 4000 Foot, & 1500 Horfe, to face the Spaniards, who still keep the field, and have lately endangered many important places. And hopes for good success to a certain enterprize, which he intends to putt in execution. 180.

74. Original Letter from the Earl of Leycester to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. from the Hague 22 of Januare, 1585. Writes earnestly for the money due from her Majestie, or part of it; though he knows how difficult a matter it is, to get money from her. That if he had not come when he did, these Provinces had been ruined, and that the next day of his arrival, the Wind had changed, & so continued ever since, till now; which is 42 days; in all which time he has never heard one word from England. That the Souldiers suffer dayly for want of Pay, but still trust to his Promises, and continue to resist the attempts of the Enemy; who, (if her Majestie had not taken up the cause) had before now conquered & taken the whole countrey. Gives a great character of Mr. Davyson, and of the service he has done to her Majestie in those parts; and therefore desires he may be sent back to him, and with farther Credit. That his nephew Sir Philip Sidney, is very much esteemed there, and as he thinks, in a few months will be able to do her Majestie a notable piece of service. That the Prince of Parma called a Council upon the news of his arrival, and of what passed therein. Shews the necessity of encamping the Army, and continuing masters of the Field. Desires leave for some Gentlemen to come over & raise Recruits, without charge to her Majestie, or the Countrey: And that he may raise 500 more, among his own 'cnants; those he brought with him proving so brave Men. Also that 2000 more Volunteers may be sent to him. Shewing what service he can perform by Easter, with 2000 Horfe, & 5000 Foot. Concerning Prince Maurice, and the possibility of his being drawn to a reconciliation with Spain;

Num. 285.

Spain; and the active fidelity of Count Hollock, to whom he wishes Her Majestie would rather grant a Pension, than to any other German Prince; and that the Lord North might have some Charge, under him.

75. Original Letter from the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. ult. Januarij, 1585. that Mr. Davyson now goes to acquaint her Majestie with what has been done in Holland since his arrival, and desires he may be sent back as soon as possible (he understanding the Place, & Persons better than any other English man) and if it might be, with more countenance & credit from her Majestie. He seems to dispaire of Sir William Pelham's, or the Lord Grey's coming over to assist him. Desires that the Arrears due to the Souldiers may be sent; and that he would acquaint the Lord Treasurer (who had written to him to know what number of Ships & Marryners were there) that there were so many, and to be sett out at a short warning, as would be sufficient to beat the King of Spain & all his Friends.

76. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. from the Haghe the first of Febr. 1585. Desiring, if her Majestie means to continue him in service there, that Mr. Daniel Rogers (whose help he wants) may be sent to him.

77. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. from the Haghe, 3d of February, 1585. Concerning 1000 Pioneers, whom he desires to be raised for him, & to be ready in London by the middle of May. That all the Moneys is gone, &c.

78. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. 4 Febr. 1585. Earnestly desiring that a supply of Men & Money may be sent to him.

79. A Memoriall of the tymes of Treaties with the Estates of the Lowe-Countreys, since the begynnyng of the Requestes of their Aydes, (i.e. of their Requestes for Aid) with divers other useful Notes.

80. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. from the Haghe, 6 February, 1585. to further a matter, about which he wrote at large to the Lord Admiral, &c.

81. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. 7th February, 1585. Shewing his grief that her Majestie would not let him have the Irish Souldiers he wanted. That the Reports raised by the Prince of Parma do much hurt, vizt. that her Majestie desires Peace. In which case the Dutch would be sure to secure themselves; and that her Majestie should have no Peace but on shameful conditions. Where as if she will but prosecute the war, he will be content to lose her Favor, if they do not seek Peace of her, the next Summer. He hears that her Majesty misliketh 'the title of Excellency which is given to him. He says that the same title was given to him in England, ever since she made him an Earl, and that he had the place of Master of her Majesties Horse: And that he has here in Holland refused Higher Titles, which shews he desired none but what he might use with her Majesties Honor and good liking.

82. A Letter written by the Earl of Leycester's Secretary, (if not by himself) & sealed with his Seal, but not subscribed with his Lordships hand. 'Tis directed to Sir Francis Walsingham; Dated from the Haghe, 8 Febr. 1585. being a private letter vindicating himself, for accepting the Government of the Low-Countreys; He says that all her Majestie can lay to his charge, is, Going a little further than she gave him Commission for; wherein, the only benefit, & greatest Honour dothe growe to her Majesties selfe every way. How lothe her Majestie would be that any man, not her subject, should be placed in that Station. Desires that her Majestie would speedily send one to supply his Place, that he may go lyve in some obscure corner of the Earthe, where he will ende these grievous dayes in true prayer to God for her.

83. A Letter written by the same hand as the former; sealed with the Earl of Leycesters seal, but not subscribed by his Hand. 'Tis dated from the Haghe, the 8th of February, 1585. and directed, to the Lord High Treasurour of England, the Lord Chamberlayne, Mr. Vice-chamberlayne, & Mr. Secretarie Walsingham, in answer to a Letter sent by the Queens Majesties commandment from Committee of the Councell, the 25th of January, 1585. shewing her Majesties great mislike of his acceptance of the Government of the Dutch Netherlands. Containing his Apologie for so doing, and his Resolution to withdrawe into some out-corner of the Worlde, where he will languish out the rest of his Feare? to many dayes, praying ever for her Majesties longe & prosperous Lyfe, &c.

84. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. from the Haghe, 14 February, 1585. Recommending Sir Robert Jarmine to him; as also the Petition of Monfr. de Meux High-Bayliff of Dort, for Her Majesties favor in the release of his Son taken by the Spaniards.

85. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. from the Haghe, 15 of February, 1585. to forbear, at present, to impart the Contents of certain Letters, to her Majestie, containing some doubtful Answers from the King of Denmark, till her pleasure shall be fully known touching the matter of those Countreys. Wherein if she shall proceed, she will not want friends.

86. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. from the Hage, 18 Febr. 1585. Shewing the desire of the Dutch, to have the English Merchants settle in some of their Towns, for the sale of their Clothes. His Lordship commends most, Enchuyfen in Holland, & Middleburgh in Zealand, as apt places. Also, that the States do offer some Place, or Places for the Wooll of England, with which, if her Majestie will furnish them, they will use no wooll of France, or Spain.

87. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. 21 Febr. 1585. shewing, that the Lord Willoughby has acquainted him that the King of Denmark is so well affected towards her Majestie, as to offer to make War, when or where her Majestie pleases; and to send 2000 of his best Horse, to the assistance of his Lordship & the Low Countries. That the Duke of Saxony, &c. have declared to the French King, that they will assist the King of Navarre, unless he desist from persecuting him. That the Count of Embden, the Town of Hamburg, &c. are in the Spanish interest; and that Paul Buys is a very villain.

88. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Mr. Secretarie Walsingham, Dat. at the Hage, 22 Febr. 1585. signifying that 'he knows not whether he shall be continued in the Service or not, he is levying an Army in order to act offensively against the Enemy, it being the only way to secure the Countrey, & annoy the Enemy. He advises that her Majestie would send a Gentleman to complement the Duke of Saxony, upon his Marriage with the young Princeesse of Hainault, which he thinks may produce a good effect.

89. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester to Mr. Secretarie Walsingham, Dat. at the Hage, 24 Febr. 1585. that the Funds are agreed upon for the next Summers service, and relates what other measures are taking: He adds, that he hath learned to be of a good nature, since he came hither: for he hopes to see the French King, & the K. of Spaine together by the ears, (as well well as they live) or this day month, and cost her Majestie never a Grote. Desires Sir William Pelham & Mr. Bingham may be sent to him, the Dutch not having such commanders as them, or those he brought with him.

90. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. 27 Feb. 1585. relating the Conference between him, and one of the States, concerning a rumor'd Inclination of her Majestie to make Peace with the King of Spain.

91. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at the Hage, 27 Febr. 1585. advertizing that Coll. Shenks had taken Werle, a City of Westphalia belonging to the Elector of Cologne, but garrison'd by the Spaniard, & which had done much harm. And that the Count de Meurs had (through a Letter sent unto him by his Lordship) prevented the Burghers of Deventer from delivering up that Town to the Spaniards; and desires that her Majestie may send each of them a Letter of Acknowledgment. That the Dutch, since his arrival amongst them, encrease in the shew & practise of the true Religion. Shews his desire to be apprised of her Majesties resolution, whether he shall continue there or not; and that the Enemy give out that he shall be used as the Prince of Orange was; i. e. assassinated.

92. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Harlem, 3 Marche, 1585. advertizing that the Prince of Parma has sent one Hyman, late Penfioner of Bruges, into England, to execute some matter of great importance and secrecy; and desiring that he may be found out, & clapped up.

93. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Harlem, 9 Marche, 1585. concerning his falling under her Majesties displeasure, by accepting of the Government of the United Provinces, without desiring her Majesties leave, or acquainting her therewith: the blame of which action he layes upon Mr. Davyson, vowing that he did so, only through his Persuasions. Sets forth the extraordinary Charges he has been put to, by this Expedition, having for her Majesties service laid out above 11000 l. in 3 Months. Besides the raising, furnishing, & paying 550 footmen, & 150 Horsemen, at his own charge. He stomacks Sir Thomas Henneage's Commission. Desires that the poor Souldiers may be better paid, and that Sir William Pelham may command them. Lastly, that the Enemy having besieged Werle, Coll. Shenks who commanded therein, issued out & routed the Enemies Army, kill'd 2500, & took most of their Commanders, &c.

94. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester, to the Lordes of her Majesties Privie Counsaile. Dat. at Harlem, 9th Marche, 1585. Excusing his acceptance of the Government of the Dutch Provinces, at the pressing instances of Mr. Davyson & others. He owns his fault in yielding to them, but avers that he did it faithfully, & to do her Majestie service, and not contemptuously, or ells God pluck out both his Hart & Bowells with utter shame. And finally submits himself to her Majestie, but still insinuating that his holding that Place, would be all for her Majesties advantage, and nothing to her damage.

95. Original Letter of the Earl of Leycester to Mr. Davyson, Dat. at Harlem, 10 Marche 1585. expostulating with him for not sufficiently setting forth to her Majestie the reasons which induced his Lordship (and likewise Mr. Davisons own arguments & persuasions) to accept of the Government of the United Provinces. On the margin of this Letter, Mr. Davyson has written his own remarks, & defence, against his Lordships Charge.

And relating how humbly that Nobleman submitts himself to her Majestie, desiring her to forgive his faults, which tho' very great, were yet done in his youthful years, &c. 187.
99. Copie of a Letter in French, to the French King, Dat. from Paris, 28 April, 1588. partly against the Sieur de Reaux, & partly lamenting the murder of the Prince of . . . 189.

Num. 288.

Num. 288.

100. Original Letter of Sir Edward Stafford to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Paris, 29 April, 1588. relating the alarms in Paris, upon a report that the Duke de Guise was coming there.

101. Original Letter of Sir Edward Stafford, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Paris, 29 April, 1588. advertising that the Q. Mother was the raiser of the late alarms & fears with an intent to have Monfr. de Elpernon recalled from Normandie. That the late advice which Q. Elizabeth sent to the Fr. King, was received by him with Joy; that he will follow the fame, and that it is universally applauded by every body, even by the Queen Mother herself. And that the French Ambassador in his letters from England, disparages the Naval preparations making against the Spaniard.

102. Original Letter of Sir Edward Stafford, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Paris 21 May, & written mostly, in Cyfre, and all upon the French Kings Affairs.

103. Original Letter of Sir Edmund Stafford, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Paris, 21 May, shewing the fatal divisions grown up in France, upon occasion of the League. With a large account of the constancy & behaviour of 12 young protestant Women, executed there for their religion.

104. Original Letter of Sir Edward Stafford to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Paris, 6 June, 1588. thanking him for the kindness he shewed to his son.

105. Original Letter of Sir Edward Stafford to Sir Francis Walsingham (part of it written in Cyfre) Dat. at Paris, 13 June, 1588. opening the designs of those of the League, who delay the finishing of the Treaty of Peace as much as they can; being assured by Mendoza, that if the Spanish Army going for England should fail there, it should for their assistance descend upon the Coast of Britaigne.

106. Original Letter of R. H. to Mr. Jacquelin, dated from Paris, 16 June, 1588. containing many important advices, concerning the Turmoyles between the French King, & the Duke of Guise, &c. about the League. As also, some other particulars relating to the Queen of England's sending Mr. Bodley to assure the French King of succor, against the Princes of the League; and how narrowly he missed being taken by that Duke.

107. Original Letter of Sir Edward Stafford, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Paris, 18 June, 1588. written partly in Cyfre, desiring the Queen would succor the French King against the Duke of Guise, with whom, he believes he will never make any sincere Peace. And this proceeding, he thinks, will not at all hurt the King of Navarre. That he has found means to offer supplies of victuals &c. (in her Majesties name) to the Officer who still keeps Bulloigne for the King. That the French fearing the Spanish Navy, he had assured them, that the English (in case the Spaniards should come near France) would make no distinction, whether they come for England or France.

108. Original Letter of Sir Edward Stafford, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Paris, 18 June, 1588. that the Treatie between the French King & those of the League, is almost agreed upon; but that his Majestic is not as yet induced by them to break the old Leagues with England; nor even the last, whereby he is bound to assist England if invaded upon the account of Religion. Nor to break with the Queen of England about the Execution of the Queen of Scots. That those of the League will not make any of their private demands to the King in writing, lest such Writing should be shewn to those of their own faction. That the Spanish Ambassadors, throws out divers opinions concerning the Spanish Armada, & privately tells those of the League that tis bound for France, & to assist them. That he has taken care to acquaint the King, that the Queen his Mistress will help him against the League, with what reasonable succors he shall desire. That the good disposition of the Young King of Scots is very unacceptable to those of the League; and that he does not like the Earl of Moreton's joining with the Earl of Huntley, which he thinks not so good for England.

109. Original Letter of . . . to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Rouen, 22 June, 1588. advertising that the faction of the League is now likely to rule all; so great an alteration has happen'd within 20 days. Together with divers particulars about the Spanish Armada, and the use the Spaniards would make of the English Catholic fugitives, by spreading false reports in England, &c.

110. Original Letter of Sir Edward Stafford (partly in Cyfre) to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Paris, 28 June, 1588. that the Treatie between the French King & those of the League is not yet concluded. That the King cannot now do what he would; though he has caused the Goods of the English Merchants which were seized at Rouen upon Letters of Mart, to be restored. That the Queen-Mother has lately taken up 20000 Crowns at large interest, & upon great Gages; and that & the Poor of Paris mightily desire to plunder the Rich.

111. An Original Paper of Mr. Richard Hakluyt, (written, as it seems) to Sir Francis Walsingham, July, 1588. containing an overture made from France for her Majesties assisting the French King, against the League with 5000 Men, & paying the same for 6 Months. With the Answer of the Popes Nuncio to the King upon the offer made him from Q. Eliz. by Mr. Bodley. As, how cunningly the League would persuade the King to abandon the League with England, & the protection of Geneva, & of Sedan.

112. Original Letter of Sir Edward Stafford (partly written in Cyfre) to Sir Francis Walsingham, & Dated at Paris, 6 July, 1588. advertising that those of the League being in despair of being assisted by the Spanish Armada, & seeing the Lorrainers recalled by their Duke, had signed a Treatie with the King; the Articles whereof they would not have printed, but the King would. That the Queen Mother, & the Duke of Guise (as fearing the Kings resentment) weep & lament in private. And that the King as soon as he has disposed of the Arsenal & of the Bastille, & received the Obedience of the Parisians, will go to Bloys.

113. Original Letter of Sir Edward Stafford, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Paris, 7 July, 1588. complaining of the prodigious scarcitie of money in France, and therefore intreating him to give him Credit there for 1000 or 1200 Crownes, at this time, when he is to follow the French King to Bloys; & his Lady to go over to England, and sollicite his Return.

114. Original Letter to Sir Francis Walsingham, by Sir Edward Stafford, Dat. at Paris, 10 July, 1588. concerning a young man who brought over Letters to the English fugitives, & others there.

115. Original Letter of Sir Edward Stafford (partly written in Cyfre) to Sir Francis Walsingham, & Dat. at Paris 15 July, 1588. concerning the signing the Treatie with those of the League; divers of the Articles whereof being very dishonourable to the French King, it was thought he would keep only the rest. Of a Counterleague headed by the Dukes of Longueville, Nevers, &c. (as was to be hoped) under the K. of Navarre if he would become Catholic; with other matters touching the League; and of the Commission of

of the Popes Nuntio to draw the King of Navarre off from his faith. 220.

116. Original Letter of Sir Edward Stafford (partly in Cyfre) to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Paris, 20 July, 1588. advertising that the League was never so hated at Court as now; that the Duke de Guise was hated about the Q. Mothers Court; and that the King was far from a reconciliation with her. That had it not been for a fear of falling under the tyranny of the Duke d'Elperon, the Duke de Guise had been rotten ere now. 222.

117. Original Letter (partly in Cifre) to Sir Francis Walsingham, by Sir Edward Stafford, Dat. at Paris. . . July, 1588. shewing that the Queen-Mother is in great perplexitie, upon this Peace, and in private bemoans the sinking of her Credit, fearing that she shall never return to Paris again, and also the effects of the Counter-league, which she thinks was made by the Kings consent. But Sir Edward thinks it was not, because the Abbot d'Albeni, whom (the King had publicly banished from the Court, upon pain of being beaten with cudgells) is one of the chief actors in it. 224.

118. Original Letter, in French, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Signed. S. D. S. & dated at Rochelle, 19 August, 1588. for giving credence to the bearer Monfr. de la Grotiere; and (if I understand this dark Letter aright) it points out the measures for keeping the King of Navarre constant to the Protestant party. 226.

119. Original Letter (partly in Cifre) of Sir Edward Stafford, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at Paris, 19 August, 1588. That there is a great Broyle at Court, upon Monfr. de Nevers still refusing the conducting of the Arraye, & some demands of the Princes of the Blood. That there is a likelihood of the French Kings being obliged to desire the Pope to send him a Dispensation for his oath to observe the League made with the Queen of England; though when it comes, Affairs may be so altered as that he need not make use of it. That the King of Navarre's partie is grown very strong and still encreases, as the others bring hatred upon themselves. And that endeavors are used to breake the Amitie between Q. Eliz. & the French King. 227.

120. A Collection of the late wordes, which the late & most noble Prince, the Lorde Fraunces of Lorraine, Duke of Guise, Knight of the Order, Pere of France, & Lieutenant-General for the King, spake & uttered a little before his death, to my Lady the Duchesse his wife, my Lorde his sonne, my Lordes the Cardinales his brethren, and to manye other being presente at the hower of his death. 229.

121. Original Letter of Captain Barney (an Intelligencer) to the Lord Cobham, Dat. at Paris (or Calles?) 27 October, 1588. advertising that the Spaniards are much enraged against the Duke of Parma, not only for beleaguering Bergues against the advice of the Council of War (upon which occasion, they say that wife men build upon Reason, fools upon Fortune) but also, upon his not assisting the Invasion of England so far as was expected from him. That great Jealousies arise in the breasts of the Italian Princes, of the King of Spain, &c. 234.

122. A Brief of such Exactions as the Merchants of London have been burdened with at Bourdeaux & in the Ryver of Sherrant, since the Year 1589 (amounting to the Sum of 168219 l. 6 s. 8 d. Sterling) 236.

123. Copie in common hand, of what was written in Cyfre, in Sir Edward Staffords Letter, above mentioned, at N. 107. 238.

CAT. HARL. VOL. I.

Here follow Copies of many Letters written by John Bourghier, Lord Bernors, &c. Embassadors of K. Henry viii. to the Emperor Charles v. King of Spain, the same year that Eleanor Sister of Charles v. was married to Emanuel King of Portugal. i. e. 1518. viz.

42. Part of a Letter to the King relating that the French Ambassador had demanded 3 things of the Catholick King. 1. That the Marriage between . . . should be fulfilled on his behalf. 2. Restitution to be made of Navar, to the Kings son that was. 3. That the Damage done to the Frenchmen by the losse of Naples should be made good; with his Answer. Of the Declaration he made to the French Ambassador, of refusing his Maister, or assisting the King of England, in case he should make war with either of them.

43. Letter to the Kings Grace, written at Saragoza, the 12th of May, 1518. describing in what good order the Catholick King observed the Feast of St. George, in the Robes of the Order of the Garter. What passed at the Communication had with divers of the Spanish Minifters; as in what thankful part that Embassy was accepted, the scope of it being to advance the Amitie of the two Kings to the greatest perfection, and straints (This seems to be part of another Letter, fol. 110.) what Declarations had been made to the French Ambassador in case his Maister should offer to make war, with either of them. What methods the French King had taken to cause himself to be elected Emperor, & what was done to prevent it. That they refused the overture of the French King for an Interview to be had between himself, the Emperor, & his Catholic Majestie. That the Marriage of the Lady Eleanor with the King of Portugal was declared. And that the Pope had, by Bull, approved the Amitie & Confederation made between His Majestie (K. Henr. viii.) the Emperor & the King of Spain.

44. Letter to the Lord Cardinal Wolsey, Dat. from Saragoza, the 12th of May, 1518. advertising him amongst other things, what answer they made to the Lord Shevers & the Chancellor of Burgundie, who told them, they had sure knowledge out of France, that the French King & his Counsellors reputed themselves firme & falle of diversle Nobles in Inglande. That the Lord Shevers had stopped the King of Spaines Grant of a Pension to him (the Cardinal) as it came to be signed & sealed. And advices that the King may send some present to those two Lords, &c.

45. Letter to the Lord Cardinal Wolsey, written the 13th day of May, 1518. recommending the bearer Thomas Batcocke to his favor; who had done them many & great services in Spaine.

46. Letter to the Lord Cardinal Wolsey, written at Saragoza, the 14th day of June, 1518. relating the Answer they made to the Lord Shyvers, who marvelled that Mr. Secretarie (Pace?) was not gone to Switzerland, as was promised. That the Chancellor of Burgundie is dead, & the other Flemings die apace, and in procees of time will be all worne out, though, at present, few besides them come much about the King. He is in a dear Countrey, where he may well commande, but they do as they list.

47. Letter to the Lord Cardinal, Dat. from Saragoza, 21 day of June, 1518. that the Dispensation for the Lady Eleanors Marriage is coming, & then she goes for Portugall: that the Lord Schevers (a Fleming) is true to his Majesties interests, & deserves to be looked upon. That the King has taken the Oath to the Realme & for observing the Privileges of the People, which are exceeding many; but none among them them for his Honor or Profit. and that they are not as yet sworne to him. Desires him to send him some Cramp-Rings, & promises to bestow them well.

47. Letter to the Kings Grace, from Saragoza, the 2d day of July, 1518. describing the Triumphs lately made in Spain, with Pageants, &c. That on Corpus Christi-day, the King with 24 Noblemen, bare the Canopie over the Sacrament, throughout the Towne. That the Sunday following, in the Market-place, the King preint, upon Scaffolds, there were 4 Pageants, representing, The Decollation of St John Baptist; The Austoryte of the Church by Cryll commytted to his Apostels; the Alceneyone; And the daie of Judgement.

110. b.

48. Part of a Letter to Cardinal Wolley, advertising, that in Spain they look for a breach with France: That about 200 Turkes had landed in Naples, & took, among 100 Prisoners, a Nobleman & his Wife coming from their Marriage. That the King prepares a great Armie for Barbary. He also again desires that the Cramp-Rings may be sent.

(N.B. The form of consecrating the Cramp-Ring, is in Bibl. Cotton.)

49. Letter to the Kings Grace, from Saragoza, 12th daie of July, 1518. Shewing what the King of Spaine requests now from him; among other things; to have Tournay entirely to himself; and that he would so effectually labour with the Emperor & the Electors assembled now at Olebroughe (Osnabroughe) as that the French King may not obtain his purpose of being chosen King of the Romans. That the French King is much displeased in that the Catholic King declines the desired interview with him. And that the Lady Eleanour shall be espoused to morrow to the King of Portugal, by deputy. And, lastly desires some of his Majesties hallowed Rings.

121. b.

50. Letter to the Lord Cardynall Wolley's Grace, Dat. from Saragoza, the 25 of July, 1518. setting forth the extreme scarcitie & dearth of all necessaries for Horie & Man; That the Kingdom of Aragon is not yet sworn to the King, who exercises himself & his Nobles with the Barres, Justs, &c. That the Spaniards are extremely fearful lest the French King should become Emperor; & desire war with France upon the account of not restoring Navarre. And still desires some Cramp-Rings.

122. b.

51. Letter to the Kings Grace, Dat. from Saragoza, the 16th daie of August, 1518. advertizing with what words the King of Spaine desired the continuance & Augmentation of His Majesties Amitie. That the French King has with his own hand, written into Spain touching the delivery of Tournay, and of the marriage intended to be between the Dolphin, & the Princeesse Mary of England. That the Ambassadors of the Prince of Navarre are dispatched away with an Answer to this effect, that since the Reclouie of Navarre is annexed to the crowne of Castile, he cannot make any resolute Answer touching the restitution of it, till he shall have consulted the States of Castile thereupon. That many bickerings have happened upon the borders of Navarre between the French & Spaniards; and that the K. of Spain desired him to let his Majestie know that, whatever shall happen, his only trust is in him. Lastly he beseeches the Kings Grace to send him some of his hallowed Rings, which be very fore desired of them.

123.

52. Letter to the Kings Grace, Dat. from Saragoza, the 17th of September, 1518. concerning the heartie professions made of the greatest Amitie to his Majestie by the Catholic King. Who desires to see all the Articles of the marriage to be between the Dolphin & the Princeesse Marie, when concluded; and also all the

Num. 295.

Articles touching the delivery of Tournay to the French. That his Catholic Majestie was sorry for the delivering of it up, but that he seemed to be satisfied with this Answer, that no Universal Peace could be, if it remained either in the Power of England or Spaine. That the King of Spaine thanked the Lord Cardinal (Wolley) for his loving letter, & good advice, which he was resolved to follow.

124. b.

53. Letter to the Kings Grace from Saragoza, Dat. 8th daie of Octobre, 1518. advertizing that the K. of Spaine went a daies journey with his siter the new Queen of Portugal, toward that Countrey; and that the Portuguesse Ambassador in his matters name, had desired them to assure his Majestie (K. Henry VIII.) that he would in all things be at his will and desire. That an Ambassade is come thither from the Rhodes, being a Lorde of Fraunce & Sir Thomas Shefelde, for the reforming of their Religion in those parts. That the Kings stay in Arragon is uncertain, through the pride & oblinacy of the States & Rulers of the same; who are likewise equalled by those of Valencia & Catalonia.

125. Imperf.

54. Latter Part of a Letter, touching the French Kings intrigues with the Switzers.

127.

55. Letter to the Lord Cardinal Wolley, from Saragoza the 18th daie of September, 1518. that the King of Spain was much moved when he received his Graces Letters, thanked him for them, & said he would substantially provide for the Contents in the same. That he does not seem well content with the delivery of Tournay; as being in doubt of a breach with France, for which reason they foretold Navarre. And that they still harp upon the French King's hiring 6000 Switzers, to be in continual readinesse. Also, that the Spaniards not being called to Council, but when more than ordinary occasion requires, Jealousies and Discontents begin to arise between them & the Burgundians.

127.

56. Mr. Doctor Edward Lee's Letter from Spaine to Cardinal Wolley; it is all about the Emperors new Offers of Pensions to the Cardinal, and about giving the satisfaction desired touching the Arrerages of the Old, written About A. D. 1523.

128.

57. Original Letter of Doctor Edward Lee to the Lord Legate (i. e. Cardinal Wolley) Dat. at Granada the 12th of December. . . . that at his last Audience he had in the Kings name exhorted him to promote peace & unite among Christian Princes; and that obtained, to carry their forces against the common enemy the Turke: with the Emperors answer made thereupon, full of gratitude to the King. That the King for his studious Zeale and graciouse Sollicitude of their publique Affaires, winneth highe Glorie. That Don Ferdinando the Emperors brother is received by the Bohemians for their King, & intendeth to besiege Belgrade.

129.

58. Copie of a Letter to King Henry VIII. Dat. at Valedolet in Spain, 6 April, shewing that the Prelats had upon their knees made answer to the Emperors demand of Money; to this effect, that they requested him not to make war with the Pope; and that they would to the utmost of their power supply him against the Turke. That the Emperor had replied that his inclinations to Peace were sufficiently known, though his release of the French King had not been attended with the desired effects. That he had rather live in peace with the Pope than with any other; but that the Pope had already, by proceffe, given Sicily away from him, and made the Duke of Lorraine Vice-Roy thereof: and was about to take Naples & Milan from him also. That he could not beare these things, &c. And that seeing the Grandes held with the Clergy about the Taxes required, the Emperor had fallen sick out of conceit.

Num. 295.

59. Extract of Letters sent to my Lorde Cardinal Wolsey, in Cifres, by Mr. (i. e. Sr. Thomas) Boleyne, & Mr. (Doct^r Richard) Sampson, dated at Valedolite the 8th day of Merche, 1523. (i. e. a Copie of a long Letter perhaps sent in Cyfre) whereby he was advertised that the Emperor had assured them that he would observe all covenants made with K. Henry vii. and that he therefore desired that the King would invade France, as he was resolved to do, by the latter end of May next, with 20000 Foot, & 4000 Light-Horse. That the Emperor also insisted much upon invading France by sea. That the Grandes, & Cities of Spain offer largely toward the warres, so that there will be no want of men. That besides this, the Emperor intends to mortgage some of his Lands for 1300000 Ducats (to be applied to this war) and to redeem the same again, by the help of a Crusado, which he hopes to obtain of the Pope. That the French King had found out the Duke of Bourbon's intrigues with the Emperor & his Majestie, and had hinted so much to him; and that that Duke was retired from the Court to the Country. That the Spanish Grandes, are now, at length, called to Council; but that there is little love between them & the Flemings. That the Duke of Milains Ambassador shewed them that their master desired his Majestie to contribute toward the defence of his Dominions, against the French. That the Emperor will send no Naval force into the Channel, as was desired by the King, but will leave the same to be secured by his Majestie; but as to his own territories he will provide sufficiently for the defence of the same by Sea & Land. That the Emperors Council objected that the King having 105000 Men in Arms, employed them all against the Scots, for his particular profit; but that they answered that besides these, his Majestie has another armie, to be sent beyond the seas, to join with that of the Emperor. That some expreffions which his Grace (the Cardinal) had lett fall touching the Emperor, are not well taken there. And since both Monsieur de Nassau & the Great Master have shewn special affection to the King, & to his affairs; they desire that a Letter of Thanks may be written to them, &c. 153.

60. Extract of a Letter in Cifres sent unto the Kings Highness from (Sir Tho. Boleyne & Dr. Sampson) the Ambassadors beyng with th^e Emperor, in Spayne of the 14 of January, & 6th of Febr. 1523. (the second Letter is wanting, if it be not the Postscript to the first) But by the former they advertise his Majestie, that the Emperor will use his best diligence, with his Majesties helpe, to bring not only the Venetians, but even the Switzers, unto his interests. Of the Emperors willingness to comply with the requests made by the Duke of Bourbon, viz. that he, & the K. of England should pay the 10000 Foot, and 500 Spears raised by the said Duke. But that as to the other request of that Duke for marriage with his sister, he would take good deliberation. That the Emperor had intelligence, out of France, by his spies that the French King is sure of 20000 Switzers, and meane to pass into Italy: but before he goes, he would compound things with the Duke of Bourbon, by flaying the process against him, and granting him Madam Renee his Queens sister in marriage. By the Postscript they write, that of the 3 Ambassadors which the Emperor sent lately to the Switzers, 2 of them, with about 26 other persons, perished in their Voyage. That there were Reports, that the King of Portugal is in love with the Queen of Portugal his Fathers widow. That seeing the present King was at first designed to be married to her, his father would not suffer him to speake to her, or come into her presence; and that now she is said to be with child. That thro' the solicitations of the French King (made by one of the Emperors own Counsellors, and also of the Pope's Nuncio) the Emperor shews more inclination to Peace, than War. That Fontarabia is likely to be surrendered, since the succours which the French sent to it by sea were beaten. But since revivallued. 139.

86. Original Letter of an Intelligencer, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at St. Lucar, 8 Junij, 1588. He writes that the Armada has sett sail for the Groynne, there to remain 'till further advice be taken. That 13 Pinnaces which were said to go along with the Armada, are order'd to sail to Carthagea, to bring home the Kings treasure, and advices that some light & nimble Ships may be sett out to intercept them. In order to prevent any Suspicion of his giving Intelligence, he desires Licence to export a ship load of Wheate, & a last of Powder to Spaine, whereby he thinks he shall much please that people. 197.

87. Original Letter of the same Intelligencer, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. at St. Lucar, 22 October, 1588. aduertising that the Duke of Medina Sidonia was returned with the shattered remains of the Armada, and was ordered by the King to visit his familie before he came to Court. That the King had revived an old Statute, whereby all Mourning Apparel is forbidden. That he had removed Antonio de Gacevarra from the place of Proveditor-General in the Army, because the Biscuit being made of Meal mingled with Ashes & Lime, had killed a great Number of the Soulders. That He had called an Assembly of the Cortes of his Kingdom, & demanded 50000 Men of them, to be paid for one year. That the Pinnaces mentioned in his former Letter (No. 86.) had brought an immense Treasure to St. Lucar, whereupon the Contraction-house of Seville had taken off the Imbargo laid upon all Shipping, as fearing Pirates. 199.

A Collection of Tracts, Letters, & loose Papers (as well originals, as ancient copies) relating to the Affairs of Spaine, Italy, Germany, Denmarke, &c. or to the Transactions between England and those Countreys; now bound up together, in the following order.

1. Discours for l'entreprinse que pourroit faire le serenissime Roy Don Antonio, pour le recouvrement de son Royaume. De l'Effect & Utilite d'icelle pour ceaux du Pays-bas; et secoundement, pour la serenissime Roynne d'Angleterre. 1.

2. Original Letter of Sir Francis Englefield (as appears lower, by fol. 6.) (partly in Cyfre, to Mr. Robert Heighington, Dat. 19 August, 1589. concerning the sufferings of the Catholicks in England; and of a late Order, whereby Popish Noblemen & Gentlemen have had their Libertie granted them, upon their respective Bonds. That Sir Francis Drake, General Norris, &c. having burnt Vigo, it was thought they were gone to the Terceras, whither the Spanish Armada was gone in quest of them. 3.

to Witsich-Castle were the ill Air would consume them privately. And that notwithstanding the Reprieves given to the Earl of Arundel, he would certainly come to the Block, at last, as his Father did. How the English Fleet had attacked the Groynne, & afterwards Lisbon with prodigious Losse, by sickness, by the sword, & by the King of Spains ships. That afterwards they had burnt an old defenceless Towne in Galicia, called Vigo, which was deferred before by the Inhabitants; but were soon obliged to leave those Coasts. 5.

4. Such a Description of Spain, as is extant in N. S. 37. B. 14. at fol. 77. and written by the same Hand: saving that this shews 5.

10. Nuove di Roma. 30.

Here follow Transcripts of divers Instructions, Letters, &c. written in the time of King Henr. VIII. viz.

11. Letter of King Henry VIII. to his Ambassador at Rome (Sr. Francis Brian?) concerning the Appeale which the King intended to make from the Pope; which he would not have him produce while the Emperor staves in Italy. Instructs him how to answer to the Pope's Bulls, limiting the Council of Nice, about Appeals; and sends him a grant of the Bishoprick of Ely, for some old man or other. 31.

12. A Speech spoken in Parliament, temp. H. 8. for granting the King money, inveighing bitterly against Cardinal Pole, the Pope & his Religion. Ibid.

13. Instructions given by the Kings Highnes, K. Hen. VIII. to sent into Germany to reside as his Agents in the Courts of the Elector of Saxony, & of the Duke of Bavaria: but the main part of their Commission was to informe themselves of all occurrences in Germany, and to advertise his Majestie thereof from time to time, with all speed. 32. b.

14. Litterae Henrici VIII. ad Ducem Mediolanensem, de Dño Ricardo Paceo primario suo Secretario, quem miserat ad Ducem Borbonensem ad res suas procurandas. 33.

15. Litterae Henrici VIII. R. Angl. ad Dñm Canell. quendam Argentinensium. 35. b.

16. Letter of Cardinal Wolsey to the Kings Ambassadors at Rome, Stephen Gardiner, Sir Gregorie de Cassalis, Sr. Francis Bryan, & Mr. Peter Vannes, advertising them, that since the Pope does so absolutely depend upon the Emperor, as that he dares not displease him; and that in this weighty Cause (of the Kings Divorce) he hath declared himself, as it were, a Partie: the King seeing that no good can be done there, will proceede in the Declyon of the same here by vertue of the Commission alreadie granted unto him & the Lorde Legate Campegius. And, to that end does now recall Mr. Stevyns (i. e. Gardiner) & Sr. Francis, from thence; that so Gardiner might form the Procefs, and assist at other other matters relating to the Triall. But directing them before their Departure, to procure the Pope to enlarge his said Commission; as also to gett a new Pollicitation (which if well managed may be as usefull to the King, as the Commission Decretal) by pretending that the former, which was much limited, tooke the weitt in the Voyage to England, & thereby became illegible, and in the drawing up a New one, Gardiner to slip in such words & expressions, as should be most to the Kings purpose. Touching a Brief sent from Rome, material in this Cause, which is thought by Reason of the Date to be a Counterfeit. For in the Court of Rome, the usage of computing the Year of our Lord, in Bulls, & Briefs is different. In Bulls beginning at the Incarnation of our Lord, & in Briefs, at the Nativitee. So that the Forger, who thought both were alike, in dating the Brief A. D. 1503. Pontificatus Julij anno primo (and to make both Bull and Brief bear date of the same day) has dated his Brief before Pope Juley was Pope. But, to be certain, directs them to enquire whether the Year in Breeves, does change upon Christmase-day, or New-yeares day. That after the Departure of Mr. Stevyns & Sr. Francis Brian, Sr. Gregory & Mr. Peter Vannes "must have a Vigelent le, pecyally regarding & harken- inge to provide stoppe & lett, that no Advocation of the Cause, Revocation of the 2 Legates Comission, Inhilycyon, Recufation, Appelation, or other Acte, "which may in any thyng empêche, disturbe, protraite, "or delaye the Kings Cause, be at the Courte of Rome "admitted, passed, or consented, att any th' Emperors, "the Quenes, or their Agents Requisitions, Porlute, "or Intiance, made, or to be made there." Finally ordering Sir Francis & Dr. Gardiner to hast home with all convenient speede, bringing with them all "soch Bolles " & Expeditions, as they have in charge to impetrate "there, eyther for the Kings Colledges or His." ibid.

*16. Intruditions given by the Kinges Hyghenes to his trustye & welbeloued Servants . . . gd, Becket gentellman husfuer of his Graces Chamber, & John Wrathe Sewer of the fame, whome his Hyghenes nowe sendeth into the partes of Cornewalle, commanding them to apprehend William Kendall, if not already taken into Custody; as also Sir William Courteney, Sir Thomas Denys, & Thomas Arundelle Esq; &c. to enquire into Kendall's late behaviour, as also into that of the Lord Marquis (perhaps Henry Pole Marquis Montacute) and whether he or his servants gave it out that he was Heir Apparent to the Crowne, &c. This was upon the Rebellion in the West, temp. H. 8. 36. b.

17. Letter of K. Henry VIII. to Sir Francis Brian & Mr. . . . Fox, who had been his Ministers at Rome, & now resided in France, thanking them for their dexteritie used in obtaining the Subscriptions of the Men there & at Orleans learned in the Law, concerning the Questions moved unto them, concerning the Injuries done unto him by the Pope; and directing the same to be procured at Tholouse. And for as much as Overtures had been made to them on the part of the French King, who was now in great want of Money, that his Majestie would beare with his delay of the 100000 Crowns due in November next. His Majestie commands them to signify that he is willing to beare with the delay of the payment of part, but not of all that sum. Concerning the Approbation of the University of Paris to the book written in the Kings behalf by the Dolphins Confessor. And lastly requires him to desire the French King to give his Consent to Edmund Wolley factor to Rishard Gresham, his exportation of 50 Great Cables. 37.

18. Letter of Sir Francis Bryan to K. Henr. VIII. Dat. at Bloys, 21 of November, 15 . . . shewing that according to the Kings last letters, he had spoken to the Great Master, and afterwards had had an Audience of the French King, to whom he had, in general terms fett forth the right detestable Practises & Conspiracys newlye compassed by (Wolsey) the Lorde Cardynall Archebyschope of Yorke, as well to the Corte at Rome, as within his Realme; and with what bitter Expressions the King reviled Wolsey upon that occasion. That the King of France did promise to suffer no Order of the Pope to be proclaimed within his Dominions against him; and that he would not have any Interview with the Emperor, or agree to any Generall Council, without his Consent. Also of the smart reply he made to the Venetian Ambassador who sollicitied him to write to his Majestie, & dehorth him from proceeding any farther in that matter of Q. Katherine. 33.

19. Then follow,

Relazioni di Roma mandateni dal Duca Casimiro, alli 24 d'Aprile, 1586. 40.

20. Original Letter of William Hay, Dat. at Venis 1 April, 1587. as it seems, to Sir Francis Wallingham, shewing that he was determined to wait for answer to this Letter, before he would begin to send him any Advertisements: left the Letter which he had received & which desired his Correspondence, should not be of his fending. 41.

21. Original Letter of the Capitano Jacoppo da Pilla, written from Milan, 3 May, 1587. partly in Cifre, but transcribed in common hand, on the same page; describing two Englishmen that came from Rome in their way to Rhemes, whose Names he hopes to advertise hereafter. That there are orders for sending some Horse to the Duke of Lorraine, & thinks they will raise some Foot. 42.

22. Original Letter of Pompeo Pellegrini, if this be not a feigned Name, to Giacopo Mannucci, i. e. perhaps Sir Francis Wallingham, Dat. at Florence 3 July, 1587. That it was thought the Spanish Fleet would not fail from Lisbon untill they were joyned by another strong Fleet from Italy, which was actually failed. That the attempts of Sir Francis Drake upon the Spanish Coasts make those people tremble, where if upon his entering the Port of Cales, he had immediately landed, he might certainly have plundered that rich Town; though as it was, the Milchief he did them came to 1000000 of Crowns. That the King of Spain levies great sums every where. That a Captain is arrived there to raise 600 Horse in Italy, as pretended, for the Duke of Lorraine; but that his Commissions are signed by the Duke of Parma. Lastly that his Intelligencer positively assures him, that the next year, & not this, they will undoubtedly invade England. 44.

23. Original Letter of B. C. i. e. Pompeo Pellegrini to Jacopo Mannucci (i. e. as upon the backside of this Letter Mr. Standen) Dat. 28 August, NS. partly written in Cifre, & advertising that whereas he had sent one to Sicily to observe the Levies there, upon advices he had recd from Palermo, he had recalled his Messenger who had proceeded as far as Leghorne. That the Gr. Duke of Tuscany does not like the pillaging of the Spanish Flotas, wherein his Subjects have great Interest. And that if Drake should intercept that from Peru, it would go hard with the English in his Dominions; against whom his Subjects by reason of such their losses have lately entertained a great averfion. That the City of Ragusa has promised to furnish the K. of Spaine with 80 Ships & 4000 Mariners the next Spring. That the King of Spain's Enterprize upon England, proceeds not so much out of his Inclination, as from the Necessitie he lies under of preferring the Indian Navigation, being the fairest flower in his Garland. That the Pope is far from intending to raise any new Surs in Italy as was reported, but rather bends his whole thoughts upon the Invasion of England. And though the Castle of St. Angelo be already furnished with 2800000 Crowns, he is still raking up more Money. That the last advices import that the Pope, & the Kings of France & Spain are united against England. 46.

24. Original

Num. 296.

24. Original Letter of Stephen Powell, perhaps to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. from Venice, 7 November, 1587. That one Michael Giraldo a Bergomase, has sett sail for England, pretending to be a Merchant, as it was thought (for several Reasons) to poison her Majestie, by the Intigation of the Pope; and gives hints at the Ship wherein he sailed. That the Pope under pretence of supporting the War against the Hereticks, & for performing some great Enterprize, has enriched himself exceedingly. Communicates the News from various places.

25. Original Letter of Capt. Tho. Moffet, to Sir Francis Walsingham, Dat. from Rouen (not from Rome, as it has been understood) 18 October, 1588. That there has some great Designe been lately broached at Rome which is kept very close. Relates a merry story of a Spaniard who had sold all he had to furnish out a Ship in the Spanish Armada, & then fell sick. Upon his Recovery, he sailed in a Pinnace for England (which he thought was already conquered by the help of his Ship) with a Placart of the Kings to be made Governor of Dover. But that his Interest therein, might be bought for a few Maravedies. That there are Braggs of the Spanish interest in Scotland; and that the K. of Spaine will either plant the Catholick Religion in England, or lose his own. And that to this end he makes greater preparations than ever.

26. Original Letter, in Italian, to Mr. Peter Wroth, Dat. 24 October, 1589. in answer to a Letter received; wherein he gives a short Account of some Computations of Time, viz. of the Olympiads, & from the building of Rome, those used by the Old Greeks, & this by the Antient Romans. From the Beginning of the World used by the modern Greeks; from the Incarnation of Christ, used by other Christians; and finally of the Hegira of the Mahometans.

27. Original Letter of Richard Willoughby, to Doctor Hawkins; Dated at Padua, 24 May, 1594. concerning the Popes Intrigues against Henry iv. elected King of France: whom, nevertheless, the Venetians have resolved to send an Ambassage to. That the Emperor has craved an Assistance, in Money, of the Pope & Italian Princes. That the Duke of Mantua was promised by the Pope to be General of the Italian Forces in Hungary; but now excuses himself from taking that charge upon him, as being afraid of the King of Spains great preparations in Italy, which are, yet, given out to be against the French King. That the Germans are more fortunate in obtaining of great Victories against the Turks, than diligent in well using them when gained. That the Turks take great pains in maintaining the Amities of the Venetians, at this juncture; though the Turkish Pirates do at the same time comit great Insolencies upon them.

29. Original Letter of Edward Smith, to Mr. Secretary Davison, Dat. at Venice 16 of Februarie; this Mr. Smith, it seems was Governor to Mr. Secretary Davison's son, and presses him to send a speedy supply of Money, the Young Gentleman being humorisome & extravagant.

30. The Usage & Behavior of John Pasquale in Rome. This Pasquall, it seems, was a Catholick & bitter enemy to Qu. Elizabeth, whom he had slandered with the having of two daughters, one by the Earl of Leicester, the other by Sir William Pickeringe. He was a mighty acquaintance with Dr. Allen at Rome; and was sent by the Pope to England in company of certain Priests, to whom he was Paymaster on the Popes behalfe. The Author of this Narration seems to hint at his being taken & imprisoned, and desires to be confronted with him.

A Book in fol. containing a Collection of Papers, for the most part relating to matters of State, in the time of the Kings Hen. vii. and Henry viii; transcribed by the Hand of Mr. Ralf Starkey, or of his Amanuensis: and now bound up in the order following, viz.

1. Fragment of the Acts of Council of K. Henry vii. including only those done in July the 10th, 11th, 14th, and 16th. in the first year of his Reigne. 1.

2. The Will of K. Henry vii. Dat. at Canterbury the 10 of April, an. Regni 24. i. e. A.D. 1509. 8.

3. An Estimat for the Charge for the making of a Tombe for K. Henry vii. to be erected in his Chapel in Westminster; which Plott was afterward disliked by K. Henry viii. and altered according as it now standes. 28.

4. Instruções given by the Kinges Majestie Hen. viii. to his Highnes trustie & welbelovd Councillors Mr. Doctor Wotton Deane of Canterbury & Yorke; Sir William Pickeringe Knight, His Majesties Ambassadeur-Resident with the Frenche King; & Sir Thomas Chalenor Knight: sent to offer the French King his Majesties mediation for Peace between the Emperor & him. 31.

5. A Memorial given by the Kinges Majestie (Edw. vi.) to his Highnes trustie & right welbelovd Councillors, the Rt. Reverend Father in God . . . Bishop of . . . Sir Robt. Bowes; Sir Leonard Beckwith, & Sr. Tho. Challenor Knights, whom his Majestie appointed his Commissioners to treat with the Frenche Kinges Ambassadors? concerning the limits between England and Scotland, the debatable Ground, & the Fishing in the River Tweede. 36.

6. Letter of Cardinal Wolley to Mr. Richard Sampson Deane of the Kings Chappell, & Sr. Richard Gernyngham Kt. the Kings Ambassadors to the Emperor in Spaine, Dat. at Grenewiche, 24th January, 152. . . Instrueting them how to demean themselves in such manner, as that (since the Emperor seems not able to continue the War with France, in such a fort as he had promised) an honorable Peace may be offered to his Majestie; or in default of that, a Truce for a sufficient Time; and this to be done by the French King. But in case the French King shall not desire either Peace or Truce; his Majestie proposes that the Emperor should apply the 100000 Crowns promised, on his part, to the Duke of Bourbon, toward the paying of 3000 Burgundians Horsemen, with 3000 Lance-Knights, footmen, and a good number of Guns to be lent to his Majestie, who will be at all charges in rendering the said Guns useful, and will besides furnish out an Army of 20000 Men, to be (with the Emperors 6000 abovementioned) put under the Command of the Duke of Bourbon; and with which he may go to Paris, and not only oblige the French King to restore him to his former State, but to other reasonable Conditions of Peace. And if the Emperor will not consent to this, they are instructed how to make other proposals. 39.

7. Letter of Cardinal Wolley to Mr. Doctor Sampson Deane of the Kings Chappell, & his Graces Ambassador to the Emperor, Dat. at his Place besides Westminster, 5 Decemb. 152. . . desiring him to make his Complements to Mr. John L'Allenmande (the Emperors Secretary) and to deliver to him, the Proxie sent herewith, which empowers him to receive the Pensions which the Emperor has given him, the Cardinal, out of two Bishopricks. Out of which he desires Mr. J. L'Allenmande to accept of & deduct 200 Ducats yearly as his Gift. Also, to lett him know in how thankful part the King takes his good Offices, which he will also reward with a Pension, &c. 50.

8. Instructions given by the Kings Highnes to his trusty & right wel-beloued Counsaillours Sir Thomas Boleyn Threafurour of his houshold, & Dr. Sampson Deane of his Chapell; contayninge fuche matters & ouvertures as on the Kings behalfe they shall declare & make to the Emperour. i. e. To thank him for communicating to him the French Kings practises for obtaining Peace, and for the answer he made to the same. To shewe the Emperour that the French have made like Offers to him, and received like Answer. To reflect upon the French Kings melting the Plate, garnishing the Corps of St. Martin, the Images of the 12 Apostles, &c. as sacrilegious, and as what would provoke Gods indignation against him. To praise him upon his most Christian Relolutions taken, of succouring the Rhodes against the Turkes. To Congratulate him upon the submission of his rebellious Subjects. As also, how joyfull his Majestie is that he will be ready to invade France by the time appointed. Touching the Ambassage coming from Portugal to the Emperour, to offer him that King's sister in Marriage, & to extoll the Answer which the Emperour intends to make to that Overture. Also to declare to him, that the Duke of Bourbon being discontented with the French Kings inordinate & sensual Government, is disposed to redresse the same, with the Insolent Demeanours of that King & of such his indiscreet Counsellors as have induced him into such Folly & Danger as he now stands in, by the loss of his Dominions out of France, & the impoverishment of his Subjects within. In order to which, he is not only willing to crave the Emperors Alliance by Marriage with his sister, but to joyn with him & his Majestie, at such time as they shall make actual War in France. That the Duke of Bourbon propoosed to bring into the Field 500 Men at Armes, with 8 or 10000 Men; and if these Proposals might be accepted, to send his Chancellor to some appointed Place in Savoy, there to treat with their Ministers. And to shew the Emperour what Advantages may accrue to their common Cause by such an Accession of Strength. To have an Eye upon the Emperors Conduct with relation to the King of Portugal's sister in case she comes into Spain. To acquaint him that the Switzers have agreed to assist the French King in the recovery of the Duchie of Milan: and that the Venetians are like to joyn with them therein, unless taken off by good Offers: wherein as he has already begun, he will continue to do what he can. To advertise him of the fallensels of the Duke of Albany & the other Scots Noblemen, who when they found the Kings Army in readines to give them Battle, desired the Qu. of Scottes, the Kings sister, to mediate a Truce for them, and promising to send an Ambassage of noble persons to him, to ask a Peace. That this Truce being granted at that Queens request, & the Kings Army withdrawn, the Duke of Albany & the rest would neither continue the Truce, nor send any Ambassador, unless his Majestie would comprize the French King in the Peace, which he would not do. To sett forth the damages which the Kings Army did, this last Campaigne, to the French in Picardy; together with the uselessness of the Spanish Fleet. Lastly, since by the decease of Sir Thomas Spinelli his Majesties late Ambassador in Spaine, the Cipher he used is come into the hands of divers persons; his Majestie herewith sends a new one.

9. Instructions given to Mr. Doctor Nicholas Wootton sent towards the Emperour to remaine there as Ambassador Leger, in the place of Edmund Boner? the Bishope of London, & Sir Francis Brian. First to take his Audience of Leave of the Queen of Hungary Regent in the Low Countreys, with whom he was resident, and to shew her that his place would be supplied by Dr. Leighton Dean of Yorke. Then to repaire to the Emperour, & to acquaint him that his Majestie has sent him thither to remaine with him as his Ambassador Resident, &c. To procure the Emperour to declare throughout his Dominions that all Scotts are his enemies, except such as are his Majesties friends. To desire the Emperour & Gravela to consider of a proper method for the invading of France the next Summer by them both, according to their Agreement. To learne how they proceeded upon the Overture made to the Emperour by the Duke of Lorraine for Peace with France; since the King would not hearken to that made by the French Ambassador to him, because it was not communicated to the Emperors Ambassador. That since the Emperour has not sent out such a Navie, & so furnished as he was obliged to do by the Treatie, though his Majestie performed to the full of his part, he shall solicit this matter with the Emperour, & Grandvela his Minister, unless the remonstrances to be made by the Bp. of London & Sir Francis Brian, will prevail in that behalf.

10. Instructions for Sir William Pagett Knight of the Order, and Comptroller of the Kings Houehold, sent to the Emperour, to procure the temporall Peace to be made perpetuall; and to declare the Portion & Conditions for the Marriage of the Lady Mary Princeesse, to the Infant of Portugall; as also to advise touching the Treatie then beinge with Fraunce: to procure him to inhibit his subjects from trafficking into Scotland; to know the sentiments of the Emperour & his Ministers, with regard to a Peace between England & France.

These Instructions were drawn up in the time of K. Edw. vi. and it was desired that the perpetual League might be confirmed by the States of the Low-Countreys, and Decrees thereof to be made in their Courts; as in England the King would ratifie it, and that the Parliament would confirm it, and the Court of Chancerie, Kings Bench, & Common Pleas make Decrees thereof.

11. Letter of Cardinal Wolsey to John Clarke Bishop of Bath, Ambassador from K. Henry viii. to the Court of Rome, concerning the furnishing the Army in Milain, under the command of the Duke of Bourbon, with a sum of Money, at this juncture of time that the Emperour has not paid them the 200000 Ducats as he ought to have done, and that the French by taking the Passages so that Money cannot come to them from the Emperour, think to starve 'em & consume 'em without fighting.

12. Letter of K. Henry viii. to the Bishop of . . . his Orator at the Court of Rome, written A. D. 1517. complaining exceedingly of a certain Bull which the late Bishop of Tournay had procured of the Pope, for reinstituting him in the said See, (though before given by the same Pope to Cardinal Wolsey) fulminating all the Censures of the Church against any person (without exception) that should hinder him from taking possession of the same; and authorizing him to require the help of the Secular Arm, i. e. (of the French King) to reinstate him in the same, and consequently to raise a fresh war between both Crowns, &c. All this, after so many kindnesses as the King had shewed to the said Pope, at his very great expence; and without ever consulting him, or the Cardinall thereupon. The King blames him much for his negligence in suffering such a Bull to pass, without his Notice & Advertisment; and commands him to procure the same to be recalled, (in such manner as he should be directed by

13. A Memoriall by way of Instruções, of such things as Sir John Russell Knight hath, to be said & done with the Duke of Bourbon, on the Kings i. e. K. H. VIII's behalfe. A.D. 1523. Herein he is commanded to enter into a Treaty with the Duke of Bourbon, (for the Kings Minister Dr. Knight could not be present, through the badness of the ways, & other dangers, when the Treatie was concluded with the Duke by the Emperors Minister Mr. de Beaurain;) to procure him to acknowledge his Majestie, as King of France for his Sovereign & Liege Lord; and to enter into measures for his beginning the War in France, & for the payment of that Army. As his Majestie would invade Picardie with another fine Army, by the latter end of this Month. And, (with the Kings & Lord Legate's Letters) to communicate all matters to the Lady Margaret Regent of the Lowe-Countrieys.

16. Instruções given by the Kings Highnes to his trusty Clerke & Counsaillor Mr. William Knight Doctor of the Lawe, the Kings Ambassadour with the Lady Margaret, touching certain matters to be treated & done with the Duke of Bourbon.

17. Letter of Sir Richard Jernyngham & Dr. Sampson Ambassadors from K. Henry VIII. to the Emperor Charles V. then in Spaine, written to Cardinal Wolsey 3 July, 1523. Adverting that that they had complemented the Queen of Portugal, (the Emperors Sister) both on the Kings behalf & his; as also what passed at the several Audiencies they had of the Emperor, and at the Conferences with his Council, touching the joynt Invasion of France, now concluded to commence in August.

89.
18. Letter of Cardinal Wolsey, to Dr. Sampson & Sir Richard Jernyngham Knight, the Kings Counsellors, & Ambassadors with the Emperor. Dat. at his Place beside Westminster, 3 July, 1523. containing many particulars relating to the Duke of Bourbon, & the Invasion of France. As also, adverting him of the King of Denmark's arrival in England, he having fled out of his Kingdom with his Queen (the Emperor's Sister) and their Children. That he had been royally entertained at the Kings charge, since he came to Calais, more out of his consideration of his Alliance with the Emperor, than for any kindness he had ever shewn to England. That his business is to crave the King's Advice & Assistance against the Duke of Holstein his Uncle, & the Danish Nobility, who had taxed him with the Breach of Convention agreed upon by all parties at their electing him to be King, upon the request of his Father the late King. But that he (the Cardinal) had advised him to repaire with all speed to such of his Countreys as still retain their Affection & Obedience to him, (of which he has several) and endeavour by the help of his loving Subjects there, to regain what he has thus lost. In order to which, it might be expedient for the Emperor, & the King, to send their Embassadors, & to try what might be effected for him by way of Mediation. That if this Course fail, then by the assistance of the Pope, & of the Princes of Germany their Confederates, to reinstate him in his Throne per force. That the King of Denmark approves this method exceedingly, and will set out for Flanders within 4 or 5 days. And that they having communicated this Matter, at large, to the Emperor, are to advertise his Opinion touching the same. That upon the Attachment of Cardinal Sodorino at Rome, the French King has revoked his Ministers from thence; and that they ought to take this Opportunity of working the Pope into a League defensive, with them, against France, for to act offensively, he positively refuseth. Finally to think of making for the future, forer War with France than hitherto has been done; which has cost them both much, & given the French but little disturbance. To which end it may be necessary to invade France with their Forces, & in both their proper Persons. That though the French King had pretended to be Master of the narrow Seas, but that his Majestie had fitted out such a Navy as the French King could not look in the face, and therefore only desired the Emperor to take care of his own Coasts, &c.

19. Letter of Cardinal Wolsey to Dr. Sampson & Sir Richard Jernyngham Knight, the Kings Ambassadors to the Emperors Majestie, Dat. at his Place besides Westm. 10 August, 1523. wondering that he has heard nothing of them since the receipt of their last Letters (above-mentioned, at N^o. 17.) that Dr. Knight who was ordered to treat with the Duke of Bourbon, jointly with Monfr. de Beaurayne, could not get into France, by reason of the reigning distemper: and that his Majestie, confiding in the sincerity of the Emperor, was sending a puissant Armie into France, which would be at Calais, by the 10th Instant.

20. Letter of Cardinal Wolsey to Dr. Sampson & Sir Richard Jernyngham, Knight, the Kings Ambassadors to the Emperor, Dat. at Hampton-Court, the penultime day of August, A. D. 1523. that the King, though he was not apprised of the late Treaty concluded by them with the Emperor's Ministers, he had sent out as fine an Army, as had passed out of this Realme at any time these hundred years, under the command of the Duke of Suffolk; to be joynted upon the Marches of Calais with 6000 men from the Lady Margaret Regent of the Lowe-Countrieys, and so to besiege Boleyne. And that he hopes the Emperor has, ere this, sent out his Army under the command of the Duke of Bourbon, to attack the French on the side of Guyen. That the French King having made preparations to send the Duke of Albany with a good army into Scotland; the King had raised the power of the North-parts, headed by the Earl of Surrey to repell them. And that besides, he had fitted out several great Fleets to guard the Seas, which had already much damaged the French, especially at Treaport under the conduct of Sir William Fitz-Williams. That they had hindered the Duke of Albany from taking Shipping for Scotland, & thus he having disappointed the Scots, by tarrying after the affixed time of his return, his party divided there apace. That in case he should get into Scotland, the Earl of Surrey was ready to give him Battaille, who had already so devalsed & destroyed all Tivedale, & the Marsh, that there is left neither Houle, Fortresse, Village, Tree, Cattell, Corne, or other succour for Man. Inasmuch as some of the People which fled from the same, and afterward returned, finding no sustentation, were compelled to come into England, begging bread; which oftentimes, when they eate they die Incontinently, for the Hunger passed; and with no imprisonment, cutting of their Eares, burning them in the Face, or otherwise, can be kept away.

at Westminster, the 6th day of November, 1523. Giving answer to the proposals made by the Emperor touching the method for pushing on the War against France with vigor, and relating what the King had done for his part, both with the Duke of Bourbon whose Army he had kept from ruin; & toward Scotland where he had an Army of 50000 Men commanded by the Earl of Surrey, besides 10000 Lords & Gentlemen. That Sir John Russell has concluded a Treaty with the Duke of Bourbon, in all points according as was projected; saving that the Article touching the Dukes recognising his Majesty for his Sovereign, is left to the decision of the Emperor. That the French Army in Italy had received a great overthrow, & lost 22000 men. That the Duke of Bourbon was advancing farther toward the Enemy. And that the Switzers had given the French King 6000 men to attend upon him for the safeguard of his Person.

22. Letter of Cardinal Wolsey, to the Bishop of Bath, Mr. Secretary Pace, & Mr. Hanyball, the Kings Ambassadors at Rome, Dat. . . . December, 1523. Concerning the Election of the Cardinal de Medicis to be Pope, who has taken the Name of Clement the viith, and instructing them with what compliments they should deliver the Kings & his Letters Congratulatory. To shew him of the great successes of the Kings Army in France (which after taking many strong Townes there to the Kings use, as parcel of his Inheritance of his Realme of France) was marched farther in the bowels of the same Countrey to joyne the Duke of Bourbon. But that the Weather being so extremely rigorous, the Armies were faine to march back again, for their own safety, & the preservation of their horses, &c. To declare to the Pope the present weakness of the French King, in many particulars; and to know what his Majesty is to trust to from the Pope, in relation to these Warres, which through the Emperors remissness have been chiefly supported by his Majesty. To desire the Pope to persuade the Duke of Bourbon, to come into England, & to concert matters there, for the better carrying on the War. Though if that Duke should refuse to take that Journey, his Majesty is not minded further to charge himself than he hath done, for any assistance to be given unto the said Duke. Rehearses the Arguments they should use to the Pope, in dehorting him from shewing any favor or inclination toward the French, in case they cannot bring him into the League against France.

23. Letter of Cardinal Wolsey, to Dr. Sampson, & Sir Richard Jernyngham Kt. the Kings Counsellours, and Ambassadors to the Emperor: Dat. at his Place besides Westminster, the 4th day of December, 1523. Adverting them that, the Lady Margaret had refused to supply the Burgundians, who were in Company with the Duke of Suffolk, with Money & Victuals; that the 10000 Lance knights under Count Felix, having taken the Kings money, and a great bootie, had treacherously went out of the Field, & gone home; and that the Duke of Bourbon was resolved to passe to the Emperor, by the way of Genoa. That therefore the Duke of Suffolk was retired to Valenciennes. That they much felt forth these things at large to the Emperor, & that the Burgundians, to the hindrance of the Service, came not so soon, so numerous, nor so furnished as had been promised; and that this has been the only occasion of the Armies coming back. Of the Duke of Albanies great Army of Scots & French; and of the wonderful Defence of 100 English Men in Garrison in the Castle of Werke, against that Army, who besieged the place, & were forced to fly away from thence, by the Earl of Surrey the English General. That the Scots Proposal for a Peace, & comprehending the French in the same had been rejected. And shewing them what they are to remonstrate to the Duke of Bourbon, upon his arrival in Spaine, upon the disbanding of the Lance-Knights, and his retreat, at a time when they might have occasioned a Revolution in France.

24. Secret Instructions containing certaine Points & Articles, wherein it is the Kings pleasure that his Ambassadors shall diligently enquire and ascertain his Hignes (K. Hen. viii.) as they shall understand & know in the same. These Secret Instructions, seem to belong to those open Instructions, above mentioned, at No. 8. And to have been drawn up, about A. D. 1512.

25. Letter of Cardinal Wolsey to Sr. Thomas Boleyn Kt. Treasurer of his Majesties Honble. Household; & Mr. Richard Sampson Deane of the Kings Chappell, his Graces Ambassadors to the Emperor, Dat. at his Place besides Westminster. . . . day of January, A. D. 1521? apprising them of his Majesties pleasure to be declared to the Emperor in Answer to the 3 main points declared by his Ambassador. 1. that the French King desireth either Peace or Truce; Secondly, that the Portuguese Ambassador desireth the Emperors sister to be given in marriage to the King his Master, & offers that Kings sister to the Emperor. 3. As to the Enterprises to be made this year upon the French, & for the Preservation of the Dutchy of Milain. With proposals how to keep the Germans & Switzers from the service of the French King. And Orders to cause some Iron Ordnance to be made in Biscay, &c. & sent to Portemouthe, for the use of the Fleet.

26. A Booke of Orders for the Warre both by Sea & Land, written by Thomas Audeley, att the Command of King Henrie the viii.

27. Letter of Cardinal Wolsey to John Clarke Bp. of Bath, Mr. Secretary Pace, & Mr. Hanyball, the Kings Ambassadors at Rome, Dat. 25 Marche, 1524. Instructing them to continue their effectual endeavours for entirely bringing the Pope off from the French side; and to induce the Pope to mediate a Peace between the King & the Emperor on the one side, & the French King on the other, upon honorable Terms. That one Overture may be this, the French King to marry his young Daughter (when fit) or the Lady Renne his Queens sister, to the Duke of Milain, upon whom, & upon the Issue of their Bodies lawfully begotten, that Dutchy to be settled, paying him yearly 100000 Ducats, during his life. And that in case of failure of such Issue, it should revert to the said French King & his Heires, to be always holden of the Emperor & his successors.

28. Letter of Cardinal Wolsey, to the Bishop of Bath, & Mr. Hanyball, Ambassadors from K. Hen. viii. to the Court of Rome, Dat. . . . May, 1524. concerning the good success of the Duke of Bourbon's Army in Milain, against the French; and the Popes Declaration, that he will adhere to the Emperor & his Majesty, in case the French King will not hearken to reasonable offers of Peace. Of the Popes sending the Arch Bp. of Capua to mediate a Peace of Truce, with the French, which that King refused. And that the Pope did privately advise the Emperor & K. Henry, not to cease pressing the Enemy, but upon profitable Conditions, first obtained. That K. Henry had drawn a Scheme for a Truce, when the Enemy shall be yet further reduced; especially by the Duke of Bourbon's Army, which the Emperor & his Majesty has agreed to maintain jointly. For which end Sir John Russell is sent over, to pay the Kings money, & Mr. Richard Pace the Kings Secretary placed about him to treat farther with him, as shall be found necessary; and to advertise all occurrences.

29. Letter

29. Letter of Cardinal Wolley, to Dr. Sampson, the King's Ambassador in Spaine, Dat. at his Place besides Westminster, 4 June, 1524. touching a Monk whom the French Kings mother had privately sent to him, with Ouvertures of Peace. That in half an hours time, he dispatched him back with this Answer, that the King his Master (Hen. viii.) demanded the whole Realme & Crowne of France; with Normandy, Gascoigne, Guyen, & the Dependancies, being the Kings very iust & rightfull Inheritance, wrongfully detained from his Grace by the sayd French King: the recovery whereof his Grace will not faile to prosecute with all his power, to the uttermost. That he must apprise the Emperor of all occurrences, happened both here, & at Rome, as about the Duke of Bourbon. To shew him, that the King intends to invade France, in person, the next year; in case the French King be not brought to Reason before that time. And that the King considering that the Emperor does not abound with money, is willing that the Emperor should not furnish so many Men, as was stipulated by the Treaty of Windsor, for the Army to go along with either of the Princes designing to invade France, in Person. 166.

30. Letter of Cardinal Wolley to Mr. Sampson, the Kings Ambassador to the Emperor, in Spaine, Dat. at the Court, 26th of Septemb. 1524. Shewing how much the King marvels at the Emperor's miniliers at Rome, are labouring to make a Truce with the French King, for 4 or 5 years, whereas the Duke of Bourbon has had such great Successes, being now sett down before Marcellis, after the gaining of almost all Provence. That he has now sent Sir Gregorie de Cassalis expresse into England, desiring his Majestie to invade France forthwith, on this side, by which means he need not doubt of bringing about a total Revolution there, & consequently to regain his antient patrimony & Inheritance. And that his Majestie was now raising an Army, in all hast. That the Duke of Bourbon complains that if the Emperor had sent his proportion of Men & Money, according to agreement, he should ere this, have penetrated much further into the Bowels & Heart of France. That the Emperors Agents at Rome have published what his resolutions are in case of the Duke of Bourbons great, indifferent, or small Success. Complaints of divers strange Proceedings of the Emperors people in different places, and that the Emperors Indemnifying the King as to his Pensions heretofore received from France, is not regarded as it ought. That his Majestie therefore desires to know what he may expect, for the future, and that the Emperor would better furnish the Duke of Bourbon, both with men & money, or else all that Project would fall to nothing, to their vailt prejudice, & to the great advantage of the common enemy. That John Joachym has been sent hither by the French King's mother, to make Ouvertures of Peace, but has hitherto kept himself within such generalities, that he rather comes to spee, than to treat; and therefore he has told him that if he does not in a little time come to Particulars, he will send him back. 172.

31. Letter of Cardinal Wolley to Mr. Sampson, the Kings Ambassador to the Emperor, in Spain.—October, 1524. whereof a great part, in the Original being written in Cyfre, is omitted in this Copie. In what here remains, the Cardinal writes, that through the great hindrance happening to the Duke of Bourbon, by not receiving the stipulated number of Horse & Foot from the Vice-Roy of Naples; and the supplies of Money from the Emperor, the French King had had time to recover out of his bad condition, & to gather strength, inasmuch as the Siege of Marcellis was raised, and the French King with an Army gone into Italy, where he had regained most of the Duchy of Milain, and was now consulting about the conquest of Naples. Instructs him how to satisfy the suspitions conceived by the Emperor, upon the continuance of Joachym in England; who still continues in Generalities, and when he bids him be gone, craves liberty to tarry for the next Letters, & for better Instructions, &c. But that the Emperor may assure himself, that nothing will be done here without his knowledge & participation. 180.

32. Letter of Cardinal Wolley to the Bishop of Bathe, the Kings Ambassador at Rome, written about the End of December, A. D. 1524. That it is said that the French King was sending the Duke of Albany, & other Generals with a sufficient Army to reduce the Kingdome of Naples. And that there had been a Tractate lately, & privately concluded between the said French King, & the Pope, notwithstanding the many & great protestations, & assurances given by his Holiness, to continue of the side of the Emperor & his Majestie. And therefore directs him, to remonstrate to the Pope, in his Name, how much his Majestie has all along had at heart, the Peace of Christendome, as well in regard of the Turke, as of the damnable Heresies fuscitate & brought up by the frier Martyn Luther; against both whom there can be no effectual proceeding, without univerfal Peace in Christendome. That his favouring the French King, who has been the common Disturber, will hinder such Peace, & be the occasion of many other calamities. For the King & the Emperor, will never suffer the French to possess Milain & Naples. For if the French King can keep them, the Pope to be sure will be used by him as his Chaplain; and he will also by degrees gett the remaining parts of Italie; and then attempt the Empire of Rome. That the Popes intention of erecting Tulcany into a Kingdome, and settling it on his family (of Medicis) may as easily be foreseen, be attended by the Revolt of Germany from the obedience of the Holy See, & perhaps of Spaine, & other Countreys also. He would have the Pope to intende, with all effect, unto such ways & means as shall tend to th'increase of Christ's Religion. For he cannot see how it may stand with the Law & Pleasure of Almighty God, that the Heads of the Church should thus involve & immix themselves & their State, by their conjunction unto Temporal Princes, in the Wars. And supposes, that since these Leagues offensive or defensive, or both, have been used to be made, in the Name of any Pope; God hath stricken & sent Affliction unto the whole Church and Generalitie of Christendome for the same. And these Contrasts & Conventions used for enhauncing of particular Families & Countreys have not hitherto proved either to endure, or do good & furtherance to the Papal Dignity: But all that one Pope hath gone about in such affaires, with much Travail, Labour, Cost, & Difficultie, hath, either in his owne tyme, or soon after, become disappointed. And always with the detriment & damage of the See Apostolicke. Which hath been of the chiefe Causes to provoke such damnable Seditions against the Popes Authority, as hath of late daies been raised in sundry partes of Christendome. He proposes several ways of frustrating the French Kings designs upon Naples, especially by the Popes assistance, though given under hand. And shews that the Pope & Venetians must not only be exhorted to assist the Emperor, but to be put in hopes, that when the Investiture of the Duchy of Milain shall be conferred upon the Duke of that Name, they will be rid of both Spaniards & French, at once. And to let the Pope be assured, that notwithstanding any French rumors of a Treaty concluding in England by a Servant of the French Kings Mother (John Joachym) nothing shall be done without the Emperors consent, & his Holinesses privy. 181.

to the Emperor, in Spaine: Dat. at his Mannor of Hampton-Court, 14 of January, 1523. NB. the Original (as it seems) being damaged in some places (if not written in Cyfre) this Copie is not complat. Concerning the dissolving of the Army in France under the Duke of Suffolke, & the Count de Buren (vid. supra, No. 23.) with propoals by his Majestie for raising another Army between the Emperor & him, to be put under the command of the Duke of Bourbon, who thereby may be enabled to cause a thorough Revolution in France.

34. Letter to Cardinal Wolley (from the Bp. of Bath) written at Rome, 26 January, 1525. touching the League concluded between the Pope, the French King, the Florentines, the Duke of Ferrara, & the Marquis of Mantua; with the praides of the Pope to draw the Venetians into the same, who has yet hold out, & supply the Emperors Army. That the Popes town of Placentia had supplied the French with Provisions, who without them could not have continued there. That the Duke of Bourbon was gone to the relief of Pavia; and that he had refused, upon the Popes messages, to yield to the French King the possession of the Dutchy of Milan, as being resolved to fight.

35. Letter from the Bishop of Bath, Mr. Pace & Mr. Hanlyball? to Cardinal Wolley, Dat. from Rome, 24 Febr. 1523. Adversing him, that the Pope had given them fresh assurances that he would never forsake the King, though the Frenchmen should have power to drive him out of Rome. And that he promised to assist the Emperor with a sum of Money in these wars with the French.

36. Letter from the Bp. of Bath? to . . . Rome, 26 January, 1525. advertising that the Duke of Bourbon being within 10 Miles of the French King, was advancing forwards to fight with him.

37. Letter of Cardinal Wolley to Cuthbert Tonsall? Bp. of London & Lord Privie Seale, & Mr. Richard Wingfield Kt. of the Order, the Kings Ambassadors to the Emperor, Dat. at his Place besides Westminster, the 3 day of April, 1525. concerning the Emperors offers, & the Kings desires with relation to the Armies necessary for Invading France, and for support of the Duke of Bourbon. And touching an Emerald which the Lady Mary (the Kings daughter) had sent to the Emperor (to whom, it had been long before agreed she should be married) as a Token of her Love.

38. Letter of Cardinal Wolley, to the Bishop of London, & Sr. Richard Wingfield Knight, the Kings Ambassadors to the Emperor, in Spaine, Dat. at his Place besides Westminster, the 7th of April, 1525. advertising them that the Pope is now minded to enter into a League offensive & defensive with the Emperor & his Majestie. And would have the Realme of France deminished of certaine greates Portions thereof; and the French Kings eldest son to be admitted unto the Crowne thereof. He is suspicious of the Emperors playing his own game, without respect had to the profit of his Majestie, and therefore directs them to acquaint him with the great offers made to his Majestie by the Princes & States in Italy, to give his daughter to the French Kings eldest son, in order thereby to keep the Emperor from aspiring to an Universal Monarch, which design would be much facilitated by his marrying his Majesties daughter; But that his Majestie has refused these Offers. Concerning an Invasion of France, by the Duke of (Suff?) Norfolk, and by his Majestie. That his Majestie had likewise refused the great Offers of the Scots Ambassadors, who came to demand the Princess his daughter in Marriage, for their young King. And therefore has good reason to hope, that the Emperor will make no agreement with the French, without his knowledge & consent.

39. Letter of King Henry VIII. to the Bp. of London, Sir Richard Wingfield, & Mr. Sampson, his Ambassadors, to the Emperor, in Spaine, Dat. at Stony-Stratford, the 8th day of September, 1525. setting forth the Reasons moving him to make Peace with the French King, upon the 30th day of August last (wherein he had comprehended the Emperor and the Duke of Bourbon) in like manner as he is advertised that the Emperor has concluded, or is upon the point of concluding the like Peace there; and that one is going to Rome for the Popes Dispensation with the Emperors Marriage to the sister of Portugall. Commands them to shew how necessary it is for him to release the French King, his Prisoner for a convenient Ransome, and without pressing him to depart with any great Lands or Countreys now remaining in his possession. To dissuade the Emperor from marrying his Sister the Lady Eleanor to the French King, since upon her, next to Don Fernando, depends all his Inheritance, and may putt the French King upon conspiring their Destruction, in hopes of coming at last to their Inheritance, & to the Empire. As also shews with what Arguments they shall dissuade the French King, or his sister the Duches Dowager of Alençon from the same. NB. that though this Letter seems by the stile to have been drawn up by Cardinal Wolley, yet he is not mentioned therein, amongst others of the Kings Councillors who persuaded him to the Peace with France, nor in any other part of the Letter.

A book in fol. wherein are contained,

1. A Treatise, proving that it was best for Q. Elizabeth to marry; and rather an English-man than a Stranger: answering all Objections to the contrary. Drawn up by way of conversation between certain friends. It wants the first six Leaves. (This is Sir Thomas Smith's Discourse; & the beginning of it is in 36. D. 14. No. 252. at fol 27.) 1.
2. A History of the Life and Death of Mary Stuart Queen of Scots. It seems a Translation out of Latin; and to have been written after her son's obtaining the English Monarchy. The Author recites many Letters & Papers in this History, and extenuates her crimes as far as he can (some Leaves seem to be wanting) 66.

A Book in fol. consisting of two old Books, bound up together, with some Additions, wherein are contained,

1. The Life & Martirdome of St. Edmund King of the East-Angles; written in a Poem, by John Lidgate Monk of Bury St. Edmund. 1.
2. The Life of St. Fremund, cousin to St. Edmund, by John Lidgate (This Poem seems as the latter part of the former) 25.
3. Poem concerning the Banner & Standard of St. Edmund; which may, also, be said to belong to the above-mentioned Life of St. Edmund. 43. b.
4. Poem concerning the advice given to the Old Man, who would take a Young Wife. 45.
- Incip.* "A Philisephre a good Clerk Seculer." (perhaps by J. Lidgate) 54.
5. Poem on the Kings of England; from Alfrede to Henr. vi. inclusive (perhaps by J. Lidgate) 51.
- Init.* "From tyme of Brute auctours do specefye."
6. Poem entituled "An Exhortation of the Crucifix." 54.

Init. "Man, to reforme thyn Exhil & thi Los." 54.

7. Poem to the B. V. Mary. 55.

Init. "Joy bliffid Lady with pure virgynal floure." 56.

8. Poem upon St. Sebastian. 56.

Init. "Blessid Sebastian, Godds Martir & Knyght." 56.

9. Oraciones ad Scm Sebastianum. ibid.

12. Another short Poem, beginning thus, "O Sterre of Jacob, Glorye of Israelle." 70.
13. A Treatise in Old English Poetry, ascribed (by later hands to Thomas Hoceline. But in the bottom of fol. 90. b. (where the Author begins to mention his prodigal course of Life, past) it is rightly written Hoceline. The Treatise is upon many Virtues & Vices; written to K. Hen. v. during his Father's life; who, with John of Gaunt his grandfather, are propoed as examples fitt for his Imitation. fol. 71. b. And I take this Treatise to be the latter part of that De regimine Principum, which Piræus, & others say was written by this Author. [See N^o 4826 and 4866.] 71.
14. Balad against excess in Apparel, especially in the Clergy. 113.

6. Letter of Robert Glover Somerset-Herald to Mr. John Stowe, dat. 11 Sept. 1577, thanking him for the loane of an old MS. Chronicle; which he finds to be that of Marianus Scotus. 9.
7. Will. Claxton to Mr. John Stowe, dat. from Wynyard, 20 April, 1582. desiring him to restore a certain book; and he would assist him to his power, as well concerning the Account of the Bishoprick of Durham, as in other matters. 10.
8. William Claxton to Mr. John Stowe, 4 Jan. 1584. desiring that an old book he had borrowed for him may be restored: He communicates also to him, some Notes concerning Durham & the Bishops thereof. One is a place of William of Malmesbury, describing that City; and (to the best of my remembrance) is a Translation 3 K

Num. 374.

Translation of that description of it in Saxon verse, which has been mentioned by many of the eminent Anglo-Saxonists, and honoured with the Versions of divers of them. I think it begins thus, "Ic beoþ 7 brome," &c. Another note is taken from the A^{ss} of the Bishops of Durham, wherein it is asserted, that Univerſity College in Oxford was built, A.D. 1c84. by William Bishop of Durham.

9. Christopher Ridley to the right worſhipful Mr. Will. Claxton of Winyard: giving an Account of the Pictures wall.

10. Mr. Thomas Hatcher to John Stowe, dat. from Carbye in Lincolnſhire, 18 Jan. 1580. concerning John Biceſman's Treatiſe of K. Henry the vi. And of the Hiſtory of King's College in Cambridge, of which the Doctor had gathered two Volumes of Collections: deſires Mr. Stowe to publiſh Leland's Commentaries, or whatever he has of Leland, either in Latin or Engliſh. puts him again in mind of ſetting forth his manuſcript Antiquities, under the title of Stowes Storehouſe: deſires him to ſpeake to Mr. Camden the Uſher of Weſtmiſter, about printing the Hiſtory of Tobit in Latin-verſe, which (from a friend) had been putt into his Hands: intends a Diſcourſe about the Authors cited by Stowe in his Chronicle, wherein he deſires his aſſiſtance, and alſo the ſight of Leland de Scripto-ribus: and deſires to know who penned or compoſed the Booke de Episcopis Cantuarienſibus, with the Register of Cambridge at the end, which (Mathew Parker) the late Arch. Bp. of Canterburie cauſed to be printed.

11. Doctor John Dee, to John Stowe; 4 December. That the two Earls had received his (Stowes) Books, and took them very thankfully, but mentioned nothing of any reward. Gives him directions as touching the Cinq. Ports. Thinks Mr. Stowes Copie of Aſſerius, not to be of the beſt, or perfectest; and deſires to borrow Floriacenſis (leg. Florentius) Wigornienſis. (Upon the backſide of this Letter J. Stowe wrote ſome Hiſtorical notes, relating (chiefly) to the Benefactors of St. Albans Monastery.)

12. to Mr. Stowe, reſtoring a booke borrowed; and acquainting him of one he has in ſtore for him, being the Life of K. Edw. the Confeſſor by Haildare (Ælredus) Ryvallenſis, with a Chronicle of England which ſeems to be that of Geoffrey of Monmouth.

13. Joan Poſſer to her father Mr. John Stowe, dat. from Warwicke, 3 December. Deſiring him to ſeeke out for the Foundation of the Hoſpital of Warwicke by the Earls of the fame; for Mr. Oliver Brooke her friend the owner (or Maſter?) thereof. At the bottom, Mr. Stowe has putt down ſome ſmall Note, touching the fame.

14. Daniel Dun (Doctor of Lawes, and Advocate of the Arches) his Account of the Life and Poſterity of his father in Law William Aubrey Doctor of Lawes, one of the Maſters of Requeſts, &c.

15. Note of Enquiries to be made of Mr. Claxton, touching the Pic^t's wall; the ſituation of Bremenium a Towne mentioned by Ptolemy; and other Antiquities, Coins, and Inſcriptions, found in the North parts of England. Written by Mr. Camden.

16. Mr. Will. Claxton to John Stowe, dat. from Wynyard 10 April. 1594. That he returns his booke of the Life of St. Edward: and deſires a Copie of his Booke of foundations (perhaps of Cathedral and Monaſtical Churches) which Mr. Stowe has written that he had lately augmented.

17. Mr. Henry Ferrers (of Tamworth Caſtle?) to Mr. Stowe; returns his booke borrowed; and deſires the loan of his Bede, and the Pedegree of Kings. (Here Mr. Stowe has written ſome old ſtanza's, perhaps out of the Booke entituled the Ship of Fooles.

18. Thomas Martyn to Mr. Stowe praifes his Chronicle, but thinks three Stories therein are not ſufficiently authentic, nor even true. 1. That of Alice Peers as concubine to K. Edw. III. 2. That Q. Philippa ſhould utter in Confeſſion to Bp. Wickham, and Bp. Wickham to the Parliament, that (John of Gaunt) the Duke of Lancaſter was a Chaingelinge. And 3. he thinks that Bp. Wickham was never a baniſhed man.

19. Sir Henry Savill to Mr. John Stowe, dat. from Halifax: Maye, deſiring to know in what forwardneſs Mr. Hares Collection of the Privileges of Oxford is. Whether (Florentius) Wigornienſis be printed as yet. And whether my Lords Grace (Matthew Parker A. B. of Cant.) be about to print Roger Hoveden, Malmſburie, and Huntingdon, and in what forwardneſs they be.

20. Mrs. Anna Tendring to Mr. Paul D'Ewes (Inſerted in this Collection upon account of her ſtudied expreſſion of Latin and Engliſh Verſes, and elaborate Hand-Writing. But whether the Gentlewoman's deſign was upon himſelf, his ſon, or his purſe, I dare not conjecture.

21. Mrs. Anna Tendring to Mr. Paul D'Ewes, much of the ſame ſtrain with the former.

22. Joſephus Scaliger Johanni de Laet, apud Londinium Anglorum. dat. 6 nonas Quintilis, A. D. 1603. gratias agit de libris quibuſdam Hebraicis; rogat; ut Bibliorum Hebraicorum Concordantius; et D. Chryſoſtomi Homilias in Anglia excuſas, ſui cauſa, compararet.

23. Joſephus Scaliger Iſaaco Caſaubo no, dat. nonas Sextilis, A. D. 1603. de jactura 3 Exemplarium Hiſtorie ſue Auguſta, Caſaubono deſtinatiorum, una cum Cyrillo (Bonaventura?) Vulcani; deſ; Falſis Siculis, Chryſoſtomi libro Thaumio, Proverborumque Arabicorum Exemplari Apographo, jam tum ad Caſaubonum tranſmiſſis.

24. Thomas Cecyll Earl of Exeter, to Hugh Allington Eſq; dat. from London, 13 November 1605. acquainting him, that ſome had called his brother the Earl of Salisbury, THE GRANDSON OF A SIEVE-MAKER, which expreſſion likewiſe, he thought a reflection upon himſelf. He deſires therefore, Mr. Allington to ſearch among his Evidences at Burghley-houſe, for certain Writts, wherein his grandfather is ſtiled Eſquire (A ſtile, then given to none but Gentlemen of note) and for others wherein it is ſhewed that he was High Sheriffe either of Lincolnſhire, or of Northamptonſhire. and alſo, if he has any like Records of his own, to communicate the fame. That his father the Lord Treafurer's writing his name Cecyll, whereas his Grandfather wrote it Syſſell has made ſome to doubt whether they be rightly deſcended of the houſe of Walles, becauſe they write their Names Siſſelt: Tho' his Lordſhip left his Pedegree very well ſett out. Upon the backſide of this Letter are putt down authorities, whereby it appears, that David Cecill was ſtiled Armiger, A. D. 1523. That David Cecill Armiger was High-Sheriffe of Northamptonſhire An. 23 & 24 Hen. 8. That Humphrey Lhoyd & Dr. Powell call him grandfather to Sr. William Cecill Kt. Lord Burleigh. And that Richard Cecill the ſon of this David, was High Sheriffe of Rutlandſhire, A. D. 1539 & 1540.

25. Copie of the Brief or Bull of Pope Pius, dat. 10 Kal. Octob. A. D. 1606. dehorting the Engliſh Catholicks from taking the Oath of Allegiance to the King, and from being preſent at the ſervice of the Church of England; perſuading them rather, to continue, to ſuffer all torments, & martyrdomes itſelf for the Truth's ſake, &c.

 55. Alberti Joachimi Ordium Belgicæ fœderatorum Alegati, ad D. Simondium D'Ewes Epistola politica, dat. 2 Octob. A. D. 1636. 100.
 56. Sir William Boswell to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, dat. Haghe 4 Dec. 1636. that one of the States General has promis'd to enquire about D'Eufborough, according to the genealogies & directions sent. That he cannot gett those Dutch Medals desired, but has caused all of such extraordinary nature, as have been made in Holland since their rent from Spayne, being 47 in number, to be cast in Silver; which shall, if he so pleases, be at his service. Advises him to study the Low Dutch, in order to come at the Saxon Language. That as to his little Saxon Vocabulary, it is only taken from the Gospels, & some other printed Tracts; & far short of that which Sir Thomas Cotton, compiled by Mr. Josselyne Author of the Antiquitates Britanniæ, or of another made by Mr. L'ile of the life of L'ly. 102.
 57. Sir William le Neve Clarencieux to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, dat. at London, 2 Febr. 1636. sending him therewith 2 deeds concerning Ridell; and a rough Tricke of the Armes of Barnyard. 104.
 58. John Hare to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, dat. at Swattham, 25 April, A. D. 1637. he does not call to mind any Deeds he has of Snitterton, or that concern the Bokenham's. 105.
 59. Mr. Richard D'Ewes to his brother Sir Simonds, dat. at Dort 11 Nov. NS. 1636. shewing what pains Sir William Boswell had taken to obtain of the King of Armes at Bawfelds, an enlargement of the Pedegree of their Familie; or a Confirmation of what was sent over by him to Sir William. 107.

62. Mr. Richard D'Ewes to Sir Simonds, dat. at London 17 May, 1637. 113.

63. Mr. Will. Burton of Lindley in Leicestershire, to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, dat. 25 July, 1638. concerning the new Impression of his Book of Leicestershire, which will be soon putt into the Press. That if Sir Simond's has a mind to prefix an Epistle before it, he may; & to what length he pleases. But, he cannot suffer mention to be made in the Title-page, as desired, because it is not his own. He has perused all the Records in the Tower, relating to that County, which are kalendared; and also all those in the Rolls down to 17 Eliz. and is sorry he did not know that any Wills & Testaments were kept at Leicester: which if he had, he would have perused them. But now, it is too late. 115.

64. Mr. William (afterward Sir William) Dugdale to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, dat. at Blith-hall 25 Aug. 1638. concerning some Records concerning the familie of Ridel, which Mr. Dugdale lately found at Westminster, & communicated to Sir Simonds. Mr. Dugdale praises them much for their choice matter. 117.

65. Mr. William Burton to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, dat. from Lindley 22 Octob. 1638. That he has reviewed, at his request, as it seems) his old Roll concerning the Lady Geve de Ridel. That his Description of Leicester is now in the hands of Sir John Lambe, where he may peruse it, and offers to communicate any other notice he shall desire. 119.

66. . . . Robert Tanfelde to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, dat. at the Temple 14 June, 1638. desiring to borrow the Ledger book of the Priory of St. John of Jerusalem, which he hears is in his custody; with any other Records or Evidence which may determine the right of Tithes to certain lands in the Precinct of Clerkenwell, called the Commandry-Mantells. 121.

67. Nicholas Egton to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, A. D. 1638. A Latin Letter upon Schole-masters businels. 122.

68. John Knapp to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, from Kenninghall, 22 Jan. 1638. about Sir Simonds his borrowing a Register of the Bishops Court (of Norwich?) that Mr. Hafnutt the Regitrary did acknowledge the great paines Sir Simonds had taken in ordering & tableing that scattered Volume borrowed before. 124.

69. Mr. Richard D'Ewes from Orleans, to Sir Simonds, 15 March, Stil. Vet. 1637. advertising, that he had sent him the Pictures of Thuanus & Mr. Colignie (i. e. that of the Admiral of France, who perished in the Massacre, A. D. 1572? That he had since called at Mr. de Thou's house where his nephews gave him the Picture of that great man, which he believes may be exceeding like, & keeps in his Trunk for him. That they also shewed him several Libraries (i. e. Rooms) beautified with many Pictures of such late men, as have been famed either for Learning or Valour. And that, as the greatest rarities, they shewed him One Press wherein were 800 Manuscripts, the most part of them Originalls (i. e. Old Books; not recent Transcripts) 126.

70. Mr. Richard D'Ewes, from Paris, 2 Febr. St. Vet. 1637. to Sir Simonds; concerning the two Pictures abovementioned No. 69. 127.

71. Mr. Richard D'Ewes, from Paris, 16 Febr. St. Vet. 1637. to Sir Simonds: about the Pictures of Thuanus and the Readiness of the Familie to oblige Sir Simonds. 129.

72. Henry (Bourghchier) Earle of Bathe to Sir Simonds D'Ewes from Tavistocke, 1 April, 1639. Offering to serve him in his industrious search of Antiquities. 131.

73. Mr. Richard D'Ewes, from Paris, 16 Dec.

Num. 374.

1639. to Sir Simonds, that Monf. (André) du Chesné will shortly answer his Letters; and that the Chronicon de Bec (Beccense?) was not printed. 133.

74. Sir Will. le Neve, Clarencieux, to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, London, 23 Sepr. 1639, a kind Letter upon their private concerns. 134.

75. John Allen to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, London, 15 Jan. 1639. That in the Banner to be painted for Sir Simonds (being made High Sheriffe of Suffolke) his Ladies Armes must by no means be impaled with his; but that Sir Will. le Neve saies he may bear them in an Inelcocheon of Pretence. That (Dr. Watt's Edition of) Matthew Paris is almost finished, &c. 136.

76. Mr. Richard D'Ewes, from Paris, 19 Jan 1639. to Sir Simonds: concerning Mr. du Chesné Answer to Sir Simond's his Letters; and a Book he intends to send over to him. 138.

77. Mr. Abraham Wheelock, at Cambridge, 26 January 1639. to Sir Simonds D'Ewes. wishes that some Scholars would undertake to compile a Body of Divinity, of our Doctrine, out of the Saxon and British Writers, who in many things agree with those of the Eastern Churches. That as to the slaughter of the Monks of Bangor which (Alexander) Eschbiensis & others, say was occasioned by Augustine of Canterbury, 3 Latin MSS. (of Bedes Ecclef. History?) agree that Augustine was dead before it hapned, and 3 others in Saxon, omit the Passage. That as to the Ælfric in Trinity College Library, he thinks he can procure it for him for a fortnight, & is sure he can cause what he pleases to be transcribed from thence. That Sir Thomas Cotton is most obligingly communicative of his rarities, and wonders more do not come to transcribe them. 139.

78. Mr. Abraham Wheelock, at Cambridge, 2 Febr. 1639. to Sir Simonds D'Ewes; that he found difficulties in accommodating Sir Henry & Sir John Spelman (with the Saxon Plater, in the Univerfite Library) out of which place if he must have the MS. No. 247 'containing the works of Gildas, Nennius, Giraldus Cambrensis, & other Historians (?) it must be through a Note under his hand. That as to the Ælfric's Grammar he would borrow from thence he can lend it, since he himself retrieved it from out of the hands of Purloyners. That he finds it difficult to discharge the Saxon Lecture settled on him by Sir Henry Spelman; but more hard to go through with his intended edition of Bedes Ecclef. History. Gives his opinion about bowing before Images. That he honors the memorie of the late Cyril (Lucaris Patriarch of) Constantinople; yet will not excuse him and all that Church, for senselesse Ceremonies. 141.

79. Mr. Abraham Wheelocke at Cambridge, 9 Febr. 1639. to Sir Simonds D'Ewes: shewing that many places in the Saxon books, teach doctrines opposite to those of the Church of Rome. Gives a place out of one of the Saxon Homilies explaining the Decalogue, concerning the keeping holy the Sabbath day (perhaps he might then reflect upon the Book of Sports) And complains of the reviving of old heresies. 143.

80. Mr. Richard D'Ewes, at London, 14 Febr. 1639. to Sir Simonds, concerning the Book which Monfr. du Chesné has sent him. 145.

81.—Thomas D'Oyley at Wickin, 6 Febr. 1639. to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, desiring a transcript of the Inquisition taken after the death of his grandfather Mr. Robert Althfeld. 146.

82. Mr. William Dugdale Blanch-Lyon, at London, 27 Febr. 1639. to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, concerning the borrowing & restoring of divers old books & writings. That Sir Henry Spelman having given him a Saxon Plater (lately printed) he would spend some time in the studie of that Language. Is glad that Sir Simonds is inclined to print his Saxon Dictionary, with the English, which which bears so much consonancy to it. And promises to send him the Match of Basset with Ardenne. Also, that Sir William le Neve, desires him to send him what Notices he can of the familie of Cavendish.

83. Part of a Letter of Mr. Abraham Wheelocke, to Arch-bishop Usher? concerning a place in the MS. History of Joannes Tinemuthensis in Bennet-College Library, about the Children of K. Edgar. Mr. Wheelock gives the place, as desired; with his Opinion thereof.

150.

84. Part of a Letter from Sir William Dugdale to Sir Simonds D'Ewes shewing how glad he is in that Sir Simonds has gotten so good materials for his book of Coines, which he hopes will come out, after he shall have printed the Saxon Lexicon, & Saxon Law. Is glad that Mr. Dugard is like to go on so effectually with Ælfricke; and that Mr. Sommer fits him so well.

152.

85. Mr. Wheelocke at Cambridge, 30 Mar. 1640. to Sir Simonds D'Ewes in Latin. Offering some Additions, or Notes, if he will print his Lexicon. That Roger Daniel the Printer is procuring a new sett of Types for printing his Bede, tho' as yet he cannot sufficiently understand some places in the Saxon Version. And that he would willingly print the History of (Simeon) Dunelmensis, whereof part is in Bennet-College Library, the other being with Sir Simonds he is desirous of perusing.

86. Mr. Wheelocke to Sir Simonds D'Ewes, shewing great fear of the Scotts, who were then ravaging about New-Castle. He desires directions, in case the Scotts should come that way, where they should hide underground their Saxon MSS. &c. And talks of going beyond the Seas if these troubles should increase.

Codex Chartaceus et tenuis, in 4to, a D. Petro le Neve cum alijs redemptus; in quo habentur, Annotationes in eam partem Itinerarij Antonini quæ ad Britanniam pertinet. f. per Henricum Talbotum, temp. Henr. VIII. Cujus prima pars videtur scripta manu doctissimi viri Joannis Josselini.

A Book in 4to, (bought of Mr. le Neve) formerly belonging to Sir Christopher Hatton Lord Chancellor of England, and so much esteemed by him, as that he wrote his name therein at both ends; and also at both ends without, on the Cover, with the following words under that at the beginning,

"Divers Orations and Speeches of the Lord Keeper,"

i. e. of Sir Nicholas Bacon. they are,

1. An Oration made by the L. Keeper to the Queenes Majestie in her Gallerie at Westminster, exhorting her to Mariage.

2. An Answer given by the faide L. Keeper in the Q. Prefence, to the Lord Mayor when he was presented.

3. A Speech vfed by the faide Lord Keeper to a Serjeant at Lawe called to be a Judge.

4. The Effect of the Speeches vfed by the faide Lord-Keeper vnto the Q. Majestie at suche tyme as her Highnes first called him to serve.

5. A Speech vfed by the faide Lord-Keeper amongst the Lordes of the Starre Chamber, 1586.

This Speech is upon matter of Religion; and, as I believe, strikes close to Edmund Grindall Arch-bishop of Canterbury, who was under the Queen's displeasure. And therefore I take the date in the Title above, to be a mistake; as there seems to be another in the Text itself, where (as I think) 3 Speeches are huddled together, as if they were but one. But as to this, the present Copie is not alone in the fault; I having observed the same, in some other books.

6. Sir Nicholas Bacon's Speech in the House of Lords, shewing her Majesties approbation of the Commons choice of Sir Thomas Gargrave to be their speaker. A. D. 1588.

7. The Lord-Keeper Bacon's Speech in the Starre-Chamber, the day after the former Speech (§. 5.) whereby he dismissed the Lords (who attended in order to proceed against A. Bp. Grindal) that Prelates sickness continuing, so that he could not be there in person.

8. The Speeches vfed by the faide Lord-Keeper ten dayes before Christmas, Anno 1559. at the Counsell-Bourde, concerninge an Aide required by the Scotts, for the removinge of the Frenche out of Scotland.

9. A Speech vfed by the faide Lorde-Keeper in Councell, in the end of Midsummer-Terne, 1561. when it was brought in question whether the interviewe betweene the Q. Majestie & the Scottishe Q. were convenient to be allowed of, or no. Th'effecte whereof he spoke in July to the Q. at Grenewiche.

10. Speche vfed by the faide Lord-Keeper, vnto the Lords & others assembled in the Parliament-houfe, A. D. 1583.

11. An Oration made by the faide Lorde-Keeper the 8 of Marche, A. D. the Parliament then endinge, to the Nobles & Commons in the presence of the Q. Majestie.

12. The Effecte of the fayde Lord Kepsers Speech to Mr. Belle, when he was called to be Lord-chief-Baron. This Collection was made by Sir Walter Mildmaye.

13. Reasons sett downe by the late Lorde Keeper, to move the Kinge of Fraunce to aide the Cause of the Queene of Scotlande; with the Answeres to the same.

14. An Apologie touching Letters sent by the faide Lord-Keeper to the Justices of Peace.

15. The Matters movinge the faide Lorde-Keeper to do it (i. e. send those Letters) without especial Warrant.

16. The Advise of the faide Lord-Keeper, concerninge the Governmente of Irelande.

17. Frenche matters written by the faide Lord-Keeper, on Whitsonday, 1563. containinge certaine Questions propounded, with their answeres.

18. A Speech vfed by the Lord-Keeper, in presence of my Lords of Arundelle, Bedford, Pembroke, and my L. Robart Dudley, and of the Controller, the Secretarye, & Mr. Malon, at Greenwiche, concerning New-haven.

19. A Speech vfed by the faid Lord Keeper, in the Parliament-houfe, concerning French denizens, A. D.

20. The Resolution touching the matters of Fraunce, Flaunders, & Ireland; agreed vpon at Twelfsyde at Wyndfore, A. D. 1563.

21. A Letter sent to a Bishoppe by the faide Lorde-Keeper (concerninge a dislike he had of the Bishop for not performing his Charge) dat. 27 September, 1578. (in MS. 59. A. 13. No. 677. this Letter is ascribed to Dudley Earl of Leicester, who sent it to Scambler Bp. of Peterburgh, upon his neglect of furnishing the Town of Northampton with a Preacher.)

An Oriental Book, given by Doctor George Hickes; of which several accounts are given. The first I omit as unlikely. The second, is written by Dr Nathaniel Johnston, thus, about July, 1644?

One Hassan Pergi & Liogogan, Indians of Surat, told me that this booke was writ in the Brahmine Language, & comes from Dew in the Sanganian country, in the Moguls country. But they are pyrrats & robbers who take Ships that go and come to Surat. The Brahmins are the priests.

1. The third Account seems to have been written by the late Dr. Thomas Hyde of Oxford, and I believe is right.

A Book in the Brabma or Hanfereet Language, (some call it Sanscroot) which is a Fortunebook, about lucky and unlucky dayes; and whether a Nativity on such or such dayes shall be fortunate or unfortunate, &c. It wants the first Leave, which was cut out before ever you received it.

23. Two fragments of the Life of a French Priest, whose opinions (as it seems) approached towards those of the Protestants. He lived A. D. 1500. 64.

An Imperfect Tract containing divers Letters of State, viz.

24. Letter to Cardinal Wolsey, written from France by Dr. Taylor Master of the Rolls Ambassador to the French King; & Stephen Gardiner & Edward Fox the Kings Ambassadors to Rome, in their way thither. It wants the former part. What remains shews the French Kings good disposition towards the Pope, & K. Henry VIII. and his resolution to take (by way of reprisal) as many Ships as he could from the Emperors subjects: delivering to the English what goods of theirs should be found therein. 63.

25. Letter of Stephen Gardiner, & Edward Fox to Cardinal Wolsey; shewing how well they had been entertained by Dr. Taylor, & by Dr. Clerke Deane of Welles. And desire farther Instructions, in case the French Kings promise to be made to the Pope, should be different from that which they were carrying from King Henry. 68. b.

26. Letter of the same to King Henry VIII. shewing the honourable entertainment they mett with at Genoa, & Lucca, in their way to the Pope. 70.

27. Letter of the same to Cardinal Wolsey; giving the reason why they had not as yet had an Audience of the Pope, though offered to them; and giving an honourable character & testimony of Mr. Gregory, i. e. Sir Gregory de Cassalis, to whom they were to discover the secrets of their Commission, and whom they think better able to serve his Majesty with the Pope, than any other person. 71.

28. Letter of the same to Cardinal Wolsey: giving a doleful account of their Arrival at Orvieto where the Pope refused, as in liberty, though his return to Rome was shut up by those of Viterbo, who took part with the Spaniards against him: They describe the dearth, & pestilential Air of that old & ruinous City. As also the ruinous Palace wherein the Pope & his few servants were lodged; affirming that the furniture of the Pope's Bed-chamber there, bed & all, was not worth twenty nobles. 72.

29. Letter of the same to K. Henry VIII. shewing that they would write a large account of their Proceedings with the Pope, in cyfre, to the Cardinal; that Dr. Fox would soon return with his Dispatches (i. e. the Commission for trying the cause of Matrimony, between his Majesty & Q. Catherine) They much commend Sir Gregory de Cassalis his Majesties Orator to the Pope, & affirm that by his great credit with Pope & Cardinals, no man is so able to serve his Majesty there, as he. 73. b.

30. A long Letter, written to Cardinal Wolsey, by Sir Gregory de Cassalis, Dr. Gardiner, & Dr. Fox, the Kings Ambassadors to the Pope, at Orvieto. Shewing at length, all the Communication they had with his Holiness, & several Cardinals, at divers times. That the Pope & the said Cardinals own the great obligations they have received from his Majesty, & particularly that of their liberty: but being yet in fear of the Emperor, and since the war of Naples between French & Spaniard is not brought to a conclusion, they make many difficulties of granting such a Commission for trying the Kings great Cause in England, as was now desired, upon pretence of its being contrary to the style now used in that Court. That the Pope being shewed the Book written by the King against the legality of his Marriage (inscribed to Cardinal Wolsey, and which had been communicated to the Bishops, who likewise had given their opinion of it) seemed resolved to read it over. That they had certified him, that the Queen had shewed her self content to stand to the Judgement of the Church in this important affair. That they have hope of getting a Commission, according to their Instructions for Redemption of the First Fruits, with which project the Pope seemed much pleased; as he did with the Cardinals & founding & building of Christ-church in Oxford, as to the state of which he made particular Inquiry. That they had procured his Holiness to shew his minde to the Cardinal Sanctorum Quatuor, for degradation of Priests, &c. 75.

31. Letter of Dr. Stephen Gardiner & Sir Gregory de Cassalis to Cardinal Wolsey, shewing at length the Disputes they had with the Pope & Cardinals, concerning the special Commission for trying the Kings marriage; which was at last utterly refused. How the Pope & the said Cardinals prevaricated about the general Commission, which when obtained at last, was not entirely according to their mind. That Gardiner would go to Rome to confer with Cardinal Campegius, who was desired to be sent as Legate into England to try the Cause; and thinks that besides him, there is no other Cardinal meet to be sent. That as to the Canonization of K. Henry the Sixth, the Pope is willing to dispatch it with all speed, after that the Arch Bp. of Canterbury & Bishop of Winchester (Richard Foxe) who have examined the matter in partibus shall have sent the process thither, as their Commission required. That as to the Pardon to be granted to Windsor-College, they can do nothing at present, for want of the Name of that College, & how it is incorporate. That as to the Cardinals College of Christ-Church, the Pope will do all that can be reasonably desired. dat. at Orvieto. 92. b.

32. Letter of the same to Cardinal Wolsey, concerning the freights the Pope finds himself in between the Emperor & the French King. That the French have not been so good as their word, in causing (by concert with the King of England) the Venetians to restore the Cities taken from his Holiness. And they would have him declare himself a member of the League against the Emperor, & to proceed forthwith to deprive him both of the Empire & of the Kingdom of Naples. Wherein, the Pope thinks many precautions ought to be used. That he throws himself upon King Henry's protection, and will send a Nuncio into England, as soon as he shall know who, or what sort of person will be acceptable. 101.

33. Letter of Dr. Edward Foxe, to Dr. Stephen Gardiner, & Sir Gregory de Cassalis; shewing the audience he had of the King at his return, in Mrs. Anne Boleyns chamber, & how much he & she were rejoiced at the good success in procuring the Commission and Dispensation from the Pope. That Cardinal Wolsey was the same. But still desired that they would solicit the Pope for a Commission Decretal, in this Cause, which should not be seen but in case of necessity; to which solicitations the King would have them add certain threatening expressions to the Pope, if they could not get it by fair words. The Cardinal directs Gardiner to consult the most learned men, & practised lawyers, upon certain points in this Cause, touching the methods which the Queen might, or would guide her self by; and as to the guiding of his own Conscience & Judgement. For though like a grateful man, he owned to his Majesty the great benefits he had received of him; yet he declared that he would rather incur his high Indignation, & lose his life than do any thing in this Cause otherwise than as Justice requirith. 103.

Num. 419.

34. Letter of Dr. Edward Foxe to Dr. Stephen Gardiner; shewing how hairouly ill the King and Cardinal Wolley take the Popes delays & tergiversations; especially his hindring Cardinal Campegius from coming to England; and that therefore he is ordered to procure that Cardinals journey hither, or not to return home himself, as he desired to do. 110. b
35. Part of certain short Annals, written by a Monk of St. Augustin's in Canterbury; relating the transactions or remarkable occurrences; chiefly as to Ecclesiastical matters, from A. D. 1532 to A. D. 1538. 112.
36. Archbishop Crammers Judgement (or Opinion) concerning the admission of scholars into the Free-School belonging to the Cathedral Church of Canterbury (i. e. that the children of poor men, might be taken in, as well as those of the rich). 115.
37. The Protestation of the Clergie of the Lower House, within the Province of Canterbury, with Declaration of fautes & abuses which heretofore hath & now be within the same, worthe special reformation (an. 32 H. 8. ut videtur). 117.
38. Part of a Narration, how Mr. Heron a School-master incited his unwilling scholars to apply themselves more diligently to their books, & to improve in their Learning, by their emulating the example of K. Edward the Sixth. 123.
39. Form of Publick Prayer, used in the Time of Dearth; in the Reign of K. Edward vi. 124.
40. Narration of one Dufgate alias Bennet, fellow of Penmet College in Cambridge, & afterwards a School-master in Exeter; how he was there burnt for his Religion, temp. Hen. viii. written by Mr. Raph Morice secretary to Archbishop Crammer. 125.
41. Tractatus de matrimonio contrahendo inter Edwardum vi. Angliæ Regem, et Elizabetham Christianissimam Regis filiam natu majorem Imperf. 126.
42. The first 13 Articles objected by many of the Privy Councillors, against Edward Seymor Duke of Somerset & Protector to K. Edward vi. 130.

Sum of the Account given of the MS. 432. by Mr. Thomas O Sulleavane a very learned Gentleman, & the best skilled in the Irish Antiquities of any man I ever knew. Who saith, that

The work is an ancient Transcript of two Tracts, whose text is so very ancient as to be coeval with the times they relate to, and not now to be thoroughly understood but by such (if there be now any such) as have made the old municipal Laws of Ireland their study. And that the Comments are now grown so obscured by age and time, as to need other Comments to explain themselves. However, he can find herein,

1. The Trial of Eua brother to Legarius chief King of Ireland, for the murder of Oiane chariot-driver to St. Patric, before Dubhthac the Kings chief Bard, and the sentence passed thereupon; about A. D. 430.

2. The Great Sanction, New Law, or Constitution of Nine, made in favour of Christianity in Ireland, A. D. 439. by the three Kings Loere or Legarius; Core, & Feris or Fergus; three Bishops, Patric, Corneach, & Benene or Benignus; and three Sages, Dubhthach, Daire, and Rolia.
